Budget Proposes New Village Hall

"WELL SMELL ME," exclaims pet skunk, winner of most unusual pet award in park district's Memorial Day pet parade. Holding him is owner, Donna Prettner, 742 S. Highland. In middle, Roxanne Hansen, 405 S. Carlyle pl. holds award won by "Able, the Space Mouse" for most attractive display. Holding the mouse is Martha Hutchins, 403 S. Carlyle. Puss-In-The-Boot, held by Cathy Combs, 810 N. Beverly ln., won an award for "most unique."

Poised, Fiercely Practical Graduates Face Adulthood

(This week 565 Arlington high school students will receive their diplomas. Poised on the threshold of adulthood, what are their aspirations, their views on marriage, military service, and jobs? What regrets do they leave behind, and what advice do they have for entering students? In an attempt to penetrate the "typical" graduate's thoughts, Paddock Publications interviewed seven seniors with varied backgrounds and academic records. The result follows.)

by BILL DULANEY

With space age enthusiasm, the tall, handsome Arlington Heights youngster, ran his hands over his crew-cut and talked of "unlimited opportunities" for his generation. "It's tremendous what's happening, the scientific advances that are made almost daily, and we can get in on the ground floor," he said.

It was obvious he knew what he wanted and where he wanted to go. He talked of entering college this fall, of getting an engineering degree, and, after a stint in the navy, finding a job.

Yes, he has a girl. No, he isn't planning on getting married anytime soon, not for six or seven years at least.

Self-assured, poised, he might well have been speaking for a large segment of his graduating class, 58 per cent of which have been admitted to colleges.

While dangerous to speak in generalizations, if one could be made of today's high school graduate, it is that he knows what he wants.

EVEN AT THE other end of the scale, those with poorer grades and no chance of going to college, they know what they want.

"I have a job waiting for me with an insurance company as a typist when I get out. I'll stay with them for three or four years, then marry and raise a family," said a 17-year-old Wheeling girl.

Another observation made of today's graduates is that they seem fiercely practical, even about their limitations.

"I'm not ready for college. I'm not mature enough. I need to work awhile or spend some time in the service," confessed a Mt. Prospect youth with barely passing grades.

"I like science, but I'm lousy in math, so that's out. Maybe if I'd looked at things differently when I started here I'd be ready to go to college," he said almost wistfully.

And what would they do, if they had it to do over? What would they tell new students? "I'd listen to my parents. They know what's good for me. They told me it was important to get good grades, but I didn't believe them until I started applying to colleges," said an Arlington Heights boy.

"Don't try to schedule the easiest subjects. Take what you can use later. It hits you about your junior year, that high school isn't going to last forever, and you'd better think ahead," was the sentiment expressed by a Prospect Heights boy.

AS FOR EXTRA-curricular activities, "They're fine, but too often sports and clubs and societies are substituted for time that should be spent on studies," said a girl who would like to teach school.

Frank in judgment of themselves, the graduates are also frank in what they want out of life, and these desires leave little room for the idealism of earlier eras.

"They can't tell me money doesn't buy happiness. I'd sure like to try," was the way one intense young man expressed his desire "to get ahead."

Confident they can solve their own problems, the graduates are a little less certain about world and national problems.

FOUR OUT OF THE seven interviewed agreed that discrimination against minority groups is one of America's biggest problems.

"This country is prosperous and has few problems, but how can we have an understanding with other countries when our people don't understand one another?" questioned one youth.

And so onto college or out into the world, more sophisticated than their parents at a corresponding age, poised and confident, 565 fledglings leave their nests this week.

Hearing Is Slated Monday

A proposed $300,000 for a new village hall highlights Arlington Heights' tentative 1959-60 budget, scheduled for a public hearing at 8 p.m. Monday, June 8 at the village hall.

Total proposed expenditures for the coming fiscal year total $1,476,450, a $221,548 raise over the 1958-59 budget.

For taxpayers this means an additional levy of a little over a cent per $100 of assessed valuation for next year's tax bills. This year's levy was .618 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. Based on an assessed valuation of $75 million for the village, next year's levy will be 63 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, or $63 for a home assessed at $10,000. This is still lower than 1957's tax rate of .632 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

In recommending a new village hall, Village Manager Leonard Hanson noted that "It is not economically feasible for the village to maintain orderly business operation under present conditions." He urged the village board to "expedite the planning and erection of suitable quarters in keeping with the present and future needs of the administration of the affairs of Arlington Heights."

AN ADDITIONAL 11 personnel are recommended for various village departments. Included in this number are a recommended Animal Welfare Officer and three additional policemen. The addition of the latter would provide the force with two lieutenants, notes the budget message.

The remaining seven personnel recommended are: planning engineer, water meter reader, water pumping station attendant, equipment operator for public works department, building inspector, plumbing and heating inspector, and water department clerk.

The budget also recommends such village improvements as additional street lighting, sidewalk repairs, and replacing of illegible street signs.

The proposed budget terms the present village code inadequate and recommends its recodification at the earliest possible date.

IN PRESENTING the proposed budget to the village board, Hanson emphasized the detailed analysis made of the cost of operating the village and planning for future expansion.

Five-Year Plan Proposed On Village Improvements

A proposed five-year plan for Arlington Heights local improvements should ease the fear of many village residents of being unexpectedly confronted with special assessments, often amounting to thousands of dollars.

Originated by Village Manager L. A. Hanson, and completed this week, the plan calls for accomplishing needed village improvements in five areas on a priority basis over a five-year period.

The areas are street lighting, sidewalk repairs, street improvements, water distribution system, and street signs.

THE NEEDED improvements in these areas have been listed on a master file in order of priority. When approved by the village board the file will be available for public inspection. Some of the planned projects will be accomplished by special assessment, village funds will be used for others.

Surveys conducted in preparation of the plan indicate there are 117,475 square feet of bad sidewalk in the village. This represents $70,778 in replacement cost, with $15,000 allotted in the proposed village budget for a start.

Also found in the survey are 227 intersections in the village without street name signs or illegible signs. This does not include new subdivisions. Replacement of signs is provided for in the proposed budget.

A survey is being conducted by Public Service company to determine where additional street lighting is needed in the village.

PLANS FOR THE village's water distribution system to connect with deadend mains are being drawn up.

The street improvement plan is to be completed this week. A portion of these improvements will be made by special assessments.

"This plan will be a continuing project, kept up to date by periodic inventories of village facilities," said Hanson.

New Improvements Board Is Named

A clean sweep of Arlington Heights' board of local improvements was made this week with the appointment of all new members.

Harold Klinger, 321 W. Euclid, secretary of the board for two years, replaced Robert Bishop as chairman of the board. Bishop's resignation has been pending for several months.

Other new appointees to the board are Edwin P. Culbertson, 425 S. Vail, Russell H. Colvin, 605 S. Bristol, and Edmond Shanahan, 815 N. Dunton. The fifth member of the board has not been announced.

MEMBERS leaving the board in addition to Bishop are John F. Hoover, James E. Millay, Edmund J. O'Brien, and Frederick A. Weber.

Members serve on the board at the village manager's discretion, who makes all appointments to the board.

The board's new secretary will be chosen from within the village's administration, according to Village Manager Leonard Hanson.

Old board members were commended for service in a resolution adopted by the village board Monday night.

All-State Track Team Announced

For the fourth straight year, Paddock Publications' sports staff, in cooperation with high school track coaches throughout the state, has selected the official All-State track team.

Found exclusively in this week's sports section, the 1959 honor squad includes two boys from both Arlington and Palatine high schools.

The All-State team was initiated in 1956 through efforts of Robert Paddock of Padock Publications and Bill Beckman of Arlington high school.

Crack Down On Untagged Pets Slated

Owners of unlicensed dogs in Arlington Heights are due for a shock.

The village, in a recently completed survey, has discovered that of approximately 2,000 dogs in the village, only 600 are licensed.

In addition, they have the names of the owners of the unlicensed dogs, excepting strays.

LETTERS originating from the village hall are being sent to owners whose dogs are unlicensed advising them to correct the situation.

"We intend to enforce the village ordinance concerning dogs," said Village Manager L. A. Hanson.

The ordinance provides for up to $100 fine for persons failing to license or control their dogs.

565 Graduate Tonight at Arlington

Commencement exercises for Arlington high school seniors will be held tonight at 8:15 in the high school gymnasium. A total of 565 students will receive diplomas at this time.

Valedictorians this year are Sara Elizabeth King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. King, 350 S. Burton place, Arlington Heights, and Donella Hager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hager, 2807 St. James st., Arlington Heights. Both girls finished their four years of academic work with straight "A" averages.

Salutatorian of tonight's graduating class is James Wilmotte, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wilmotte, 729 N. Fernandez, Arlington Heights. His scholastic average, the second highest in the graduating class, is 4.90.

H. L. SLICHENMYER, superintendent of district 214, will present the class of 1959. K. E. Dougan, president of the board of education, will give the response.

Three senior students are scheduled to speak tonight on behalf of their class. Jean C. Conroy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Conroy, 222 S. Louis, Mt. Prospect, Sylvia J. Pfeffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Pfeffer, 403 MacArthur dr., Mt. Prospect, and Barbara R. Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Wilson, 311 S. Kenilworth, Mt. Prospect, are the student speakers.

Scientist To Address Peace Parley

A Christian's role in the threat of atomic war will be the subject of a peace conference to be held Monday, June 8, by the Glenbrook Ministerial association and the American Friends Service committee at 1911 East Dundee rd., north of Arlington Heights and a quarter mile west of Wheeling.

The day long conference will feature as speakers Dr. William C. Davidon, chairman of the Chicago Atomic Scientists association; Dr. Donovan Smucker, visiting lecturer on Christian ethics at Garrett Biblical Institute; and Rev. Jack Bollens, Peace Education Secretary for the American Friends Service committee. Discussion groups will also be featured.

A registration fee of $3 includes breakfast and lunch. The meeting is open to the public and reservations can be made by phoning GL 4-1928.

Tax Rates Drop 6 Cents

Good news greeted the majority of Arlington Heights villagers this week as County Clerk Edward J. Barrett released tax rates revealing a welcome drop of six cents in the rate for taxpayers.

The reduction was made possible by slashing the School District 25 rate by slightly more than 8½ cents, and whittling down rates of the village and the sanitary district.

A rise in rate was reflected by increases in the forest preserve, road and bridge and suburban TB sanitarium rates.

The overall tax rate for most villagers dropped from $5.13 to $5.07. Some sections of the village, however, experienced different rates due to lying in different taxing districts.

What does this all mean to a home owner?

Well, let us say your house is assessed at $10,000. In 1957, if you will examine the box score for the overall rate, you would have paid $5.136 per each $100 of evaluation.

And in 1957, by simply multiplying the $5.136 by 100, we get $513.60, which would have been the tax during that year on a home so assessed.

HOWEVER, THIS YEAR, since the rate has dropped to 5.070 (examine the box score), multiplying by 100, we discover that the new rate should be $5.07 by 100, or $507 for a $10,000 home. ... of which adds up to the fact that the owner of a home assessed at $10,000 should be paying $6.60 less this year than last.

Let's take a $15,000 home. In the same manner, multiplying $5.136 this time by 150 for the 1957 tax, we get $769.40, as compared to (by multiplying $5.07 by 150) a total tax of $760.50 for 1958, or a saving of $8.90 this year over last on the $15,000 home.

Tax bills are expected to go out to Arlington Heights home owners in July to be paid by August 1.

THE ACTUAL BOX SCORE for Arlington Heights reads this way:

	1957	1958	Rise	Decline
Overall Rate	$5.136	$5.070		.066
Village	.632	.618		.014
Park District	.248	.248
School District 25	1.946	1.860		.086

There are two bills in the Illinois Legislature that we particularly hope will be enacted into law.

H.B. 835 provides that the State Department of Revenue shall publish and make available for public inspection an explanation of annual property tax equalization procedure used in each country.

A lot of taxpayers have not relished the boosting of the realty assessment by the state board of equalization which tends to increase their taxes a substantial amount. Now, we will at least be told how it is done.

Newspapers for years have fought secrecy on the part of public officials. H.B. 425 provides that actions, deliberations and meetings of public committees be made open and public.

These two suggested changes have not yet been enacted, but we hope they will not be killed. In spite of opposition on the part of groups who prefer to transact public business behind closed doors.

We often have difficulty in finding our own car in a public parking lot. So do other people. Here is a story we overheard from the adjacent table as we were taking a coffee break.

It seems that Mrs. Arthur M. Franzen, 504 S. Belmont, Arlington Heights, placed a package purchased at the Gieseke store in the car of Mrs. Florence Phillips.

When the package was missed the owner assumed that it had been lifted.

Mrs. Phillips, after trying for some time to discover the owner of the package, learned her identity from Gieseke's.

"Arlington Heights is still a City of Good Neighbors and its citizens are honest," explained Mrs. Phillips when she delivered the package to Mrs. Franzen.

It is such examples of good fellowship that is making Arlington a good town in which to reside.

Never again will we criticize a woman whose appetite for new hats may seem a bit extravagant. As usual when it came time to wear a straw hat we followed our usual custom and resurrected one that we had failed to throw away at the end of last season.

Imagine our surprise when we took a bit of ribbing at the breakfast club over the antiquated hat we were wearing. A new hat we must have.

Is the traveling public becoming more safety conscious? Five police departments claim they are.

The police blotters in Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Mt. Prospect during the Memorial Day weekend were nearly blank.

Same was nearly as true in Arlington and Wheeling.

In face of the record breaking deaths throughout the nation it is comforting to know that "it did not happen here."

When we told a friend that while our weight increased six pounds during our vacation, we had lost three pounds since then, he suggested it was either because we were again worrying about the condition of the nation, or that we had spent the greater part of our vacation in hotels operating under the American plan.

Maybe he is right. We took our vacation to get away from worries.

Perhaps we did not count our calories?

Golf Outing

The Arlington Heights chamber of commerce is planning a summer golf outing at 1 p.m. Wednesday, June 24 at the Roselle Country club. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m., and participants may come either for the dinner or both dinner and golfing. Refreshments, prizes and cokes will be given free for members and guests.

Holiday Traffic Threat Steps Up Local Activities

Although the threat of heavy holiday traffic kept many local families close to home last weekend the social life in Arlington Heights didn't suffer a bit. Rain, bridal and baby showers were in evidence as were farewell and anniversary parties, and the entire past week was a busy one.

A block party held at the George Hawkins home, 721 S. Chestnut, Saturday night combined a holiday celebration with farewells to two families who are leaving that hospitable neighborhood soon. Twenty-six couples attended the cooperative get-together that was the well-organized result of co-planners George Gabrielsen and host Hawkins.

Special guests were the Robert Nesheims, 737 S. Chestnut, who leave Saturday for a new home in Barrington, and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Sands, 626 S. Chestnut, who will leave next Tuesday for Manitowac, Wis. At a recent get-together with a bridge club group of friends, Mrs. Sands was given a farewell gift for the new home; the modern counterpart of an old-fashioned fireplace "cook pot" that swings over the fire, and in the newer version is decorative as well as utilitarian.

Last night 22 women of the block farewelled Mrs. Nesheim in the Earl Schmidt home, 724 S. Chestnut, at a party given by Mrs. Keith Posselt, Mrs. Claude Chapin, Mrs. Peter J. Galdoni and Mrs. Schmidt. Her friends gave Mrs. Nesheim a sunburst clock for the new Barrington home.

FURTHER REDUCING the population just a few blocks away are the Warren Blacks, the John McIntoshes and the John Bensons, all of the 800 block on S. Mitchell. Eleven women of a neighborhood bridge group, that also includes the three departing members, were co-hostesses to Mrs. Black, Mrs. McIntosh and Mrs. Benson last Thursday afternoon at a farewell luncheon at the Country Squire in Grayslake. The honor guests were given farewell gifts, "to remember us by."

The Warren Black family left 827 S. Mitchell and moved to a new home in Grand Rapids over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. John Benson, 839 S. Mitchell, have no definite departure date but plan to leave this summer and make Ft. Lauderdale their permanent residence.

Moving day for the John McIntosh family, 801 S. Mitchell, will be in about two weeks when they leave for Indianapolis.

Sisan McIntosh celebrated her fifth birthday Sunday afternoon with 12 friends and enjoyed with them a movie program in her home, with Kerry Kurtz at the projector. A "big people's" party that began with an outdoor barbecue Sunday evening climaxed Susan's busy day. Her aunt and family, the John Hartfords, came from Glen Ellyn for the party and were joined by family friends, the John Bakers of Arlington Heights.

ANOTHER FAREWELL last Thursday night further emphasized the current exodus from Arlington Heights. Miss Maureen Joyce was hostess to 20 classmates of St. Patrick academy of Des Plaines at the Joyce home 942 N. Walnut. Guest of honor was Elaine Williams whose family will be leaving the home in Sherwood Saturday for a Myrtle Beach, N. C. address. The girls gave Elaine a gift of luggage in remembrance and goodbye.

David Grashorn, 817 S. Walnut, was 5 years old 'way last Wednesday but didn't get around to celebrating at home with the family until Sunday when he returned from a 2-week visit in Sheboygan with Grandfather and Grandmother Grashorn. David's dad drove to Wisconsin to get him Saturday and they just barely beat 20 family members to David's party Sunday afternoon. Aunts, uncles and cousins came from Barrington, Morton Grove, Kenilworth and Palatine to welcome David home and wish him a belated happy birthday.

The E. S. Castor family, 838 S. Vail, enjoyed the holiday weekend in Fort Wayne with relatives and are this week hosting Mr. Castor's sister, Mrs. Spurgeon Smith, who returned here with them.

Weekend guests at the Stanley Myers home, 403 E. Eastman, are Mr. Myers' sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chambers of Lombard.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL Weinrich, 825 S. Vail, marked their June 3 silver wedding anniversary with a celebration, for 170 out-of-town and local friends and family members at the Wood Dale Firemens hall Saturday night. The Weinrich home as well as homes of hospitable neighbors housed the 22 out-of-state guests who began arriving Friday afternoon from Colorado, Minnesota, Iowa and Ohio to spend the weekend here toasting the anniversary couple.

Among the guests were the best man, ring-bearer and a bridesmaid who served the bride and groom of 25 years ago at the wedding ceremony in Denver, Iowa. Mr. Weinrich's brother and bestman, Herbert, now of Columbus, Ohio and the bridesmaid, now Mrs. Ruben Olson of Chicago, compared notes about the performance in 1934 of the ringbearer, "little" Richard Weinrich, the groom's nephew, who arrived Friday from Boulder Colo. with his wife and three children.

Also here from Boulder was another Weinrich brother, Arthur and his wife, parents of "little" Richard. They all are prolonging their visit from Colorado and will remain in Arlington Heights this week.

FROM LYLE, Minn. came Mrs. Weinrich's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ewald Pipho, their daughter, Jeannette, and friend. Family friends, the Eldo Kehes, arrived from Tripoli, Iowa to add their congratulations as did Mr. and Mrs. G. Howard Tellier of Cedar Rapids, former S. Vail street neighbors. Mrs. Weinrich's nephew and family, the LeRoy Steeges, brought greetings from Denver, Iowa.

To make the family circle complete the Weinrich's son, Ronald, arrived Thursday on a 5-day leave from Rantoul, Ill. to join his sister, Nadine, in honoring their parents. Ronald was accompanied by Miss Barbara Donovan of Taylorville.

Mr. and Mrs. Weinrich and others present Saturday night who had also attended the wedding 25 years ago found reminiscing most pleasant and easy as they danced to the same orchestra that provided the music at the wedding reception in 1934. A family friend, Walter Heine of Elgin, had once told Adele Steege's father that he'd play at Adele's wedding and when Miss Steege became the bride of Paul Weinrich Mr. Heine traveled to Denver, Iowa to keep his promise. Thus his repeat performance Saturday night was especially nostalgic.

After the supposed end of the festivities in Wood Dale the out-of-town family members and friends gathered at the Weinrich home where the bride and groom opened anniversary gifts and a post script was added to the celebration. A post, post script was added Sunday at a dinner and supper for 42 at 825 S. Vail and the weekend-long reunion anniversary party coasted to an end Monday with the departure of the last of the weekend visitors. The general opinion was that the occasion was worth waiting for, but that probably it's a good thing silver anniversaries don't happen every year.

RUSSELL L. Hauser and Carl Riccobuono of Walnut Creek, Cal. spent a week here with Mr. Hauser's son, Dale, and family, 404 W. Oakton. The senior Mr. Hauser and his friend made a 3-week 5500-mile southern tour from California to Florida, then enjoyed their week's visit here and are planning a visit with other family members and friends in Gowrie, Iowa before their return to California.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Chunn and Ricky, 832 S. Vail, returned a week ago Monday from a month in Spain. They flew to Europe, toured Spain by car and returned to the United States, rather roughly, by ship. They travelled throughout the country and made their longest stay in Majorca. Although they were more or less prepared for the beauty of Spain, the old world charm and courtesy of the Spanish people was completely captivating, Mrs. Chunn reports.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Riley, 738 S. Mitchell, motored to Kansas City last Wednesday to bring home their daughter, Laurie, as her freshman year at Kansas university came to an end. They were accompanied on the return trip by Tom Gore, also a Kansas university student, who is visiting at the Riley home for a week before going to his home in Menlo Park, Cal. for the summer.

A RECENT WEEKEND visitor at the Walter Stumpf home, 513 S. Highland, was Mrs. Stumpf's sister, Mrs. Frances Kurt of Waukon, Iowa.

Carl Amberg, 612 S. Walnut, enjoyed the holiday weekend in Hayward, Wis., fishing with a group of business friends. He reports that an abundance of greedy muskies took the hook and admits, too, that they were all adolescents, just a shadow too small to keep. Mr. Amberg thinks they'll have grown up some by mid-summer and hopes they don't get smart in the meantime.

This coming weekend a trip to the University of Illinois to get Tom home for the summer is foremost on the Amberg schedule.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Bradle, 534 S. Chestnut, enjoyed a holiday weekend reunion with Mr. Bradle's Eureka college classmates of 25 years ago.

A SURPRISE linen shower last Wednesday evening climaxed a 2-week whirl of pre-nuptial parties given for the former Miss Myra Landmeier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Landmeier, 107 S. Kennicott, who Saturday became the bride of Michael Shanklin of Palatine in the Faith Lutheran church of Arlington Heights.

Wednesday's hostess was Mrs. Marion Davidson of Wilmette, aunt of the groom, whose guest list included 18 school friends and relatives of Miss Landmeier. Among the guests was her sister, Mrs. Richard Robertson of Denver, who arrived in Arlington Heights a week ago Sunday in time for the final social flurry in Myra's honor.

A week ago Monday evening Miss Landmeier was feted by members of her father's family at a miscellaneous shower given by her aunt, Mrs. Clarence Schultz, 147 S. Kennicott. At another miscellaneous shower the previous evening, Mrs. Landmeier's family members honored the bride-elect at a gathering in the home of Myra's aunt, Mrs. Richard Wilke, 318 W. Mueller.

May 22, family friends and former school mates showered Miss Landmeier with personal gifts at a party in the Charles Rehfeldt home, 315 N. Pine. The gift table was decorated with a cherub whose upraised hand held a graceful, white floral bouquet and over all a shower of nylon "rain" fell.

THE "SHOWER OF showers" was begun May 12 by Mrs. Carl Ewert, 412 S. Belmont, whose guests were 28 Landmeier family members who showered the honor guest with miscellaneous gifts.

After a brief honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Shanklin will return heref or a few days and then leave for a home in Denver.

The 45 students of Miss Norinne Minogue's second grade class at the St. James Catholic school in Arlington Heights, honored their teacher with a pre-nuptial shower Monday at the school. The children, assisted by several mothers, used their lunch hour to surprise Miss Minogue, present her with gifts and enjoy a happy, hectic noon hour.

Miss Minogue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Minogue of Mt. Prospect, will be married August 29 to Thomas Takash of Chicago. She plans to return to the St. James teaching staff in the fall.

Mrs. P. Roger Girard, 1012 N. Dunton, was hostess last Thursday night, at a regularly-scheduled gathering of bridge clubbers that includes Mrs. John Lynch, 605 E. Olive. That much Mrs. Lynch knew when she came to the Girard home. She did not know, however, that she was to be the guest of honor at a baby shower planned by Mrs. Girard and Mrs. Jack Summers, 308 E. Olive. Eleven local friends helped Mrs. Lynch recover from her surprise, enjoyed a social evening and cards and presented the honor guest with a stroller for the imminent increase in Arlington Heights population, expected the latter part of this month.

ANOTHER THURSDAY evening bridge club whose members used the usual meeting night to camouflage a surprise baby shower met in the home of Mrs. Henry Wist, 837 S. Vail, last week. This time it was the hostess herself who was most surprised at the turn of events as her guests arrived simultaneously with all the makings for a party instead of a serious night of bridge. The household at 837 S. Vail will be a little more Wist-full early in August.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson of Palo Alto, Cal., arrived by plane in Chicago Saturday and drove here with relatives Sunday to spend two weeks with their daughter and family, the Lyle Huntleys, 421 N. Wilshire. Their overnight hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stephenson of Chicago, who brought the Wilsons here Sunday spent the day visiting at the Huntleys. Although grandparents often don't need an excuse to visit their families, the Wilsons had two good reasons for their trip east. Their granddaughters are graduating this week, Pam from high school, and Sandy from grade school, and the Huntley-Wilson schedule promises to be a busy one.

MRS. PAUL BARNES, 702 S. Dunton, returned last Thursday from a 2-week stay in Wichita, Kan. and Waco, Tex. Her sister, Mrs. William Gunderson of Wichita, had visited here last month and Mrs. Barnes accompanied her on the return drive. After a few days at the Gunderson home, the sisters went to Waco for a 4-day stay with Mrs. Gunderson's daughter and family, the Carroll Bairds, then back to Wichita where Mrs. Barnes spent the rest of her two weeks away from home.

A surprise coffee Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Plambeck, 819 S. Vail, honored Mrs. Neal Hawkins, 831 S. Vail, on the occasion of the Hawkins' 30th wedding anniversary Saturday. Fifteen neighborhood friends cooperated on the surprise effort and were delighted to see their plans a complete success.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins were weekend hosts to former neighbors, the G. Howard Telliers of Cedar Rapids, who returned here for the Paul Weinrich silver anniversary celebration, and Hawkins party planners credit the Weinrich party with keeping the honor guest unaware of the conspiracy on her behalf.

The Hawkins' son, Mike, is expected to arrive Saturday from Fulton, Mo. where he is completing his junior year at Westminster college. After two weeks at home, Mike will leave for six weeks of ROTC training at Fort Riley, Kan.

The Plambecks are looking forward to Jim's arrival from Northfield, Minn. tomorrow night as he finishes his junior year at Carlton college. Jim is determined to get here in time for his brother, Dick's, high school graduation which is also tomorrow night and the Plambeck schedule is getting tighter by the minute.

A HOLIDAY block picnic planned for the 800 block on S. Mitchell went somewhat awry, but those that could make it had fun anyway. Scheduled for the Gorden Glorch backyard at 822 S. Mitchell, it moved when Mrs. Glorch got in the way of a virus late last week. Saturday's afternoon downpour didn't do the outdoor plans any good and finally the picnic scheduled for the Glorch backyard ended up in the Benson garage. Late clearing skies, Mrs. Glorch's improvement and neighborhood determination made a successful party despite the change of plans.

Mrs. William Linsky is flying to Livorno, Italy, Friday, June 5, where she will join her husband, Pfc. William Linsky while he completes his military training. Mrs. Linsky has been staying with her parents, the L. P. Swansons, 520 Bristol lane.

"SOUTH SEA BREEZE" read the invitations to a senior party given May 29 by Miss Sue Anderson, Miss Pat Parke and Tom Schutz in the garden of the Schutz home 729 S. Beverly lane. About 200 young guests attended the gala party which had an Hawaiian theme, complete with an Hawaiian hut where refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Conley, 417 S. Lincoln lane, are home from a short, but fun-packed vacation spent in Cincinnati. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Shay of Louisville, cousins of Mr. Conley.

During their parents' absence, Donald and Deborah were hosts to their cousins, Diane and Deborah Shay, who were their house guests.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Stull, 640 S. Belmont, and their four sons, spent a busy weekend at Cedar Lake, Wis., readying their cottage for the summer season.

The Parker E. Samsons, 618 S. Burton, and their daughter, Kathie, spent the Memorial holiday at their summer home in Birchwood, Wis.

Mrs. Adolph Lindstrom was guest of honor at a surprise birthday supper party Saturday, in the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Lindstrom, 824 S. Beverly lane. Among guests were Mrs. Lind-

MISS JULIA Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Robinson, 711 E. Fairview, entertained 26 eighth grade classmates at a graduation party Saturday evening. They danced to music from a juke box on the porch, which had been gaily decorated with Japanese lanterns, played games and had a scavenger hunt, taking time out for refreshments.

Miss Robinson's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Robinson of Aurora, and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mabel P. Smith of Huntington, Ind. arrived Wednesday to attend Julia's graduation and a family dinner party Friday.

No one was more unsuspecting than Mrs. Edward Nemeth as she arrived at the Van Huele home, 429 S. Lincoln lane, with her volume of Goren's bridge, intent on teaching a group of new bridge players. Instead, she was pleasantly surprised by becoming a guest of honor at a baby shower, planned for her by Mrs. Armand Van Huele and Mrs. Kenneth Tollstom.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wittenburg, 715 S. Beverly lane, spent the weekend in New Buffalo and LaPorte, Ind., visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Foster. Mr. Wittenburg and a group of friends, braved the elements and went across the lake in their boat, while Mrs. Wittenburg and the children followed by auto. Upon returning, the boat ride proved faster than the crowded highways despite choppy waters.

MR. AND MRS. Ian MacLachlan, 1220 Woodford, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, 1305 Woodford, were hosts at a farewell party Saturday for their friend and neighbor, the J. G. Johnsons, who will soon leave for California. There were 21 guests who enjoyed the MacLachlan and Hall hospitality and their famous down east supper with lobsters flown in from Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Dotts, 600 Banbury, spent the past week in New Orleans. While Mr. Dotts attended the National Sales Executive convention, Mrs. Dotts enjoyed the program of sight seeing and dining, arranged for the wives of the men attending the meetings.

The George F. Schuning household, 334 Bristol lane, has been fairly bursting with activity during the past week. While plans for moving east within two weeks are being made, three birthdays had to be celebrated. All the Schuning children have May birthdays, Nancy was one year old May 19, Mary Kay became 3 May 26, and Billy was 6 May 28. Billy had his own traditional party Thursday, entertaining his classmates.

The girls' birthdays were combined with a farewell party Saturday for friends and relatives. Here for the occasion were Mr. Schuning's sisters and their families, the Willard Jacksons of Milwaukee and the Arvid Bostroms of Phillips, Wis. Mr. Schuning's mother, Mrs. George Schuning of Superior, Wis., is also visiting and will stay and accompany the family to Boston.

MR. AND MRS. John E. Hirten of Long Island, N. Y. have spent the past three weeks visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Skahill, 722 Mayfair.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Tossman, 111 S. Pine, will entertain at an open house Friday evening for their son, Paul, who will be graduated from the South Junior high school that day.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Paxton, 102 S. Brighton, sped from airport to train station Sunday to meet their guests, who arrived almost simultaneously from California. Mrs. Paxton's mother, Mrs. Lola Stanley, arrived first from North Hollywood and plans to spend about three weeks in Arlington Heights. During her visit, she will go to Lafayette, Ind., where she will receive her 50-year Eastern Star pin.

The Paxtons' second guest, Mrs. Jeff Alexander, arrived by air from Bel Air. She is the wife of the composer-conductor at the MGM studios in Hollywood and conductor of the music on the George Burns TV show.

During her visit, Mrs. Paxton gave a tea, attended by all her Brighton place neighbors. Other highlights of Mrs. Alexander's visit were luncheon at Fritzels, a cocktail party at the pent-house of Eddie (Wimpy) Golds, dinner and dancing at the Pump room and dinner at the Milk Pail in Dundee before jet-ing home.

MR. AND MRS. Larry Kussow, 1203 Woodford, were hosts at a supper party Saturday at Brookwood country club, to celebrate the graduation of two of their family members, that of their son-in-law, Ronald Peterson from Bradley university, and their son, David, from Arlington high school. Attending the supper party were Dawn and Ronald Peterson, David Kussow, Miss Sandy Hedstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Peterson and their Jon and Jean of Anchorage, Alaska.

Walter Strobel has returned to his home at 1319 Mayfair, from Beak Lake lodge, Canada, where he had spent the past 10 days fishing. It was a good trip with Mr. Strobel bringing in his limit.

Tom Hodgkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hodgkinson, 710 S. Beverly lane, celebrated his May 30 birthday last Thursday with a supper party. Tom was 7 years old and had seven guests. They were David Wittenburg, Leslie Raichert, Jeff Schulze, Jeff Dowling, Dicky Stanley, Ricky Murphy and Bob Hodgkinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Stahnke, 110 S. Brighton, and their three children spent the Memorial holiday visiting friends in Streator.

Suburb Art Show Slated June 11-13

The northwest suburban area's largest art show will be held at Arlington Market shopping center, Arlington Heights, June 11 to 13.

Located at Foundry and Dryden rds., the market's stores and canopied walk will be used to display paintings by professionals and amateurs.

JUDGING OF the exhibit will be at 10 a.m. Saturday, June 13, by Dr. Ann Lally, former director of art in Chicago public schools, and presently principal of Marshall high school.

A "popularity award" will also be given. The recipient will be determined by viewers of the exhibit, who may cast their votes at market stores. (AF

Take Trips Around World Via Library

Would you like to be one of the first persons to make a journey through the St. Lawrence seaway?

Do you have a desire to visit our two newest states—Hawaii and Alaska?

Would you like to explore the jungles of Africa or the deserts of Arabia?

Does the thought of a submarine journey under the North Pole with Commander Anderson appeal to you?

Or would you rather sign up for a journey into space?

All of these possibilities for extensive travel are available in Arlington Heights. At 112 N. Belmont in the young people's department of the Public Library and in the branch library at Pioneer park, which will open on June 15, you will find many fascinating books which will take you to all the places mentioned as well as many, many more distant lands.

YOU CAN DO all this traveling without leaving your own home town and without spending any money. You may go more places and travel greater distances in shorter time and probably learn more about the world than if you spent your entire vacation in real travel.

Perhaps you have a hobby you would like to know more about, or you may have some building project in mind for the summer, or you may just enjoy reading good stories. Whatever your interest may be, you will find books at the library to satisfy your taste.

All children and young people of the community are invited to join the summer reading program. Registration will begin on June 15. (A

This weather is so changeable, it's getting so a person doesn't know what to hock anymore. If you put on summer clothes, it gets cold; and, if you put on winter clothes, it gets hot. The one thing I know for sure is that it's perfect weather for getting a cold.

No, "old Dad Harris" hasn't found a cure for the common cold, but I do know if you continue taking your vitamins throughout the summer, you're less likely to catch a cold. In this day and age vitamins are so necessary for every day living. We have so many "cook-outs" during the summer with hamburgers, hotdogs, etc., that it is very likely we don't get all the vitamins and minerals that are necessary to our diet. If you have discontinued taking vitamins for (what is laughingly called) the summer, why not start again and see if it doesn't help.

We have a good supply of vitamins at Harris Pharmacy, from the high potency therapeutic to the common ordinary vitamin to help with your every day needs. Pick up a bottle the next time you're by, huh?

Martin Marty's Comment

Church Councils Accused Of Trafficking in Tragedy

By MARTIN MARTY

The House UnAmerican Activities committee Sunday released testimony given it last March by five Korean and Chinese churchmen.

No person, Christian or not, can fail to be profoundly moved if not horrified by the witness to Communist atrocity against Christians.

People are torn apart by horses pulling in different directions; frozen to death; trampled for their faith. There is no doubt that the testimony is true. It falls short in that such vignettes cannot portray the scope and intensity of the travail of the Church in China and North Korea.

YES, IT IS ALL true—and also confusing. Confusing not because of the clarity of the witness but because of the motivation.

The churchmen appeared under the auspices of the International and the American Councils of Christian Churches who, they said, wanted "to sponsor a group to tell the people of the United States what Red China is instead of just the side put out by the National Council of Churches' study conference." There we are at the heart of the matter. The ICC and ACCC are here trafficking in tragedy, using—it would seem to me—the misfortunes of Iron Curtain Christians for denominational politicking in America.

The Councils exist largely to oppose the "ecumenical movement," the great twentieth century effort to see the reunion of separated Christians. The movement, in its institutional forms, is by no means perfect and the decisions it must make are often complicated and sometimes wrong. Many believe that a study conference of the National Council of Churches was mistaken last autumn when, at Cleveland, it suggested that the United States recognize Red China. The suggestion was an illustration of "realism" in foreign policy and, from the Christian viewpoint, an attempt to keep some thin lines of communication open toward Christians in Communist countries. The study conference knew this would be an unpopular suggestion in America, and the opposition groups are doing all they can to exploit its unpopularity. The spectre of "McCarthyism," happily disappearing from our nation, is now being raised again within Protestant Christianity. Who can blame the layman for being confused?

PERHAPS THE conference had no business bringing up so precise and inflammatory an illustration; perhaps it miscalculated what recognition might mean for Christian communication. But the International Council of Churches is not interested in the more profound question of motivation. Leaders of the ecumenical movement have a complicated task. They cannot be tied to one particular version of political life because the Christian church transcends political boundaries. It is so easy to speak in terms of black and white in our situation of comfort. But life is lived in shades of gray.

Recently I received a letter from E. Arno Lehmann, dean of the theological faculty of Martin Luther university, Halle-Wittenberg. He is no more a communist than any reader of this paper or any member of the ICC or the other exploiters. But he finds himself in the East Zone of Germany. He is responsible for the perpetuation of the Christian cause there. His letter, since printed elsewhere, is a pages-long agonizing defense of church life in a Communist regime. He is outspoken in opposition to its atheism and its suppression of the churches. But where he must and can he "goes along" with the regime in which he finds himself, so that the Christian Gospel can be preached and the Church somehow survive. Those who traffic in tragedy can lean back in their easy chairs and write nasty editorials against the E. Arno Lehmanns. They can criticize them for remaining alive. I refuse to join them. "How would you feel," writes Lehmann, "if such a statement would concern your much esteemed self: 'You are living under a Communistic regime, and you have chosen to remain there instead of leaving (as many have done), hence you yourself are a (sort of) Communist.' Would it pain and hurt you? Such insults we have to stand as though we were traitors of the faith."

I know Lehmann, and I know what he is. Whenever I think of him and others like him, and the other Christians behind the Curtains who are in the minds of ecumenical leaders, I have to say: perhaps the Cleveland suggestion was incorrect. But the opposition to it is also. And more so. (B13

All Ages Can Participate In YMCA Summer Program

Whether you be 5 or 50 there will be all kinds of summer sports and program activities offered by Northwest Suburban YMCA in the coming weeks of vacation time.

Swimming instruction for boys and girls in a 5-week program from June 30 to the end of July will be offered at Maine Township high school pool. Youngsters 8 to 13 years of age will receive lessons from qualified YMCA swim instructors two times each week during the schedule, with additional fun and training in gym classes. Boys will have their lessons Tuesdays and Thursdays, and girls will meet Wednesdays and Fridays.

Chartered bus pickup, will be made in Rolling Meadows, Palatine, Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Elk Grove and Des Plaines so that classes are available to all children in this area.

Tiny Tots swim is planned for boys and girls 5 and 6 years old, who will be given instructions Wednesdays and Fridays from 12:15 to 1:15 p.m. Mothers will accompany these youngsters and will work with them in the pool.

A NEW feature of the YMCA Fun club program will be inaugurated this summer. All trips will be conducted at outdoor sites and all will be followed with an hour of recreational swim. The trips will include Hawthorne Mellody Farms, Honey Hill Beach at Wauconda, Buckingham Fountain and a Grant Park picnic, Wheeling Nature Center and Lincoln Park Zoo. Bus pickups in the neighboring communities which Northwest Suburban YMCA serves will be provided for all youngsters in the Fun club program. The trips are limited to boys and girls 8 to 12 years old.

A Junior high Coed Sports club is being organized for Junior high boys and girls, who will meet Tuesdays and Thursday afternoons beginning June 30. The group will plan their own activities such as tennis, bowling, golf, picnics, softball, and will also have a swim period each day from 1 to 2 p.m.

Bowling for boys and girls 10 to 14 will be conducted at Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights each Friday morning for seven lessons. Trophies will be awarded to individuals on the winning team. Transportation will be furnished from Mt. Prospect and Des Plaines.

ADULT ACTIVITIES at Northwest Suburban YMCA this summer will include indoor and outdoor sports. A golf instruction class will be held for men and women each Monday evening starting June 15 at Rob Roy golf range. Six one-hour lessons will be given by a professional golfer in all phases of grip, stance and swing.

Women will have the opportunity to swim in Maine Township high school pool for an hour each Wednesday and Friday beginning at 1:15 p.m. Beginners will be taught basic swimming strokes, and advanced swimmers will be encouraged in deep water instruction.

All 'Y' members will be welcome to use the Maine pool Mondays from 2 to 3:30 p.m. when it will be reserved for members only.

Further information about the local 'Y' summer program may be obtained by calling the 'Y' office, VA 4-4156.

File Petition To Disconnect From Village

A petition to disconnect 470 acres of the James E. Glyman property from the village of Barrington Hills is on file in Cook County court.

The property, consisting of six tracts, is east of Bateman rd. between Algonquin and Dundee rds. in Barrington township. Included is the northwest one-quarter of Section 17 of the township, which is northeast of Algonquin rd. and one-half mile west of Sutton rd.

THE PETITION TO sever the property from the village was filed by the Chicago Title and Trust company, as trustee for Glyman.

The unsubdivided acreage is on the village boundary and disconnection would not isolate any from others in the village, the petition stated.

The plaintiffs are respresented by Attorneys James R. Quinn and Marvin L. Tratner.

'Y' Day Camp Aims At Youth Fitness

"Day Camp Adventure," the Northwest Suburban YMCA day camp, will put a major emphasis on the use of the famed Kraus-Weber tests for campers this summer. A series of six exercises will test the strengths and weaknesses of campers, and signed to correct and strengthen the weaknesses found. Campers will be tested at the beginning and the end of each two-week camp period, and results will be given to the parents. In a similar test given to 20 boys in a gym class last month only one was able to pass all six.

Other outstanding phases of the 'Y' day camp program are the instructional and recreational swims each day and the coverage on pickup points offered by chartered bus service. Children attending the 'Y' day camp will be just minutes away from pickup points, which include many of the schools in the northwest suburban area, and no youngsters will have to cross major thoroughfares.

THREE 2-WEEK camp periods are offered as follows: first period, June 30 to July 10; second period, July 14 to July 24; third period, July 28 to August 7. The day camp will operate four days a week, Tuesday through Friday. Campers are to bring their own lunch, swimming suit and towel each day. Milk, swim admissions, insurance, transportation and other expenses are included in the nominal camp fee.

Registrations may be made by calling the 'Y' office, 1488 Miner st., Des Plaines, Va 4-4156. (B8

Carelessness Kills Many Farm People

Needless accidents continue to kill thousands of farm people and injure more than 1,250,000 each year.

Farm accidents are far more numerous than are accidents to workers in manufacturing industries, says O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Hogsett reports that 64 accident fatalities per 100,000 farm workers occurred during a given year compared with 20 accident fatalities per 100,000 workers in manufacturing. Experience shows that nearly all farm accidents result from faulty human behavior—the inability to cope with them safely.

The typical American farm is family operated, and many working, playing, driving, and housekeeping practices must be changed in order to eliminate the causes of farm accidents. It is imperative that all members of the family be made safety conscious; that is, they should be aware of the danger spots around the farm and the dangerous practices they are using.

Illinois Schools Ask Special Aid

Illinois public schools have submitted more than 650 applications in a federal-local program to improve instruction in science, mathematics and foreign languages.

George T. Wilkins, state superintendent of public instruction, predicted Illinois schools will spend more than $2,100,000 in the project aimed at strengthening education in "critical areas of learning."

The schools chief announced a second congressional appropriation of $1,148,000 now supplements an initial or "starter" outlay of $589,000, making a total of $1,737,000 of federal funds available to all schools from kindergarten through junior college as the first step in a four-year program.

THE MONEY has been set aside by congress under the National Defense Act and will be matched by local school district funds.

Schools securing approval of applications for laboratory equipment and teaching aids will be eligible to receive federal grants ranging from ten to 50 per cent of the total cost.

Wilkins said 450 of the 650 applications now being screened by professional evaluators representing schools, colleges and his supervisory staff are for science projects.

The remaining 200 applications are divided equally between mathematics and foreign language programs.

ANNOUNCEMENT of first approval of current applications will be made June 15.

"The greatest improvement," he said, "is taking place in the junior high school division — the seventh, eighth and ninth grades — where interest in these subjects is keenest and literally skyrocketing.

"In addition to plans for science programs detailed requests from various schools also disclose an interest in establishment of more than 40 foreign language laboratories equipped with modern recording systems to strengthen and accelerate learning procedures."

Wilkins said some schools with advanced courses are setting the pace for training future scientists.

As an example he cited an "outstanding school" that plans to build an observatory as a practical aid in the teachng of astronomy and physical scence.

WILKINS HAS characterized the federal law an "historic piece of legislation because it signifies the start of a progam of federal assistance for the first time to strengthen education at critical points."

He said the current appropriation will not be used for private schools since such institutions must apply directly to the United States Office of Education for loans to pay for laboratory and classroom equipment.

Items sought by schools in applications now being processed include mathematical instruments, laboratory apparatus, films, filmstrips, recordings, projectors, recorders, screens, reference and library books, science kits, charts and demonstration materials. (B13

'You Can Count On Her'

by Mrs. Robert Hesse — FLanders 9-1871

Palatine

The bridge at Deer Grove served to symbolize the crossing over into Intermediate Scouting at the fly-up ceremony of Brownie troop 488 held May 27. Fourteen girls received their wings in the impressive ceremony. The girls and their leader, Mrs. R. C. Wallace, then built a fire and made Somemores as refreshments.

Playing "Big Sister" at a get-acquainted party for the first grade girls of Park school were members of Brownie troop 355. Guests and visiting leaders enjoyed seeing a handicraft display presented by the girls. Each guest received a clever wheelbarrow favor and joined the troop members in singing songs.

The members of troop 355 were also hostesses at a recent Mother's day party. Each girl introduced her mother to other members and guests and presented her with a glass floral table decoration. The Brownies sang a group of songs and served refreshments.

NORTHEAST and Northwest Arlington neighborhoods substituted a luncheon for their usual neighborhood meeting. It was held May 21 at Old Orchard country club.

Highlight of the afternoon was the awarding of service pins. Mrs. A. W. Gamenthal received a pin for 25 years work in scouting. Mrs. T. E. Matthews got one for 15 years and Mrs. A. Basil for 10.

Six mothers of troop 315 celebrated their fifth year of scouting together. Mrs. Carl Klehm, leader, Mrs. Joseph Kovalik, Mrs. Martin Freeman, Mrs. Norman Runge, Mrs. Wilbert Kastning and four members of the troop committee were presented with five year pins. Mrs. Fred W. Gieseke Jr., co-leader, received one for 10 years service.

Five-years guards were given to Mrs. John Mundell, Mrs. Otto Mirs, Mrs. John Maun, Mrs. Robert Helfers, Mrs. Leo Hunter, Mrs. George Hanson, Jr., John Coward, Mrs. J. W. Gow, Mrs. Robert Page, Mrs. G.W. Lalish and Mrs. E. Whiting.

Marsha Saunders won one of the top honors in the Girl Scout Council Art contest. Her picture, "Chicago's Business Frontier," is being sent to the Senior Round-up in Colorado Springs.

Black Sambo, the pet monkey at the Scientific Small Animals Farm in Arlington Heights, was the center of attention when the members of Brownie troop 563 paid a recent visit. The girls also enjoyed seeing the baby mice and beautiful peacocks.

Troop 258, with 19 second grade Brownies, entertained troop mothers at a tea May 26. The girls made the invitations, decorated cookies and entertained with a song and dance previously performed at the Father-Daughter banquet. (B9

Wilson school was the scene of the recent fly-up of troop 495. Wings were presented to 14 girls by troop leader, Mrs. Kuntzman. The new Intermediate Scouts were welcomed into troop 164 by leaders, Barbara Hanson and Ruth Randle. Punch and cookies were served and the mothers were presented with carnations made by the girls.

Caravan Trip, Kroehler Camp on YMCA Program

School's out and youngsters' thoughts are turning toward the fun of summer sports, vacations and the possibility of attending camp. Many boys and girls in the northwest suburban area are planning to take part in the local YMCA camp activities which include, besides a day-camping program, a resident camp in northern Wisconsin and a 10-day caravan camping trip to Colorado.

Parents and their youngsters are invited to see the camp movies and slides to be presented by Northwest Suburban YMCA Wednesday evening, June 10, at 7:30 in Mt. Prospect village hall. Movies of Rodney Kroehler YMCA camp and slides of last year's caravan trip to Colorado will be shown.

ONE OF THE finest YMCA camps in the country located near Hayward, Wis., will be available for northwest suburban boys during the two weeks from June 21 to July 4 and for girls the last three weeks in August. Campers must be between the ages of 10 and 16. Program at Kroehler 'Y' camp is built around the beautiful blue waters of Lake Couderay and includes water skiing, sailing, canoeing, fishing, swimming, boating as well as many land activities.

"Pike's Peak or Bust" is again the motto of a caravan of boys 11 to 16 years old from the northwest suburban area who, with two adult leaders, will leave August 3 by station wagon and travel to Colorado, visiting points of interest and camping along the way. The boys will climb Pike's Peak, see money made at the Denver Mint, visit the Garden of the Gods, attend a rodeo starring Dale Robertson, tour Boys Town and spend a day at a dude ranch.

APROXIMATELY 2,600 miles will be covered as the boys camp out by night and sightsee by day, cooking breakfast at camp and eating all other meals in restaurants. Return is scheduled for August 12, and only 14 boys can be accepted, so registrations should be made as soon as possible.

All families are welcome to see the camp movies and slides Wednesday evening, whether they have registered youngsters or are just considering the 'Y' camping program. A YMCA staff person will be present to answer all questions. Further information may be obtained by calling the 'Y' office, VA 4-4156.

Health Care Advances Due To Hospital Teaching

by PAUL JOHNSON

The great advances in health care that benefit all of us would not be possible if it were not for the extensive teaching programs carried out in hospitals. More and more highly skilled doctors, technicians, nurses, and medical records librarians are needed as the field of hospital service is broadened.

Each school that is conducted in a hospital must be accredited by the proper professional organization, and in order that high standards be maintained, representatives of these accrediting groups regularly visit to observe first hand the operation of the school in the hospital.

MANY HOSPITALS have a training program for doctors as interns and as residents. Under the General Rotating Internship Program, the newly graduated physician spends a year working under qualified hospital medical staff men. This year of training is divided into periods of time spent in surgery, medicine, obstetrics and pediatrics. Having satisfactorily completed his internship and passed his state license exam, he is qualified to practice.

Many doctors choose to take further training as a resident doctor in a particular field before starting to practice. This program of specialization varies from one to six additional years.

To take the one year course in Laboratory Technology; a student must have a minimum of two years of college study. The trainee learns how to process the many laboratory tests that are so important to the doctor in diagnosis and treatment. Tissue specimens are prepared for observation by the hospital Pathologist. After passing a professional examination which is offered twice a year, the graduate becomes a Registered Laboratory Technologist.

To become a Registered X-Ray Technologist, a high school graduate must spend two years in training under the direction of the hospital Radiologist and then pass the prescribed examination.

HOSPITAL nursing schools offer a 3 year course which prepares a girl to pass the rigid examination required to become a Registered Nurse. Hospitals also provide the clinical training facilities for colleges which have a 4 year program leading to a Bachelor of Science Degree in Nursing.

It is very important that the medical record of each hospital patient be properly filed and indexed. This work is done by Medical Record Librarians, and to enter a school to learn this profession a student must be a Registered Nurse or have two years of college training. She is trained for one year, and after passing her examination, she becomes a Registered Medical Record Librarian.

Lutheran General hospital will have these six schools as well as very comprehensive Chaplaincy Training Program.

Success Barometer

New job stature for young executives comes at two critical periods in their lives, or not at all, according to Executive Manpower Corporation, a New York talent placement agency.

If the executive doesn't improve his circumstances between the ages of 28 and 32 and from 42 to 45, he'll never make it, the firm contends.

Greek Orthodox Church Purchases Own Building

Members of the St. John Greek Orthodox community of the Northwest suburban area have purchased the Good Shepherd Lutheran church on Prospect and Illinois sts. in Des Plaines. The Good Shepherd Lutheran church, having outgrown their present church, will be moving to a new and much larger church in December. After five years of fund raising drives and granting of a church charter by the Greek Orthodox diocese of the Midwest area the first Greek Orthodox church in 35 years will come into being to serve the Northwest suburban area of Chicago.

Although there are no regular church services of the Greek Orthodox faith being held in the area at the present time, there is a Sunday school that meets every Sunday at the Lions Memorial park field house in Mt. Prospect. It boasts an attendance of 105 children and is sanctioned by the Greek Orthodox diocese of Chicago.

There are approximately 60 families active in the organization scattered from Wheeling to the north, Bensenville to the south, Elgin to the west and Park Ridge to the east.

Mrs. Constantine Stamis of Mt. Prospect is president of the Women's club and Pates K. Ladas of Arlington Heights is president of the Men's club.

Building plans had been previously announced for the St. John Gree Orthodox church to serve the Northwest suburban area but were put aside with the purchase of the church in Des Plaines. The assignment of Father Philip Pekras as organizer to the new community by the diocese gives the purchase a greater significance in that beginning August 1 there will be regular church services of the Greek Orthodox faith being held every Sunday.

The Sunday school will also be consolidated together with the church as there is a separate wing providing class rooms on a permanent basis.

Pancake Benefit Success

Four hundred dollars netted by the pancake brunch served by the Arlington Heights Chapter of the National Council of Presbyterian Men will be donated to a congregation in Osaka, Japan, according to Dr. Harrie L. Hall, treasurer, 907 S. Beverley lane.

Boys and girls of Senior Tuxis of the Arlington Heights Presbyterian church have contributed an additional $40, a sum which they earned washing cars the morning of the brunch.

An anonymous member of the men's club has given $200 to the fund. The Presbyterian Men now have a total of $640 towards their goal of $1,000, which the Osaka Christians will use to buy land for a church.

"The church will be located in the waterfront area where our own Dr. Paul Stumpf made many converts while in Japan," said Victor Myer, 644 S. Lincoln lane, president.

James E. Mason, 902 S. State, sales director of Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour, arranged for a donation of the mix used in the brunch. Old Manse provided syrup at no charge. Chairman of the brunch was Robert Herigodt, 1513 Fremont. (A

MICHAEL ZAVISON celebrated his eighth birthday May 26. Games and prizes were shared with eight friends after school, followed by a cook-out.

The big event this week for two Westgate girls, Diane Kabat and Sharon Huff, was the eighth grade graduation dance.

Carolyn Burkett modeled at the Northwest Community hospital Women's Auxiliary luncheon and fashion show last week. She was given encouraging smiles at Tam O'Shanter by Joyce Akerlund, Bert Graczyk, Jeanne Huster, Jackie Rudolphy, Ellie De Zonna, Norma Hansen and Dorothy Agnes.

Pam Townsend celebrated her eighth birthday with a theater party Saturday. Her guests were Marcia Myers, Sue Ann Sindorf, Andrea Graczyk, Lunn Ann Keefer, Kim Bender, Cheryl Stein and Willette Braasch. Pam's sister, Patty, joined the girls for cake and ice cream upon their return to the Townsend home.

Eastwood Events

Concert and choir singing are occupying all the attention of two Eastwood families this week. Tuesday night both Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Neas took part in the choir concert sponsored by the Women's Guild of Our Saviour Lutheran church. Their repertoire included both religious and secular music and also Christmas songs. The Neases live at 201 N. Brighton.

On Thursday and Friday night Jack Schuler of 205 N. Dryden will join with other employees of the telephone company in the annual spring concert of the Illinois Bell Telephone chorus. This is Mr. Schuler's third year with the group which presents it concert for the public in the auditorium of the Prudential building.

The threatening weather of the Memorial day weekend didn't dim the fun for several Brighton pl. neighbors. The Leon McKnights, Bob Gladers, Bud Scullys, Robert Kanouses, John Hartys, children and all, gathered in the Bruce McBride backyard for a cookout on Sunday. The McBrides reside at 216 N. Brighton pl.

THE BIG EVENT at the Ford Slagle home, 713 N. Beverly ave., is the anticipation of young Ford's homecoming on June 8 for the summer. Ford has been studying for the past year at St. Jude seminary in Momence, Ill.

On Saturday morning, June 6, Mrs. Slagle will be among the ladies who are serving breakfast to the parents and eighth grade graduates of St. James school. Carla Ferris, Mrs. Slagle's niece, is in the class which will have graduation exercises at the 9 o'clock mass, immediately after which breakfast will be served.

The Gus Anderson family of 614 N. Beverly ave., spent the weekend at their summer home at Lake Catherine, near Antioch. On Saturday they entertained 12 guests, several of whom stayed overnight and for Sunday.

On Thursday guests at the Anderson home for lunch will be Mr. and Mrs. Rolf Kjellberg, who are in the United States for a three-month visit. Their home is in Farsta, Sweden.

Serving as the new president of the Arlington high school Cardinal Boosters club is Bill Inman, 513 N. Douglas ave. Mr. Inman officiated at his first meeting, Tuesday, May 26. This meeting was a dinner served in the high school cafeteria at which letter awards were presented to the boys who had participated in spring sports at the high school. Bob Inman received his letter for tennis.

THE TMA convention at the Americana hotel in Miami Beach, Fla. proved to be both glamorous and fun-packed for the George Moores, 202 N. Dryden ave. The four-hour trip by jet prop planes both ways, left them plenty of time to enjoy the activities. Some time out from conventioneering was spent at the dog races at the Biscayne race track and a 7½ hour cruise through the Florida everglades.

Mr. Moore was appointed sales manager for the Paper Mate company's advertising specialty and military division. He will have his offices at the Paper Mate's executive offices in the Merchandise mart.

Michele Behm's fifth birthday was Saturday, May 30, but she celebrated with a party on Sunday afternoon. A trip to Kiddieville was the planned entertainment for her guests, but due to the inclement weather it developed into a house party. Chicago relatives and Carol and Bobby Evans comprised the guest list. Luckily for the Evans children they were just "in between" chicken pox. Carol having just finished, and Bobby not starting till after the party. Michele is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Behm, 202 N. Lincoln lane. (A

Zoning Hearing June 10 For Erecting Radio Tower

A public hearing is scheduled June 10 on a petition for a zoning ordinance to use ⅛ of an acre for a transmitting and receiving radio tower.

The hearing will determine whether northwest suburbanites will soon enjoy their own FM radio station, for which John D. Morgan, 321 S. Drury lane, Arlington Heights, received an operating license Jan. 14.

Special use will be requested at the hearing at 7:30 p.m. in the Arlington Heights village hall for the tower, which is to be more than 100 feet tall in the B-2, or business, tavern and amusement district.

IT WILL BE three months after approval before the station, which will operate on 92.7 megacycles, can be placed into operation. Location of the station will be 150 feet west of Arlington Heights rd., and approximately 650 feet north of Palatine rd. in Wheeling township.

The station will operate from 1 to 11 p.m. and will broadcast high school athletic events, spot news, special teen programs and both adult and teen-age music.

Turkish Officers Visit Nike Site

Three Turkish Officers, and their interpreter, visited Headquarters, 45th Artillery brigade (Air Defense), Arlington Heights, on May 27. The visitors were guests of Col. Clarence F. Nelson, commanding officer, 45th Artillery brigade, for the entire day.

Brigadier General Giyasettin Aran, Chief of Artillery department, Turkish Ground Forces; Colonel Ali Enber Eralp, Commandant, Artillery school; and Colonel Kemal Yalim, Commandant, AAA school. The officers were briefed on the operation of the Chicago-Gary Defense system, and were shown the operation of the Defense nerve center, the Command post.

ON MAY 28, the group toured Battery A, 2nd Missile Battalion, 57th artillery, Montrose beach, Chicago, and Battery B, 2d Missile Battalion, 57th Artillery, Chicago, to observe the typical operation of NIKE sites within the system.

They also observed the missile men at their jobs. The administrative area and IFC area of Battery A, along with the launch and IFC areas of Battery B, were visited by the Turkish officers.

The tour was climaxed by a aerial view of the Chicago-lakefront. The group then left Chicago for a tour of the Milwaukee Air Defense area.

Brigadier General Giyasettin Aran was born in Istanbul, Turkey, and graduated from the Military Academy in 1923. He has been trained in the field of artillery in both the United States and England. He was promoted to Brigadier General in 1956. (A

A Message From George Harris, "Your Pharmacist"

IMPORTANT INFORMATION FOR GRADUATES

The practice of pharmacy is a worthwhile career for anyone who likes people. Upon graduation from a college of pharmacy and passing a state examination, registered pharmacists are immediately able to earn a good salary.

PHARMACY STUDIES ARE INTERESTING.

Courses include Chemistry, Hygiene, Biology, Physiology, Physics, Mathematics, Anatomy, Latin, Economics and Prescription Compounding. You will learn the properties and dosage of every medicine, herb or chemical.

SOME DAY YOU CAN OWN A PHARMACY.

Operating a pharmacy is not just a business. Your first concern will be your customer's welfare, because the Code of Ethics of Pharmacy directs every pharmacist to consider his customer's better health to be more important than greater profits.

TUITION RATES ARE REASONABLE.

Many students of pharmacy earn them during their summer vacations, while serving an apprenticeship in a drug store. If you want to study pharmacy and have good high school grades we will be glad to give you more information.

Rain Fails to Dampen Gay Spirit of Pet Paraders

Rain forced park district officials to march the Memorial Day Pet Parade into the Recreation park fieldhouse, but it failed to dampen the spirits of the 30 youngsters who exhibited their animals. Boy Scout Joe Lohr led the parade and provided the marching tempo with his drum.

In the fieldhouse, the judges' committee reviewed the entrants and selected winners. Judges were Dryden school principal Bob Spinks, Ark Pet Shop owner Bill Styverson, and Mrs. Charles Oestmann. They awarded Donna Prenner 10, of 742 S. Highland, the trophy for the most unusual pet, a skunk. Honorable mention went to Sharon Edward 11, 105 Wilshire lane, for a dove.

Able, the space mouse, was the most attractively exhibited animal and the trophy went to Martha Hutchins 5, of 403 S. Carlyle. Honorable mention was given to Joe Jeffery 12, of 1311 W. Campbell for his rabbit display.

The "Puss-in-Boots" of Cathy Combs 11, of 810 N. Beverly lane, was the most uniquely exhibited pet. Steve Bakas 6, of 1213 W. Euclid, won honorable mention with a rabbit in his hat display.

All entrants were given a chance to guess the age of a big, white rabbit donated by the Ark Pet shop. Christine Dapper, 950 E. Haven, won the bunnie by guessing within three days of its actual age. She was tied with Joe Jefferies, but won on the toss of a coin. (A

St. James Women's Guild Fetes Incoming Officers

The St. James Catholic Women's Guild honored its outgoing officers and introduced the newly elected executive board at a recent luncheon at the Villa Venice.

Guests of honor were Rev. George Stier, pastor of St. James church, Rev. John Lane and Rev. George Roth, spiritual moderator of the Women's Guild.

Father Roth presented the past president, Mrs. Jack Buckley, a gift from the organization in appreciation of devoted service. Mrs. Buckley gave Father Stier a check representing profits from guild activities of the past year.

Mrs. James B. Murphy, president-elect, thanked each outgoing officer and committee chairman individually and cited accomplishments for the year.

Mrs. Murphy introduced her new board as follows: first vice president, Mrs. Raymond Yochem; second vice president, Mrs. William Bergin, both in charge of membership; recording secretary, Mrs. Maurice Cooney; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Richard Janda, and treasurer, Mrs. R. S. McMullen.

Committee chairmen appointed to serve for the coming term are as follows: ways and means, Mrs. William Knight; program, Mrs. Thomas McGough; publicity, Mrs. James Brophy; Holiday bazaar, Mrs. Joseph Dunne; and Mrs. Robert Hetzel, Christmas card sales, Mrs. John O'Brien and Mrs. Frank Kieca; Mass, Mrs. Joseph Muran; Legion of Decency, Mrs. Roger Alm and Mrs. Henry Hanigan; refreshments, Mrs. Fred Hack and Mrs. Raymond Bischoffer; school service, Mrs. Harry Kushmer; Canasta, Mrs. Victor Dale; bowling, Mrs. Steve Stefanik and marshals, Mrs. Willard Meyer, Mrs. Edwin Weidner, Mrs. James Weidner and Mrs. Richard Weidner.

A parade of summer fashions from the Lorraine-Anne shop were modeled by women of the guild. The show's commentator was Lorraine-Anne herself.

Mrs. William Harrah, who planned the luncheon, surprised all the officers with gifts of carnation corsages. (A

Any Ideas Lately?

So successful has the employee suggestion program become that workers now even have their own organization, the National Association of Suggestion Systems.

A survey revealed that last year 6,628,386 employees submitted 1,692,704 suggestions. Of this total about one-fourth, or 434,375 ideas were accepted and used. Enterprising workers received a total of $13,956,841 in return for their ingenuity.

A camera factory worker was among the top flight, with an award of $23,495 for a suggestion designed to cut down on production operations in the manufacture of a movie camera.

Barber Shop Singers Host High School Chorus

The Arlington Heights chapter of Barber Shop singers last week lived up to their motto, "preserve and encourage barber shop music." The "Arlingtone" chapter acted as hosts to a high school barbershop chorus May 25, and sang for the Mt. Prospect Masons May 27.

The high school chorus came from Niles township and was directed by Earle Auge. Earle is the director of voice and instruments at this school as well as being the director of the "Arlingtones."

After the 20-member high school chorus sang several songs in the true barber shop style, Auge spoke to those present. "The old pastime of standing on the corner harmonizing with a bunch of other guys has been replaced by the many barbershop choruses and quartets that meet each week." Director Auge said. "Singing was a wonderful, carefree pastime then and it still is today." He also expressed the desire that more organizations avail themselves of the free entertainment that the barbershop choruses have to offer.

As if following his advice the Mt. Prospect Masons were entertained by the "Arlingtone" choirus on the following Wednesday. More than 30 chorus members turned out in striped vests and derbys to show how the songs that were written around the turn of the century were once sung.

The "Arlingtone" chorus meets every Monday at 8:30 p.m., at the American Legion hall, 121 N. Douglas, Arlington Heights. Further information is available by calling CL 5-1797. (A

New Members Received By St. Peter Lutheran

On Wednesday evening in a special service, St. Peter Lutheran Church received 19 adults into Communicant membership by the Rite of Confirmation. These 19 had been duly instructed in the Christian teachings since the first of the year by the pastor, Rev. Robert O. Bartz. They were officially welcomed into the congregation by its president, Kurt Meyer.

At the last Adult Forum the congregations program and activities were explained by the parish committee chairman, George Rateike. Refreshments were served by the Evangelism corp. A formal welcome and social event by all members received into the congregation either by transfer or by the Rite of Confirmation is planned for the end of this year.

Those received into membership were: William Crauch; Miss Karen Flack; Walter Henke; Willi Henke; Clarence Horcher; Mrs. Edward Jaeger; Richard Klages; Robert Nelson; Troy Parker; Miss Donna Pohlman; Miss Jacqueline Pohlman; Miss Marlene Pohlman; Louis Sadecky; Thomas Steffes Schroeder; Mrs. Elizabeth Walz; David Wenzel; Edward E. MEMBERS OF SOUTH junior high school's class 7-4 in Arlington Heights attended the Chicago Historical Museum last week. They were accompanied by their teacher, Mr. Fred Noble and Mrs. Whitson, room mother. The museum conducted a tour of early Chicago and Illinois history.

Militzer Heads Historical Group

The Historical society of Arlington Heights held its annual meeting recently in the community room of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan building.

Elected to serve for the year 1959-1960 were Theodore Militzer president; Mrs. Stephen Jurco, recording secretary; Mrs. Marjorie B. Allen, corresponding secretary; Mr. Virgil Horath, treasurer, and Mrs. Milton Daniels, curator.

Also elected as directors for the same term are Albert F. Volz, Raoul Peeters, and Mrs. Rex Volz. It was unanimously voted that Albert F. Volz, being the first president of the Historical society, and serving two years, be declared honorary president.

ALTHOUGH THE Historical society is two years old, members have collected a great quantity of material—documents, letters, pictures, newspaper articles, obituaries, biographies, wedding and birth announcements of early day residents, their homes, and activities.

Also many articles of home furnishings and equipment have been given to the society by members of old time families. These tell of life in the Arlington Heights area "Way Back When."

The society meets on the fourth Friday of each month in the community room of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings at 7:30 p.m., and the society extends an invitation to everyone interested in the town's history.

Congresswoman to Address Elks' Flag Day Ceremony

Rep. Marguerite Stitt Church (R-13th) will be featured speaker after an impressive parade and ceremonies on Flag Day, Sunday, June 14, under direction of the Elks.

The parade, which will begin at 2 p.m. at Arlington Heights' South school, and will proceed through the village and culminate in Recreation park.

Participating in the parade will be the Great Lakes Naval band, the Maryville Academy band, the 45th brigade drum and bugle corps of the local Nike site.

Also participating will be the Marine Corps color guard, the Glenview Naval Air station color guard and several troops of Boy Scouts, including the color guard.

Invited as participants are the Arlington Heights and Mt. Prospect Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Arlington Heights and Palatine American Legion, the Lions club, Chamber of Commerce, Rotary club, Girl Scouts, Junior Woman's club and the Daughters of the American Revolution.

THE ARLINGTON Heights Woman's club will enter a float in the parade and will illustrate the numerous departments of the club as a member of the General Federation of Women's clubs.

Posters will be exhibited on American Citizenship, education, Indian Affairs, international relations, veterans service, public health and welfare, philanthropies and traffic safety council.

This project was planned by Mrs. Chester Moore, art chairman; Mrs. Vernon Pingle, American Home chairman, and Mrs. Harold Smalley, education chairman, as well as officers and directors of the club.

Flag Day was initiated by the Elks in 1907 to promote a proper knowledge of and respect for the American flag. As a result of the setting aside of June 12 for this purpose by the Elks, President Harry S. Truman in 1949 signed Public Law 203, designating June 14 as National Flag Day.

Ridge Park—Sherwood

FROM SHERWOOD

The Jack Burgesses, 1218 W. Clarendon, are back from a weekend in Ames, Ia., where they saw son Bob graduate from Iowa State college. They brought their granddaughter, Kathy, back with them for a 2-week stay while her parents house hunt in Des Moines.

Despite the weather, the Sherwood golf tournament is off to a fine start and the ladies have been golfing at Arlington country club every Thursday.

The James Pooles, 1106 N. Princeton, are enjoying a visit from his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Sornsen of Muskogee, Okla. who plan to be here about two weeks.

FROM RIDGE PARK

Last Tuesday Mary Meade, Mary Buckley, Frances Cumino, Kathleen Dunne and Kathleen's mother, Mrs. Catherine Megary, made up a group of women who attended the St. James Women's guild luncheon at Villa Venice. Three priests of the parish joined the 187 women for the luncheon and fashion show. As former president of the guild, Mrs. Buckley was presented a gift during the afternoon. Mrs. Megary, who is making her home with the Dunnes, was especially interested in the fashion show as she was a designer of wedding clothes back East.

The Jerry Veseckys, 1002 N. Fernandez, took advantage of the holiday weekend and went to Devil's Lake State Park in Wisconsin camping. This was their first trip camping with their trailer and from all reports it was successful. Thirty of their family made up the party and with a variety of weather they all had a fine time.

Because Stephen Schlickman's sixth birthday fell on Memorial day and his grandfather Schlickman's birthday was a few days earlier, the families planned a picnic at Fox River Grove over the weekend. The L. J. Schlickmans and Stephen's other grandmother, Mrs. Lucy Muraski, drove over from Rockford, along with the aunts, uncles and cousins for the outing. Stephen's 7-year-old brother, Andy, and 2-year-old sister, Mary, enjoyed helping him celebrate his birthday. The children's parents are the Eugene Schlickmans, 712 N. Fernandez.

WHEN MAC MURRAY college in Jacksonville, had commencement and alumni weekend over the holiday, the W. H. Heys, 1015 N. Kaspar, were there for the reunion of her class of '49. With their two boys settled with her parents in Kankakee, Carol and Bill began the weekend with a meeting of the alumni followed by a luncheon honoring the alumni of the year plus the graduating seniors.

Many of the class reunions were held that afternoon and at a small tea in one of the lounges Carol was delighted to find 40 of her class. At the presidents' reception, Mrs. MacMurray — the college was named for her husband—as well as the former president was present and Carol was delighted to meet one of her former professors and one of her closest friends. The two girls couldn't finish their reminiscing at the reception so they and their husbands spent the evening together. Sunday was commencement and the trip back home with Carol quite enthused to find some of her classmates living right here in this area.

The month of June will be devoted to enjoying her cousins, according to the Gene Barnes, 1016 N. Kaspar, who have been looking for the Karl Seigels for several weeks. The Seigels, who live in a suburb of Hamburg, Germany, will be here for four weeks beginning their visit with Norma's folks in Barrington. Last summer Norma, her girls and parents visited the Seigels and now they are anxious to show them a little of this country before they fly back to Germany.

WHEN DICK Bulinski, 725 N. Kaspar, surprised Helen with a birthday celebration last Friday night even the children were delighted. He took them to the Azuma House where they ate Japanese style with chopsticks and kneeling on pillows before the low table set for them. Helen says that with the little Japanese girls waiting on them in kimonas, it reminded them of the Teahouse of the August Moon. Two of the Bulinski children are studying units on Japan, so they went to school the following Monday armed with chopsticks and quite a bit more information about the country.

The William Warrens, 817 N. Harvard, found it took quite a bit of doing to surprise son Bill on his 13th birthday last Friday, with with the cooperation of several people they managed it nicely. Twenty-six of Bill's seventh grade classmates at South Junior high, plus his teacher, Mr. Noble, came to the Warrens for barbecues and all the trimmings. Bill's sister, Ann, conducted games after supper and there was also dancing on the patio.

When the Len Garash[illegible]

N. Harvard, went to the David Fosters in West Chicago for a family get together over the weekend they were in for a treat. The senior Garashas had just flown in from San Francisco and were brimming over with stories of their recent trip to the Orient. At the next family get together they are hoping to have their pictures ready to show.

Get well quick wishes are extended to Billy Groh, son of the William H. Grohs, 912 N. Chicago, who is recuperating from chicken pox. Billy wasn't able to go, but his mother attended a shower given for his teacher, Miss Minouge, who plans to be married this August. All her second grade students at St. James and their mothers gathered in the basement of the school and the mothers enjoying cake and coffee while the children ate their lunch.

ANN AND JIM Christensen, 725 N. Patton, were the guests of Catherine and Jim Stephens at a dance at Chevy Chase country club given by St. Alphonsus church. This was the third annual Rose Ball card party and dance, with Buddy Pressner and his orchestra furnishing the music.

When Donna Siemro, daughter of Mrs. Fred Siemro, 929 N. Yale ave., comes home from Concordia Teacher's college this weekend, she will have a job waiting for her Monday at Lutheran Mutual Life Insurance company. Donna has just finished her first year at Concordia.

Priscilla Read, daughter of the Bob Reads, 1019 N. Kennicott, will probably never forget her 16th birthday last Friday. Two of her friends gave her a sweet 16 corsage made up of 16 cubes of sugar 9 roses and two white carnations. Saturday, when she thought she and her friends were going to McDonald's for hamburgers, they took her to Kathy Sellers home for a surprise party. Margaret Sandy, Meg Sillon, Joycelyn Coblenz, Sharon Smith, Karen Hansen, Mary Kay Tamulis, Linda Burke and hostess Kathy Sellers and guest of honor Priscilla Read enjoyed a lovely luncheon before going to the carnival at Prospect High. All the girls are sophomores at Prospect.

The R. A. Beckmans, 812 N. Fernandez, entertained the Bill Lundborgs of Chicago last Sunday. It was the first time the Lundborgs had seen the Beckman's home and they were quite impressed with it.

Roberta Louise has increased the Charles Jones' girls to five. Born May 28 in Resurrection hospital, she weighed 7 pounds, 10 ounces. News of her arrival has traveled all the way to Brooklyn, N.Y., where her grandparents, the senior Charles Jones live and the important thing to them right now is how soon they can see her. Her sisters, Caroline, 8, Maureen, 6, Melanie, 3, and Colleen, 2, are delighted that Roberta has continued a trend in their family. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones, 835 N. Kaspar, are the parents.

IT HAS BEEN two years since the G. S. Morgans, 1010 N. Harvard, had seen her aunt, Mrs. Miley Pickel of St. Louis, Mo., so they were especially happy when she spent the Memorial day weekend with them.

The Bob Hildebrandts, 735 N. Patton, were delighted that the sun stayed around for the cookout Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dyskie and Gale came from Bellwood and the Jim Christensens from across the street.

Dick and Laverne Lavers, 940 N. Fernandez, joined friends from Hinsdale Wednesday evening for dinner at The Cypress. After dinner the two couples enjoyed seeing the Hinsdale Summer theatre's production of "Mr. and Mrs." with Marilyn Maxwell, Steve Dunne and Jackie Coogan.

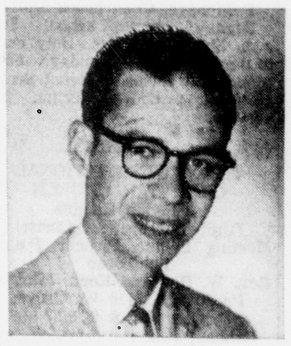
Over the holiday weekend, young Jayne Ann LaGrave, daughter of the Bill LaGraves, 834 N. Patton, met her grandmother, Mrs. C. W. LaGrave and aunt, Miss Edna Robison, for the first time. The two ladies spent the weekend here before leaving for their home in Clayton, Mo.

Things are really buzzing at the John J. Lightners, 921 N. Harvard. Memorial day they attended the St. James bowling banquet at Chevy Chase country club. Monday was Peggy's 13th birthday and the family helped her celebrate the occasion. Tuesday was Mrs. Lightner's birthday and Wednesday they celebrated their wedding anniversary. (A

Card Party

A public card party will be held Saturday evening, June 6, at 8 p.m. at the field house in Arlington Heights. Mrs. H. B. Jones, CL 5-3827 or Mrs. Jerry Hejduk, CL 3-4616, may be contacted for further information.

Director to Take New Post



EDWARD VOLZ

Palatine high's youthful director of music, Ed Volz, will graduate next week with the class of '59.

Twenty-seven-year-old Volz, who has done a magnificent job at the high school in his three years, will take over next fall as director of instrumental music at Prospect high school in Mt. Prospect.

His last two performances are Baccalaureate exercises June 7 and the 83rd high school commencement exercises next Wednesday.

HE WILL, HOWEVER, continue to live in Palatine and has arranged his schedule next year so as to be able to continue to lead the village band.

Born in Cincinnati and raised in Granville, Ohio, the personable Volz comes from a musical family-at least, on the male side. His grandfather played the alto and French horns with several bands throughout Ohio, and his father studied at the Cincinnati Conservatory, conducting his own band for a while.

Volz's wife Ruth teaches home economics at the high school. He met her about a year after he came to the school. She has played the clarinet on an amateur basis.

A graduate of Northwestern university, Volz spent two years playing with an American combo in France. He was in the army, but given civilian status to play with a six-piece jazz combo operating out of La Rochelle, a little fishing town on the French southwestern coast.

The group was sponsored by the U.S. Army and the French government to tour the country, playing mainly before French audiences in night clubs and hotels. Because of the extremely unstable French political situation at the time, the band as a propaganda vehicle was not as effective as it could have been said Volz.

If anyone has a couple of free hours, Volz has a myriad of fascinating experiences to relate about his unusual tour in France, and none of the stories concern women.

AT NORTHWESTERN, the young bandmaster was with the University band staff, played with the Grant Park symphony and the Chicago Civic Orchestra. He also did a great deal of professional work in various night clubs.

Last year, Volz played with the Chicago Lyric Opera company and was named the tympanist for the American Band Masters band, which rehearses and plays only once a year for the associations annual convention in Chicago.

Palatine high was his first teaching experience and he'll never forget it. "I've enjoyed it very much here. The cooperation from the school, parents and students has been something tremendous," says Volz.

From a musical standpoint, Volz points to the recently concluded music festival at the high school as his most satisfying teaching experience. "Everyone worked together, and it was the best I've heard in the last three years."

VOLZ SAYS HE plans to continue teaching. He likes the stability, the satisfaction of working with students in the formative high school age, and the fact that teaching being the very nucleus of the profession provides a fine creative outlet.

He hopes eventually to teach in a college or university. Beginning next summer he will work towards a masters degree.

When Volz came to Palatine high, there were about 110 students taking courses in the music department. There are now more than 200. There was a 30 piece concert band. The band now numbers 61. Volz has also organized the high school's 18-piece jazz-pep band.

He considers the Prospect job a "rare opportunity." The facilities there are very good, according to Volz and the potential is pretty well unlimited.

However, as a member of the Palatine Lions club and director of the up and coming village band, Volz will continue to be active in the village. (AMP

Our Saviour Church Holds Vacation Church School

The Vacation church school of Our Saviour Lutheran church, 1234 N. State rd., will begin classes Monday, June 8. The 2-week class sessions will continue weekdays through Friday, June 19, from 9:45 a.m. to noon at the church. There will be at least 21 classes for children 4 through 13 years, including a junior-high group. General theme of the school will be "We Belong to God," with accent on missionary work in the Middle East. Study groups, music, handicraft, films, refreshments and group play will comprise each day's schedule.

Mrs. David Bartlett is general director of the school. Mrs. Bartlett has B.S. and M.S. degrees from the University of Wisconsin and extensive teaching experience. Handicraft and art supervisor of the school will be Mrs. Carl Zehner, who has been instrumental in the formation of the Arlington Heights Art center, and is an accomplished artist in her own right. Mrs. George Westby, who will be music supervisor, is presently a member of the International Chorus guild and the Organist guild of Chicago. She will supervise the music of all departments with special emphasis on instructing the junior department in the new Lutheran liturgy.

A teaching staff of 29 will instruct four classes divided by age into the beginners, kindergarten, primary, and junior groups. Director of the beginners department will be Mrs. Kenneth Machacek. Mrs. Harold Witt will direct the kindergarten. Heading the primary department will be Mrs. Ted Meyer. Junior Department director will be Mrs. Vern Helm.

A non-teaching staff of 18 will assist the teaching staff. The non-teaching staff and their duties are: Mrs. Earl Snodgrass, business manager; Mrs. Richard Ekstrand, operations; Mrs. Betty Oman, playground supervisor; Mrs. Keith Posselt and Mrs. Richard Brettner, handicraft assistants, and Mrs. Russell Larson and Mrs. Harry Wickstrom, publicity. Teen-age assistants will be Judi Anderson, Caroline Neas, Joan Gran, Sandy Larson, Robert Wenzel, Nancy Neland, Sharon Wessling, Tom Kucharik, John Jacobsen, Gayle Miner and Virginia Umbaugh.

This will be the first Vacation church school to be held in Our Saviour church's new building, and should have a large attendance with all children of the church and community invited to attend. The closing program of the school will be held Friday, June 19, at 7:30 p.m. (A

Call for Opera

Due to the tremendous response of a story in this newspaper about a new operatic group will meet Friday, June 12.

Twenty five people answered the call of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Fricke, professionally trained singers, and will meet at 8 p.m. at the home of the Frickes, 103 S. Waterman.

The Greenview Estates association is considering the sponsorship of the operatic group. Anyone is invited to join, regardless of whether or not voices are trained. Those interested are urged to call CI-3-6930 immediately.

BOTH MR. AND Mrs. Fricke have been actively engaged in singing and producing operatic shows for the past 15 years.

They managed and directed the "Musical Drama Guild" in Chicago for a decade, producing their operas at the Eighth Street theater. Most successful of these was Tosca, in which Mrs. Fricke sang the lead and her husband sang the baritone role of "Scarpia."

HOW A MAN WENT WRONG
When the chaplain interviewed a man in prison, he asked this man how he came to be there. "My father sent me to church," was the reply. "How did that harm you?" asked the chaplain. "He should have taken me, not sent me." The prisoner was right. But that father said he was too busy.

John E. Cahill

John E. Cahill, 67, late of 602 S. eBlmont, Arlington Heights, died May 26 at his home. Mass was said at Our Lady of the Wayside, Friday, May 29. Interment was at All Saints cemetery.

Mr. Cahill, a past commander of the Mt. Prospect VFW, is survived by his wife, Elsie; a daughter, Jean Mary Schaefer; a sister, Marguerite Cahill; and two grandchildren. A brother, Charles J. and a sister, Lauretta Cahill, preceded him in death.

Raymond W. Madden

Raymond W. Madden, 74, late of 112 S. Haddow, Arlington Heights, died May 26 at Illinois Research hospital in Chicago. Graveside and interment services were held May 22 in Lebanon, Indiana.

Mr. Madden, who had been an auditor with the United States government, is survived by his wife, Dorothy.

Charles Pingel

Charles Pingel, 70, late of 33 S. Evergreen, Arlington Heights, died June 1 at his home. Services will be held at St. John United Church of Christ Friday, June 5, at 2 p.m. He will lie in state at the church from noon until time of the service. Rev. Robert M. McDonald will officiate. Interment will be at St. John United Church of Christ cemetery.

Mr. Pingel was chairman of the zoning board of appeals of Arlington Heights for 25 years. He was once alderman in charge of the police commission. A building constructor and carpenter, he helped build the St. John Church, where he has been a Sunday school teacher, a member of the choir, and Church Council officer.

He is survived by his wife, Lillie; two sons, Vernon of Arlington Heights and Marvin of Columbus, Ohio; four grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Etta Mess of Bensenville; three brothers, Paul of Franklin Park, John of Maple Park, and Edward of Roselle. He was preceded in death by one brother, Otto, and one sister, Mrs. Marie Bohnhorst.

Frank Gofron

Frank Gofron, 48, late of 378 W. Michigan ave., Palatine, died May 28. Services were held in St. Theresa's Church June 1. Interment was in St. Michael's cemetery, Palatine.

Mr. Gofron, who resided in Palatine for the past nine years, was born June 11, 1910. He is survived by his wife, Sophie; two sons, David and Joe; and one sister, Sophie Mika.

Mrs. Frank Naggatz

Helena Wessel Naggatz, 82, a resident of Palatine for 50 years, died May 26 in Thorsen's Nursing Home, Hillcrest rd., Arlington Heights. Services were held May 29 at Tharp's chapel, Rev. Sauer of Immanuel Lutheran church of Palatine officiating. Interment was in Hillside cemetery.

Mrs. Naggatz, wife of the late Frank, was born in Palatine township February 2, 1877. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Arthur Nebel of Chicago; Mrs. George Armstrong of Arlington Heights; and Mrs. Ernie Heiden of Des Plaines; two sons, William of Palatine; and Arthur of Chicago; four grandchildren, three great grand-children, and a brother, Henry Wessel of Palatine.

Louisa Matthews

Louisa Matthews, 98, late of the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged, died in Chicago May 31. Services were held at the Lutheran Home June 3. Interment was at Forest Home cemetery.

Miss Matthews was one of nine residents of 90 years or older at the Lutheran Home. She had been a resident there for more than 10 years. She was born September 19, 1860, in Elmhurst. Two brothers, William and Henry of Oak Park, survive.

Peter G. Emmerick

Peter G. Emmerick, 82, late of 19 S. State, Arlington Heights, died June 1 in Chicago. Mass was said at St. Mary's Church, Buffalo Grove, Wednesday, June 3. Interment was at St. Mary's cemetery, Buffalo Grove.

Mr. Emmerick, whose family has resided in this area for about 50 years, is survived by three nieces, Louise Emmerick and Marie Weidner of Buffalo Grove; Rose Miller of Arlington Heights; and four nephews, Lee and Raymond of Wisconsin; Joseph of Buffalo Grove; and Robert of Chicago.

Lowell A. Berg

Lowell A. Berg, 55, late of 104 S. George, Mt. Prospect, died May 31 at Resurrection hospital in Chicago. Services were held at St. Mary's Lutheran church June 3, the Rev. H. J. Rasmussen officiating. Interment was at Memory Gardens.

Mr. Berg had been an accountant for Consumer company for 33 years. He was choir director of St. Mark's Lutheran church and a member of the Gregg Male Chorus. He is survived by his wife, Agnes; a son, Rogert L.; a daughter, Doreen; his father, Olaf A. of Chicago; a brother, Rodney M. of Chicago; and a sister, Phyliss Pierson of Chicago.

Peskin Forecasts New, Higher Taxes

by BERNARD M. PESKIN

The cost of operating our state government for the next two years is going to be something like $100 million more than for the past biennium. This means only one thing as far as you are concerned and that is new or higher taxes.

Of course, with an increase in the support level of state aid to schools, your real estate tax bill will be somewhat less for school purposes — perhaps you might even wind up actually paying less in the total amount of taxes that you pay. But someone is going to pay more.

THE PTA groups, the educational groups, and the League of Women Voters, all write their legislators to vote for increased school aid. Citizens throughout the state demand more in services from almost every branch of our state government. And once in a great while, we get letters from people in our district, such as one I received last week, where the writer indicates that he is willing to pay higher taxes in return for these increased services. I assure you, however, that this person is a rare one.

In the same mail last week I received many letters from businessmen urging me to vote against House Bill 148 which would raise corporate franchise taxes and from others asking me to help defeat House Bill 1118 which would raise taxes on insurance companies — together, these two taxes are expected to bring in about $114 million as an alternate to Governor Stratton's request for a ½ cent Sales Tax increase and increased cigarette and liquor taxes, which are expected to bring in $100 million. I get letters asking me to vote against increasing those taxes too.

Now, I try to answer every letter I get. It may take a while, but I'll answer it just as soon as I can. I file these letters I receive according to subject matter, and keep an alphabetical card index, by name, of the people who write me. I do this because after the legislature adjourns on June 30, I won't have this newspaper as a forum to express my views and keep you informed on things, and I hope to mail out a newsletter every so often. In filing a letter from one businessman the other day, I happened to glance at another letter in the file — it turned out to be from his wife.

IN HER LETTER she not only asked me to support House Bill 121, the school aid bill, but also asked me to support an amendment to raise the support level to $262 per child. I had answered her letter, telling her that I intend to. It's no secret that every Democrat in the House is going to vote for the raise to $262. There was another part of her letter, however, that I did not commit myself on — she asked me to vote against an increase in the sales tax. I refused to say I would, because if we pass House Bill 121, I might have to vote for the sales tax, much as I dislike the thought of doing so.

We cannot vote to spend more money without voting the taxes to raise the necessary funds!

The only alternative to the sales tax is an increased tax on corporations and insurance companies. If these fail to pass, then there is no alternative and we'll have to raise the sales tax.

I did a double take when I saw the wife's letter in my file, and you probably know by now, just why. Yes — her husband protested the proposed raise in the tax on corporations.

IT'S FUNNY, and yet its pathetic, that things such as this should happen. I understand that almost everyone in the House has undergone a similar experience, and I'm grateful that I'm not alone. I'm also grateful that I took the advice Rep. Paul Simon gave me early in the session:

"Don't ignore the letters from the voters in your district. Most of them make good sense and they'll help you to reason things out for yourself. But for goodness sake, don't use those letters as a crutch. You're going to have to make up your own mind on most of the important matters you vote on, and sometimes your decision will be contrary to the way your mail is running. You can determine for yourself how good or how bad a legislator you were, at the end of the session, by counting the number of times you voted against your conscience because your mail was against it — and by counting the number of times you did what you honestly felt was right. The prime requisite of a good legislator is — guts."

I'm keeping score as we go along, and I'll let you know after June 30 how it comes out. That is, if I'm still ahead.

The Mailman's Corner

Peace Struggle Depends on Men

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

We always think of Memorial day as a day set aside to remember and honor our departed ones, and especially those who fought and died on fields of battle for the sake of freedom. Perhaps it would be well to remember on that day also, the cause of all of the carnage, heartache, brutality and death which comes inevitably with war.

For it is not enough to remember that a loved one died on the field of battle; we should also highly resolve that they shall not have died in vain.

IF THE cause of war is greed, hatred and lust for power and wealth, then it follows that peace comes when greed, hatred and lust for power is destroyed; and they can be destroyed only in one place — in the heart of mankind. The real battlefield upon which we must pit our skill and our abilities, our thoughts and deep desire for peace against the power of evil is within ourselves. The true weapons for a war to end all wars are not guns and tanks and man against guns and tanks and men, but the use of our spiritual powers against the evil posers which possess us.

Much of the world's trouble is caused by hunger. Compared to the American standard of living, that of Asia, China and Africa is woefully inadequate; but if we in American were to give all of our food and clothing and wealth to those who have little, there would still be a low standard of living in those areas; there would still be starvation, disease and death. What we can give that will really help is the know how of production, which is mostly what they need. Somehow, we must push through the greed and politics and distrust which have prevented our efforts from succeeding well so far, and which is as much a hindrance here at home as in Africa and Asia, and see that these underprivileged peoples learn to utilize their wealth of natural resources, whatever they may be, to the fullest extent.

TO REPEAT, the struggle to end war can not be won, except on the battlefield of men's hearts. That was the sermon lesson that Jesus taught continually: "Seek ye first the kingdom of righteousness . . ." "Ye must be born again . . ." "Love your enemies, do good to them that despitefully use you . . ." "To them that asketh, turn ye not away . . ."

Artist to Show Infant Portraits

A 27-year-old Arlington Heights artist will exhibit original charcoal portraits in the third annual northwest suburban art show June 11 to 13.

Carl Couve, 1509 N. Chicago ave., specializes in the portraits which are adapted from any size photographs. Although he does adults as well as children, the greatest demand has been for infants and young children.

Examples of his portraits will be exhibited at the art show in Arlington Market shopping center, Foundry rd. and Dryden st.

THE PORTRAITS, as well as personalized greeting cards and general art work, are done on a free-lance basis. He is employed as a designer and commercial artist for the John Baumgarth Calendar co., Melrose Park.

Born and raised in Park Ridge, Couve was graduated from Maine Township high school, where he won Scholastic magazine's Gold Key award for ceramic art.

At Grinnell college, he studied oil painting, silk screening, general design and commercial art, earning the A.B. degree in fine arts. Among collegiate honors were the Inez Henely memorial prize for a water color in 1953 and the Henry York Steiner crafts award in 1954 for a silk screen. Member of Sigma Delta Chi journalism fraternity, he was art editor of the college newspaper four years, business manager one year, and art editor of the yearbook for two years. He also painted murals depicting college social life on the walls of the school's student union.

AFTER HIS graduation from Grinnell in 1954, he went to work as a commercial artist for the Oscar Meyer co., where he did general production work, label design, and newspaper advertising.

Couve entered the air force as a jet pilot and radar instructor in 1955, and was discharged as a first lieutenant in 1958. During his term of service, he designed safety posters, did cartooning for flight class yearbook, and designed squadron emblems at Tyndall Air Force base radar school in addition to his regular duties.

He and his wife, Barbara, moved to Arlington Heights in April, 1958. They have a daughter, Peggy Lynn, 2.

COUVE IS opposed to extremes in art.

Discussing the popular trend toward extreme abstraction in painting, he declares "Art should be expressive yet recognizable. It can have free form to avoid a stiff, photographic style. But I'm opposed to a modern art which doesn't depict anything or say anything. Art should fulfill a purpose other than just serving as globs of paint, as basic design or color composition. So-called modern art in many cases has been carried to an extreme and is nothing more than monkey scrawls."

The modern extreme which Couve dislikes is represented by Miro, the other extreme by Norman Rockwell.

The happy medium?

"Japanese brush paintings are a good example of free style in art, and I think Toulouse-Lautrec is also representative of the middle ground I favor."

What of art appreciation in the suburbs?

"I've been impressed recently with suburban art exhibits, and I think people will be pleasantly surprised at the quality of work in this show June 11," said Couve. "These suburban exhibits are attracting a higher quality of work and becoming more professional all the time."

CHARCOAL PORTRAITS of infants and children as well as adults are in great demand, according to Carl Couve, 27-year-old Arlington Heights artist who does the portraits on a free-lance basis. He adapts the portraits from photographs of the subject. Couve is shown with some of the portraits he will exhibit in the third annual northwest suburban art show June 11-13.

Bicycles Not Toys, Essential in Europe

by BILL DILLINGHAM

Bicycles are not toys in Europe. While in America these vehicles are considered mere playthings, in Europe ministers of state and high officials of armies use them for daily transportation.

It is not unusual to see men and women in their sixties and early seventies cycling along in Holland, France and other countries. It is also not unusual to see a cyclist getting a "ticket" or a reprimand from a police officer for some traffic violation. Hand signals for turning, some kind of a light for the dark hours plus a bell or horn are all necessary to be within the law.

Being such an important part of European life, very many laws cover bicycling. There must never be two persons on a single cycle. Riding or coasting along with one's feet not on the pedals is illegal—one has to be ready at all times with the brakes. Riding without holding onto the handlebars is illegal.

IF A DANISH policeman comes upon a parked bicycle that has no bell or other such signalling device, he is within his rights to take the bicycle to the police station. Furthermore, he does just that. Riding on a sidewalk would bring a severe fine.

With the exception of Germany's Autobahn and Italy's Autostrada, cyclists have just as much right to the nation's highways as do motorists. In the event of a collision, the man in the car is almost automatically considered guilty until proven innocent. And if the accident occurs in a land having socialized medicine, the cyclist is usually deemed innocent because the State doesn't want to pay his hospital bills when the motorist has compulsory insurance.

Throughout Europe there are many more policemen making their rounds on bicycles than in automobiles. One man's toy seems to be another man's limousine. (B8

Slate Appeal For Catholic Seminaries

A special collection for expansion of seminary facilities will be conducted in local Catholic parish churches next Sunday, June 7. It will be the first step in a long-range fund-raising effort announced recently by Archbishop Albert G. Meyer.

According to Very Rev. Msgr. Martin M. Howard, rector of Quigley Preparation Seminary, 103 E. Chestnut st., Chicago, the drive is made necessary by the need to train more priests to serve the rapidly growing Catholic population of Cook and Lake counties and by the sharply increasing number of potential candidates for the priesthood.

HE SAID THAT Quigley, where boys undergo the first five years of their seminary training, is already overcrowded, despite the fact that the Archdiocese three years ago leased an abandoned public school at 20 W. Pearson st. to handle the overflow. Ultimately, increased seminary enrollments will require expansion of St. Mary of the Lake Seminary, Mundelein, where candidates for the priesthood receive the last seven years of their training.

Quigley's enrollment now stands at 1,326, having doubled in the last seven years.

'Budget Bloc' Faces Stiff Opposition to Economy

by REP. PAUL SIMON

For the first time in my three terms in the state legislature, the House voted to cut a budgeted appropriation — but further moves to cut the budget can easily collapse unless there is considerably more public support.

The actual reduction was small, $12,500. In a budget of $2.7 billion that is almost nothing.

But the significant thing is that it happened. And if it can happen on a small amount it can happen on large amounts.

I THINK I should point out that those of us advocating budget cuts feel that the schools and mental hospitals should receive adequate funds, but the many frills which can be found in other portions of the budget should be cut.

Those of us attempting to do this have been called by some newspapers "the economy bloc." This is a group of legislators from both the Republican and Democratic parties. We do not feel this should be a partisan thing. But in the first phase of this struggle we faced the opposition of most of the party leadership on both sides; that means we face a real up-hill battle.

The $12,500 reduction was introduced by Rep. G. William Horsley, Republican of Springfield. The only one of the five party leaders of either party to support his motion was Rep. William Clark, Democrat of Chicago.

I SHOULD add here that those opposing economy moves are just as sincere as those of us supporting them. Party leaders who support the proposed appropriations maintain that we must provide government with adequate funds. We agree on that. The disagreement comes on what is "adequate."

If by going over appropriations carefully we could reduce them by only one per cent and I think a greater saving could be made), that would mean a saving of $27 million. That is no small item.

But the shock of losing this battle for the $12,500 was felt quickly. Their one-time loss-and the public's gain — will have many officials much more aggressively contacting legislators in behalf of full appropriations.

That means the future of further cuts is not bright.

OFFICIALS who contact legislators are not only personal friends of the legislator, but in many cases they have powerful political friends in the lawmaker's home district; and in some cases it is the simple, crude matter of using the club of patronage to get a vote. That is done by offering job openings to friends a legislator might name or by a threat to fire an employee from his home district if the legislator doesn't vote "right."

The only thing that can overcome all of this is deep personal conviction on this matter by a legislator or a great deal of mail from the people at home.

At this stage, whether appropriations are cut is largely in the hands of people like you who are reading this. If you come through with some mail, I think there will be more cuts.

If not, you had better start digging more deeply into your pocket. (B13

Guiding American Tourists Popular

by BILL DILLINGHAM

A new profession has sprung up in Europe: the guiding of American tourists.

It has been discovered that being an ordinary guide is not enough when dealing with Americans. Special abilities are rerequired. The American mentality is different from all others, travel agents claim, and must be catered to in an unusual manner.

For example, the guide in charge of a group of Americans must treat waiters, ticket takers and other local personnel with a certain democratic respect. If not, he is liable to offend the Americans for whom he works.

This is the exact opposite to what would be exptected of a guide by many foreign tourist groups. If a bus driver were treated with a respect equal to that of the other group members, they might interpret this as a lowering of their prestige and so take deep offense. In Europe, everyone has his station.

LANGUAGE, too, is studied closely. There are words which when incorrectly translated become impolite. (There are a few words quite proper in "American" that have different and embarrassing meanings in English).

Travel agents claim that the most important quality a guide must have in dealing with Americans is a vast fund of general information on tap. Then comes mental alertness.

It has been shown that the usual guide, used to phonograph-like repetitions, is routed when asked something out of the ordinary or not in the guide book. And no nationality is so liable to spring unthought-of questions as are Americans, agents lament.

It is on the basis of many such points that this new "profession" has come into existence.

Plastic Bags For Clothes; Not Children

Thin plastic such as the bag your drycleaner returns your clothes in has many uses, but it should not be used as a child's plaything or as a cover for baby's crib, the National Institute of Drycleaning warns parents.

In a special notice from its headquarters in Silver Spring, Maryland, to its 8600 members all over the world, the Institute has alerted drycleaners to an Arizona physician's report that in six months four Phoenix children had suffocated after becoming enveloped in the clinging plastic film. It is believed static electricity may have drawn the film across the children's faces preventing their breathing. One Phoenix victim was four years old, the other two.

George P. Fulton, Institute General Manager, has urged drycleaners to warn their customers against giving plastic bags to children as toys. The National Safety Council, the American Medical Association, and various state medical societies are also alerting the public to the hazard.

"Used properly," says the Institute statement, "the plastic bags are perfectly safe." They are popular, and customers have found many uses for them. Hundreds of millions of the bags have been distributed by drycleaners and others since plastic became so popular five years ago, the statement points out. It adds this does not lessen the need to warn parents to treat the bags with as much caution as they do "headache pills, matches, sleeping tablets, insecticides, sharp tools, and toxic and flammable fluids," keep ing them out of the reach of small children.

Lice Louse Up Autos With Goo

Suburbanites who park their automobiles under trees are coming out to find them covered with goo.

Many motorists think this goo is drippings from the trees. It is not; it is drippings from millions of lice, living in the trees.

The louse's real name is aphid, a tiny sap-sucker almost too small to see. It secrets the goo, known as "honey dew," as it feeds on leaves and branches, and then dribbles it in droplets.

WHILE DISTASTEFUL to the automobile owner, who has to work extra hard to wash this stucky stuff of his car, ants love it.

Ants like "honey dew," so much so, that they sometimes domesticate aphids and milk them, as man domesticates cows. Aphids, therefore, are often called "ant cows."

The drippings are hard on the finish of autos, and should be washed off as frequently as possible. (B8

DID YOU KNOW THAT...

No one knows better than you how much the price of the goods you buy every day has gone up. But, did you know that today's gasoline cost is only slightly higher than 1925 prices? (Taxes, of course, are higher.) On the other hand, gasoline is so improved in quality that 2 gallons today do the work 3 did in 1925.

That's just one reason why all of us in America's competitive oil business take pride in the progress of our industry and in the part we play to make this progress possible.

Grandfather Clock Chimes in Births

A grandfather clock somewhere struck 2 o'clock in the morning and the squeal of a newborn baby was heard in the Resurrection hospital as an Arlington Heights mom gave birth to her fifth child.

The sound of his squeals had barely finished echoing before the grandfather clock began making sounds again a scant three hours later, when the villager's sister had given birth to another baby in the same hospital.

In both cases, Harry J. Keating of Chicago, who that day, May 16, had celebrated his 63rd birthday, became a grandfather.

MRS. THOMAS MERTES, 407 N. Wilshire, Arlington Heights, became the mother of Gregory John, weighing 9 pounds 4½ ounces.

Gregory John, not only became a new grandson to proud grandad Keating. He became the brother of Kathleen, 8½; Mary Susan,6; Mark,2½, and Annette, 16 months.

And to further cement world relationships, Greg acquired a cousin only 180 minutes later when Christine Terese, weighing 7 pounds 8 ounces was born to Mrs. Mertes' sister, Mrs. William Galliani, of Chicago. Christine's sister, Susan, 2, made little Greg a cousin twice.

A grandpa twice on his 63rd birthday, Mr. Keating made haste to call his own father, who was 94 and living in Cincinnati, Ohio to tell him he was a great-grandfather.

What does a newly-created (twice) grandfather talk about for 40 minutes to his Cincinnati dad, in between blowing proud wreaths of tobacco smoke into the phone

What with the acquistion of nephews, nieces, grandfathers and great-grandfathers, the hospital was in an uproad of excitement.

From Arlington Heights to Chicago to Cincinnati, the phones hummed as two little innocent babes arrived.

And (who knows), when the grandfather clock strikes again, what voice can foretell that the clock does not toll for you? AF)

Trustees Reverse Apartment Stand

A split Arlington Heights village board defied threats of a law suit Monday night in rejecting plans for a 114-unit apartment project, the largest ever contemplated for the village.

By a four to two vote the board refused to rezone 5.6 acres between Euclid ave. and the North Western railroad tracks from single-family to multiple-family dwelling use, thus taking out of the board's hands one of the village's longest and bitterest rezoning battles.

Stunned by the board's decision, J. P. DeLaney, attorney for the petitioner, Arthur R. Thiersch, 1018 N. Evergreen, futilely sought a reconsideration by the board before telling members that, "This is going through one way or another." DeLaney previously indicated he would seek rezoning through court action should the petition be rejected.

Stunned also were Arlingdale homeowners as they jubilantly saw what appeared to be a lost cause suddenly reverse itself in their favor.

MAKING A WEEKLY pilgrimage to village board meetings over a period of months, Arlingdale homeowners saw the board last month authorize its attorney to draw up an ordinance rezoning the property in question to multiple-family dwelling use leaving the number of units to be erected upon the site blank.

In the interim homeowners and Thiersch were unable to reach a compromise on the number of proposed units, with Thiersch holding out for the village planning commission's recommendation of 114 units.

Arlingdale homeowners argued that such a large number of units would tax the area's municipal facilities, devaluate their property, and make the area unfit for single-family dwellings.

Village board members, however, appeared to be heading toward the planning commission's recommendation and that of the Northwest Realty board that the best use for the property in question is for multiple-family dwellings. That is until new board members took office and, with the vote of Wendell Prunty, old board member, voted to reject the petition. Voting for approval of the petition were Bob Bukowski and Melvin Kurtz.

Masonic Lodge Issue Revived

The question of extending a building permit for the erection of a Masonic Lodge adjacent to Stonegate, an Arlington Heights subdivision, was reopened Monday night when the village board reversed itself.

By a four to two vote board members moved to consider at their next meeting, scheduled for June 15, the application of the Century club for a year's extension of an already granted building permit. Parties opposing extension of the permit will be given an opportunity to be heard.

Originally issued in April, 1957, the permit involved both the village and the Century club in a law suit, with an abutting property owner to the proposed building as plaintiff.

THE LEGALITY of the building permit, still under consideration by a master-in-chancery, has yet to be determined. The orginal permit was extended for a year in 1958.

Last week the village board granted a request by the Plaintiff's attorney that an extension of the permit be denied on grounds that a village ordinance provided only for a six month extension.

Trustee Wendell Prunty, absent at last week's meeting, argued that it was unfair to penalize the Century club for pending litigation that prohibited them from using their permit. Trustees Schlickman, Wit, and Bukowski agreed, and moved with Prunty to reconsider the matter. (AF

Virginia Terrace News

New residents ni the Terrace are 1st Lt. Charles Dillman and his wife, Martha, and family, which includes Craig 3, and 7-week-old Shane. They moved to 1256 N. Chicago about a week ago after arriving here, from Philadelphia. The army transferred them to the nearby Nike base.

Memorial day was spent quietly by most residents of the Terrace. Among those who chose a family picnic as a means of relaxation were Dorothy and Charles Catlin, 1609 W. Olive, and their children, Virginia May and Susan.

"Holiday U.S.A.," a combination luncheon-fashion show, sponsored by the Northwest Community hospital auxiliary, held last Thursday afternoon at Tam-O-Shanter country club, was a tremendous success according to Pauline Noerenberg, who attended with Maisie Sikorske, Isabel Nottoli and Dorothy Ballard.

Mary and George Maybee, 1251 N. Wilke, entertained this past weekend at a family barbecue picnic with George's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Johnson, Zion, and his brother and family, Angie and Harold Maybee, Wheeling, and Jeff and David.

BECAUSE OF the holiday weekend, Kenny, son of Joan and Kenneth Herrmann, 1443 N. Race celebrated his fourth birthday a day early. An afternoon party was held last Thursday. Measles prevented Skipper and Janet Fluehrer from attending, but enjoying games, ice cream and cake were Andy and Jenny Staubitz, Marilyn and Darlene Donath, Scotty Martin and Kenny's brother and sister, Robert and Lori. Friday evening, after a family dinner party, the Herrmanns took the children to Kiddieland as a part of the birthday celebration.

Sunday they entertained the family at a combination birthday-barbecue picnic, which Kenny's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Herrmann, Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Johnson, Palatine, and aunt, uncle and cousin, Marilyn and Bill Owen, and daughter, Carol Jean, attended.

Scott, son of Marion and Edward Nielsen, 1252 N. Illinois, entertained a few friends after school last Friday in celebration of his seventh birthday. Among those enjoying cupcakes, ice cream and other treats were Craig Gardner, John and Robert Blomquist and several neighborhood playmates. Saturday the Nielsens entertained the family, at a combination birthday party-barbecue picnic.

OTHERS taking advantage of the holiday weekend to entertain their families were Shirlee and Frank Pircher, 1330 N. Illinois, who enjoyed having both sets of parents out last Sunday, as well as Frank's brother and family from Racine. Again, a double celebration was in order, and a birthday cake was present for Frank's brother and his wife. The Pircher children, Frank, Steve and Mike also enjoyed the visit.

Having Ted reach another milestone, in short, being one year older, gave Marcy an opportunity to celebrate with a combination birthday party-steak fry Saturday evening at the Micek home, 1325 N. Chicago. Those enjoying themselves at the late dinner, without children, followed by an evening of games and dancing, were Mag and Martin Corley, Donna and Jack Garland, Mary and Paul Kale and Peg and George Dye.

Others not depending on the weather last Saturday were Olive and Bill Balow, 1424 N. Illinois, who concluded an afternoon visit from Bill's father, William Balow, Olive's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Lackie, Evanston, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Brundage, Chicago, and Miss Margaret Rossle, Chicago, with a picnic-style supper indoors.

Sandy and Bruce Mullins, 1415 N. Illinois, and children, Michael and Kevin, enjoyed a holiday weekend visit from Bruce's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Mullins, Quincy. They, too, had a family barbecue party.

Scott, son of Cathy and Bill Gunnison, 1407 Clarendon, graduated last Friday from kindergarten to first grade at a program presented at St. Peter Lutheran church. Among those congratulating him were his brothers, Bobby and Mark.

A BARBECUE picnic was enjoyed over the weekend by the Gunnisons and Polly and George Herbert, 1227 N. Chicago, and their children, George, Sue Anne and Mike, at the latter's home.

Getting together and sharing a potluck barbecue picnic last Sunday at the home of Jerri and Bill Rix, 1244 N. Chicago, were Betty and Bob Gumz and children, Jimmy and Roger, Dee and Al Perry, as well as Joey and Susan, and Jeanette Westmark and children, Judy, Patty, Cheryl Ann, Bobby, Kathy and Gary. Jill and David Rix helped their parents play host to the lively group.

Last Friday the birthday of Arnold Silver, 1247 N. Chicago, was celebrated with a family dinner party. Included were Doris, Leslie, Henry and Doris' mother, Mrs. Laura Belle Wolf. Later in the evening, Hal and Herb Trowe joined them for ice cream, cake and coffee.

Sunday the Silvers and Mrs. Wolf drove to Grayslake, where they enjoyed dinner at the Country Squire restaurant, in celebration of Arnold's birthday and their anniversary, which was Monday.

A family dinner party at the home of Juanita and John Baker, 1426 N. Race, was held in honor of the third birthday of their daughter, Kathy. Also in on the festivities were her sisters, Christine and Sally, and brother, Steven.

Friends of Gianna Riefstahl, 1224 N. Race, will be sorry to learn that she entered St. Joseph hospital, Chicago, Tuesday in preparation of major surgery Wednesday. During her hospital stay, Linda, Jan and Robert will be taken care of by her sister, Mrs. Lillian DePalma.

FEELING THAT the weather couldn't be any worse in Milwaukee than in Arlington Heights, Jo and Les Rozdalovsky, 1321 N. Race, and daughters, Shirley and Mary Jo, spent the weekend with Jo's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph LaPresti. They also visited Jo's brother and family and saw the Memorial day parade.

A long memorial day weekend gave Mary Lou and Ray Crouch, 1228 N. Chicago, and daughter, Mariann, time to have a 4-day visit with Ray's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Crouch, Indianapolis.

Sunday the Ray Kunstman family, 1309 N. Chicago, decided to launch their boat, family style, at Edgerton, Wis. The initial trip took them over Koshkamon lake and the Rock river areas. The day was concluded with a picnic supper on board.

Mrs. Agnes Garvey, Dubuque, arrived at the Robert Westmark home, 1252 N. Chicago, to visit and care for her six great grandchildren while Jeanette was off for a few days of combined business and pleasure with Bob in New York. Their main task will be that of finding a new home before their departure from the Terrace sometime this month. (A

Economic Problems Plague Relations of U.S.-Canada

Thirty-five hundred miles of unguarded borders, but plenty of economic problems, that's the situation between Canada and the United States, according to H. M. Tobin, Consulate General of the Canadian Immigration service in Chicago, in a talk Thursday before Arlington Heights Rotary club at Gunnell's.

"The inbalance of trade, with Canadians buying $4 billion from the U. S. while Americans purchase $3 billion from Canada is a major problem," said Tobin. "Better selling without tariffs by either country will be a big help. Another sore spot is. American control of Canadian industry, but placement of Canadians on the boards of directors of American branch plants is helping dissolve this friction."

"AMERICA'S surplus farm products is a tough nut to crack but tremendous strides are being made by the joint committee on trade and economic affairs in this field," continued the consulate general. Coordinated air defense has been working beautifully, but has brought the desire of Canadian industrialists to share in the manufacture of equipment being used.

"Then, too, there is the new state of Alaska with necessary improvement of roads through Canada. Foreign trade represents 25 per cent of Canadian economic health, just four per cent of that of the U. S., a good example of why Canadian interests are parallel to what happens within your country," stated Tobin.

IMMIGRATION service office in Chicago, one of two in this country, is pursuing its mission of attracting small businessmen from the U. S. to Canada, urging them to pursue their livelihood in a country where most of the people live in an area not much colder than Milwaukee.

Tobin's office offers complete research service to anyone wishing to open a business in the northern country. He had a chance to view an example of American industry in action when he accompanied Rotarians in a quick view of the IBM large scale 705 electirc computer in action at the Pure Oil office in Chicago. Northwest Suburbs Avoid Any Holiday Auto Deaths

Northwest suburban area motorists didn't contribute anything to the Memorial Day weekend's record death toll, with a drowning the only tragedy which marred the three-day holiday, according to District 3 state police files.

Drowned in a lagoon near the Tri-State Toll Road, located off Illinois 68 and Sanders rd. in Northfield township was Harold G. Clavey, 23, of 608 Sanders rd., Northfield township.

A CORONER'S jury returned a verdict of accidental death in the mishap which occurred Friday, May 29. According to State Police Sgt. John Peters of Palatine, Clavey attempted to change seats in a kayak-type canoe with Hugh McKinnon, 21, of 803 Greenwood st., Glenview, tipping the boat over.

McKinnon swam to safety, but Clavey, who could not swim, drowned, Peters said. The body was recovered by a skindiver some six hours later, he added.

On the highways police reported the following mishaps for the past week:

May 31: Cited for driving too fast for conditions was Carmin A. Menna, 16, of 17 W. 335 Crest ave., Bensenville, after he failed to negotiate a curve going west on Arlington Heights State rd. a mile south of Illinois 72, and hit a car parked by a guard rail on the south side of State rd.

Owner of the other car, Clifford Van Natta, 17, of 320 N. Elm st., Itasca, was also cited by police for having no automobile registration. Damage to the cars was estimated to be around $100; police estimated damage to the guard rail at about $300.

MAY 30: ISSUED a traffic citation for driving too fast for conditions was Eleanor M. Kelly, 41, of 362 Oxford rd., Des Plaines, after she was unable to stop for a stop light at the intersection of Illinois 72 and Wolf rd., running into the signal and causing $500 damage.

On the same date: Otto Meyer, 53, of 6 N. Gorden st., Roselle, was cited for going too fast for conditions after he ran his truck into the rear of a car stopped for a stop sign at the intersection of Illinois 62 and Barrington rd. Police said he was headed east on Illinois 62. The other car was driven by Victoria Mary Kurtyka, 41, of 5106 Grover st., Chicago. Damage to both vehicles was set at $450.

Also on May 30, Clarence A. Olsen, 65, of 43337½ N. Richmond st., Chicago, was cited for following too closely after he ran into a car in front of him on Illinois 72 near Sell st., ramming the second vehicle into a third car.

The two other cars were driven by Charles Eining, 38, of 32 Woodcrest lane, Elk Grove Village, and Ralph A. Butler, 37, of 7640 W. Clarence ave., Chicago. Damage was set at $550.

MAY 29: Cited for disobeying a traffic signal was John C. Howard, 27, of O'Hare Field, after he ran a light at the intersection of Illinois 83 and Oakton st. Police said that Howard, headed north, tried to run the light, then slammed on his brakes, skidding to a car headed in the opposite direction waiting for the stop light.

The other car was driven by Peter E. Ventrelli, 38, of 210 Dicken st., Northlake. Damage was estimated to be $750.

May 27: Three persons were taken to Sherman hospital in Elgin for treatment following an accident at the intersection of Illinois 58 and Roselle rd., three-quarters of a mile east of Illinois 72.

Patricia F. Donásh, 19, of 5629 Ozark st., Chicago, one of the injured, was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way after she pulled into Roselle rd. from a service station and collided with a car driven by Marie K. Young, 28, of R.R. 2, Box 36, Palatine.

Police said that the Young car was proceeding west on Illinois 58. The Young woman and Judy Metza, 19, of 5950 N. Virginia st., Chicago, were also taken to Sherman hospital by Hoffman Estates fire department. Damage to the two autos was estimated to be $1,400.

May 26: In a mishap at Illinois 62 a half-mile east of Wilke rd., police cited Edward J. Sramek, 54, of 3305 Meadow dr., Rolling Meadows, for failure to drive on the right side of the road after he crossed the center lane going west on Illinois 62, hitting a car approaching from the other direction driven by James E. Lorden, 26, of 2100 Jay lane, Rolling Meadows. Damage was set at $225.

On the same date: cited for going too fast for conditions was Robert W. Ingram, 27, of 3725 N. Tripp, Chicago, who ran into the rear of a car driven by Edward E. Boettger, 18, of 1505 W. Vine st., Arlington Heights. The cars were proceeding northwest on Illinois 72, half-a-mile east of River rd. Damage was set at $250. (B-8

Along the Camp Fire Trail

by Dorothy Schomburg — CLearbrook 3-7017

June 6-7 and June 20-21 have been set aside as work weekends at Camp Tiyalaka. Anyone who has not been to the Chicago Area Council's lovely camp site at Westfield, Wis., will welcome this opportunity to see the Camp Fire Girls resident camp and to share in the fun and work that is to be accomplished.

Volunteer workers are asked to bring their own bedding, warm sleeping wear, flashlights, work gloves and any tools that might be useful in camp beautification, repair or construction work. Work clothes, comfortable shoes and warm jackets are the necessary clothing requisites. Potluck dishes are brought from home and the remainder of the food is purchased locally and the cost divided equally among those attending.

A steak fry is planned for Saturday evening around the open fireplace outside the Blue Bird Lodge. This is one of the outstanding features of the weekend, and those who have attended look forward to the fellowship around the fire.

It is most important that the camping chairmen know as soon as possible how many parents and friends will be able to attend the two work weekends. Mrs. M. R. Kephart, Arlington Heights camping chairman, may be reached at CL 3-9374, while Mt. Prospect camping chairman, Mrs. H. Busse, will receive calls at CL 3-5119.

Camp Tiyalaka opens June 27. A helping hand will make Tiyalaka ready for a fun-filled summer for Blue Birds and Camp Fire Girls.

A two session orientation course for new Camp Fire and Blue Bird leaders will be held at the Chicago Area Council office, 203 N. Wabash ave., Thursday, June 4, and June 11 from 9:30 to 11:45 a.m. This will be extremely helpful for all who wish to know more about the Camp Fire program. District field directors or training chairmen should be contacted for further information.

Riverview Day—10 X Ital

Saturday, June 6, is Camp Fire Girls day at Riverview Park. Admission tickets are in the hands of group leaders and will be distributed to Blue Birds and Camp Fire Girls at no cost. This is a means of raising money at the area level. Any one may use them. Each ticket entitles the bearer to four free rides, and may be used on the above date only, between the hours of 11:30 and 5 p.m.

All groups which planted trees are urged to continue caring for them. Other groups which were unable to participate in planting, but would like to help care for them, should contact the Arbor day chairmen in their respective area for information.

The second grade Merry Maids Blue Bird group entertained 21 first graders at St. Paul school May 25. The guests experienced a typical Blue Bird meeting, learned a new song and made corsages for their mothers during a handicraft session. The girls enjoyed refreshments of pop and cookies and closed their meeting with the friendship circle and Blue Bird wish.

Valerie Bodenstab, Jane Denne, Lynn Hedke and Wendy Jaacks gave name tags to the first graders. Ellyn Seeman took the attendance and dues. JoAnne Hedke, Debra Robey, Jean Schroeder, Cecilia Watts and Kathy Weigt served refreshments. Each Merry Maid took part in the handicraft display. Mrs. Robey and Mrs. Weigt helped the leaders at this meeting.

At their May 8 meeting, the girls went to Lions park to see the trees they had planted Arbor day. The last meeting was a wienie roast June 1. Names and addresses of each girl in the group were given out and as the girls go on vacations they are expected to send each Merry Maid a card. Mrs. Elmer Hedke and Mrs. Henry Schroeder are co-leaders of this group.

Wayakita Camp Fire Girls spent the past two meetings in making day camp momentos for the June 15-18 4-day summer camping program at Busse woods. The momento, made of felt, features a beige map of Illinois with a green tree for the out of doors and a red music note for happiness. It stands for Le-Wa-Ga-Tee "Listening as the wind sighs through the trees," and is a remembrance of happy times at day camp.

As a special treat for their fathers, the Wayakitas held a barbecue supper for their dads May 27. The girls and their dads brought their own meat to grill and the group treasury stood the expense for the remainder of the chuck-wagon fare.

Merry Blue Bird "Fly-ups" took a new name and elected officers at their first meeting as a Camp Fire group on Tuesday, May 19. The 17 girls decided on the Indian name of Okiciyapi meaning "to help each other." Election of officers resulted in the following elected slate: Joy Hruska, president; Kathy Lynch, vice president; Jo Ellen Ottengheime, secretary; Linda Genevich, treasurer; Candy Ormsbee, scribe and Rose Marie Kelly, attendance secretary.

In addition to the above girls, the following girls took part in the "fly-up" ceremony of the grand council fire May 17: Nancy Chlupsa, Linda Crittenden, Linda Lorenz, Bonnie Marks, Sandy Ormsbee, Shirley Owen, Nancy Roth, Paula Schomburg, Diane Sharp and Carol Voelker. Mary Craig was unable to attend the council fire and will receive her certificate and "fly-up" honor at a future meeting. Two other "fly-ups" from the Forest View Blue Birds, Christine Baldassari and Carol Carter will join the new Okiciyapi Camp Fire group as they start their adventures along the Camp Fire trail.

THE MAY 23 outing of the Lelataki Camp Fire Girls was a 3-meal cookout at Deer Grove. The fifth grade girls were accompanied by their guardians, Mrs. John Flodin and Mrs. Nelson and their husbands on the all-day trip to complete one of the requirements of the Wood Gatherers rank.

Another enjoyable get-together occurred when the Lelatakis held a potluck dinner for their moms and dads May 31 at Jeanne Zizlavsky's home.

Firefly Blue Birds held their final meeting of the year May 29 at Busse woods where the girls enjoyed an evening cookout. Presentation of the Golden Jubilee charm was awarded to the girls at a mock council fire at which time Mrs. Mickey White was given the group's volunteer service award of the year. (B9

Executives Celebrate Anniversary

To celebrate the third anniversary of Carson Pirie Scott and company's Edens Plaza, a group of Carson's top level executives gathered at a breakfast in the Edinburgh Clock restaurant last week. The informal family get-together honored the 192 Carson associates. Special tribute was paid to 53 of the associates who have worked in the store since the opening in May, 1956.

Among the guests at the breakfast were Mrs. Irene Foley, 535 W. Euclid, Mrs. Fernell Mesnard, 637 N. Beverly, Mrs. Ruby Humphrey, 417 S. Gibbons and Mrs Patricia Phillipp, 644 N. Salem, all of Arlington Heights.

John T. Pirie, chairman of the board, expressed pride in the associates' teamwork that had resulted in the store's growing success. Mr. Pirie discussed plans for Carson's buyers to study the cultural aspect of each city visited when on foreign buying trips. Carson's plans to bring customers exclusive, quality merchandise from the best of all cultures.

Beta Sigma Phi Holds Officer Installation

Members of Lambda Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held their May 20 meeting in the home of Mrs. Wayne McBride of Palatine. The chapter voted to donate $25 to the Countryside Farm School for Retarded Children, to be used at the discreation of Mrs. Pittenger, director.

Installation of officers was held following the meeting. Mrs. John Dupin is the new president; Mrs. Frank Wiedl, vice president; Mrs. Robert Strama, recording secretary; Mrs. Wayne McBride, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert Winkleman, treasurer.

COMMITTEE chairmen were selected as follows: Mrs. Robert Sheker, ways and means; Mrs. Robert Lamb, program; Mrs. William Valiant, social; Mrs. Frank Wiedl, membership; Mrs. Wayne McBride, publicity; Mrs. Joseph Lazor, service.

An adult barbecue party is being planned by the group for June 27 at the home of Mrs. William Valiant in Prospect Heights. AM PhP

Orthodox Women Elect Officers; Plan Dance

St. John Greek Orthodox womens club met May 27 at the home of Mrs. Nick Samaras, Prospect Heights. The main event of the evening was election of officers for the coming year. Mrs. Gust Aretos, Mt. THE MEMBERS will end their club year meetings by dining at the Evergreen restaurant, Dundee, Friday, June 26, at 8 p.m.

The season has been a very successful one and will end with the annual dinner dance Sunday, July 12, at the Chevy Chase country club, Wheeling. (B9

Sears to Give Scholarships

Sears, Roebuck Company is sponsoring 24 scholarships for freshmen students who will enter the University of Illinois College of Agriculture this fall.

No examination is required for these scholarships, according to C. D. Smith, assitant dean. Instead they are awarded on the basis of financial need, high school scholarship and other records that show promise of superior attainment.

Each scholarship awards about $200 for the freshman year, with the possibility of extension through the sophomore and junior years for outstanding men students. Freshmen receiving these scholarships are eligible to compete for national scholarships. Winner of the top national award receives $1,000. The next three scholarships pay $500 each, and the next four pay $250 each.

OF THE 24 scholarships available to the UI, four are awarded to girls entering home economics.

The deadline for applying for these scholarships is June 1. High school seniors desiring application forms should write to Smith at 104 Mumford Hal, Urbana.

Smith reports that the Sears, Roebuck Company has awarded 20,000 scholarships during past years in the United States. Some 16,000 have gone to boys in agriculture, while about 3,000 have been awarded to home economics majors. The rest have been National Merit scholarships. (Fm

Ward Heads Rex Mays Spectacle

Headed by 500 mile race winner, Rodger Ward, Indianapolis, 13 of the first 15 finishers and 14 of the first 15 cars have signed to come directly from the Indianapolis speedway to compete in the 10th annual Rex Mays 100 mile national championship big car Classic at state fair park, Sunday, June 7. This assured race director Tom Marchese of the strongest field of cars and drivers he has been able to assemble in several years.

In fact, there are so many new cars and drivers entered, Marchese will hold a practice session from one to five p.m., the Saturday before the race. Time trials Sunday will start at 12:30 p.m., with the 20 mile added event for qualifiers slower than 20th, starting at 3 p.m. sharp. The 100 mile race is due to get under way at about 3:30 p.m. (Central Daylight Time).

The entry list looks like a "Who's Who in Auto Racing." Some of the big names are Tony Bettenhausen, Tinley Park, Ill.; Johnny Thomson, Boyertown, Pa.; Jim Rathmann, Miami, Fla.; Dick Rathmann, San Gabriel, Cal.; Johnny Boyd, Fresno, Cal.; Ed Johnson, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, Gene Bartley, Roanoke, Ind.; A. J. Foyt, Houston, Tex.; Chuck Arnold, Stamford, Conn.; and many, many others.

Marchese stated that Saturday's practice session would be free to the public. Sunday morning the ticket offices at state fair park will open at 9 a.m.

Special Events Set For Speedway

Another big show is planned for Sunday at the Waukegan Speedway with track manager Jack Kaishian planning a special series of events involving the "Brothers of the Brush" and the "Centennial Belles."

These are members of Waukegan's 100 year celebration being planned for later in the summer. But the "Brothers" and the "Belles" will all be out at the track Sunday night to put on a show of racing thrills for all the fans.

Milwaukee driver, Bob Ratajczyk, won the 25 lap feature at the Speedway Sunday night, setting a new track record in capturing the event before a new record crowd of 2,750.

RATAJCZYK, WHO started in the rear of the pack, battled it out for the lead with Jim Bates of Palatine until finally catching him on the tenth lap.

Over 60 cars and drivers, another track record, were on hand for the Memorial Day weekend races. Twenty four of these cars started in the 15 lap semi-feature which again saw many cars forced out because of track accidents.

When the toll was counted, there were ten finishers with Jim Dixon of Ingleside the victor followed by Bill Leschuck of Spring Grove. (Sp

Paving Contracts Awarded

Contracts for the resurfacing of portions of Arlington Heights' Euclid ave. and Foundry rd. were awarded this week by the county board.

Plans call for the improvement of Euclid for a two mile stretch between Douglas ave. and Elmhurst rd. The contract went to the Rock Road Construction co. of Chicago for $56,689.

FOUNDRY RD. is slated for four miles of improvement between the Northwest hwy. and the Des Plaines river. Allied Asphalt Paving co. received the contract for $116,677.

The contracts are among seven awarded by the county board totaling more than $650,000.

Underground Cable Laid To Extend Phone Service

The noise of air hammers and the rumble of digging machines have been heard in Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows for the past several days.

Illinois Bell Telephone company began excavation work on a major telephone project here recently — addition of underground cable to provide more telephone service for the west and southwest sections of Arlington Heights.

TELEPHONE manager G. W. Kaucher explained the cable is an important part of the telephone company's program to keep up with demand for telephone service here. The trenching work will last about three weeks, he explained.

"We hope our friends will excuse the dust and noise," he said, "and we hope everyone will have patience in the inconvenience this work may cause in town."

The manager said the route of the new underground cable will be from the intersection of Northwest highway and Vail st., south on Vail to Wing st., then west on Wing st. to Ridge ave., south on Ridge to Campbell st., west on Campbell to Wilke st., south on Wilke to Grouse lane, west on Grouse lane to Jay lane, south on Jay lane to Central rd., and west on Central rd. to Owl drive.

THE UNDERGROUND cable will be laid in 2,786 feet of trench, but the surfaces will be replaced immediately after the conduit is placed in the trench.

Manager Kaucher said thousands of miles of wire in cable will be installed in the trench, protected by 16,460 duct feet of conduit. Two new manholes will be constructed to allow the cable to be threaded through the underground circuit and spliced, and to provide for access for future maintenance work on the circuits.

The trenching work is being done by Illinois Hydraulic co. of Elgin. (AK

Arlington Heights Swim Season Starts Wednesday

by JOEL CARTER

The swimming pools have been filled and the water is being filtered and prepared for the season which gets under way Wednesday. Everything is spanking bright with new paint as the pools await the opening day throng.

Shaded tables and chairs are a new pool feature for those who like to lounge between dips. The deck at Recreation pool has been enlarged to make a sunning area. Chairs and umbrella tables will be on the wading pool decks too and mothers may enter the area with their toddlers.

THIS IS A liberalization of last year's policy when the kids had to be turned over to the attendant, and it is being done on a trial basis. We are hoping the mamas will be a help rather than a hindrance to the pool girl and that we can continue to permit them to splash with their babies.

The pools will be open from one to five o'clock in the afternoon and from seven to nine-thirty in the evenings. During all the rest of the waking hours they will be constantly in use by classes and practices of aquatic activities.

Tuesday nights will be Adult Nights at Recreation pool and kids will be admitted only with their parents. This is being done for grown-ups who enjoy swimming but prefer to do it without a mob of shouting, splashing boys and girls.

One night a week at only one of the two pools isn't a harsh restriction on the kids and it makes a relaxing evening available to the older folks.

PEOPLE SO OFTEN say that the parks are for the kids that we forget they can and should serve adults too. Recreation is more than healthy play for children; it is a balm for hard-working executives and over-wrought housewives.

Colored aluminum tokens are being used for identification of pass holders this year. The little disks must be sewn onto the bathing suit to be honored. They can't be clipped on or held in the hand so a person can't conveniently use different suits alternately.

We're sorry about this restriction but past practice has shown it to be essential — lost tokens were a constant problem and the number of dishonest people who passed their token through the fence for others to use was surprisingly large.

BROCHURES describing the whole summer recreation program have been mailed out. If you didn't get one, come by Pioneer or Recreation park and pick up a booklet.

This week's list of meetings in the fieldhouses shows the beginning of the annual layoff. Many organizations suspend their indoor activities during the vacation months.

The wrong way and the right way

BY FRANK N. D. BUCHMAN

ON THE OCCASION OF HIS 81st BIRTHDAY AND THE OPENING OF

THE SUMMIT STRATEGY CONFERENCE FOR MORAL RE-ARMAMENT

"We are not ready to live in the world that faces us." The man who says this is a production genius in charge of 400 scientists and 35,000 men who launched Atlas in answer to Sputnik. There is a wrong way and a right way of launching a rocket into space. There is a wrong way and a right way of living on earth.

Dr. Douglas Cornell, Executive Officer of the National Academy of Sciences, says, "Science has made it possible for the world to be destroyed between lunch and the cocktail hour. But the problem does not lie in science, it lies in man. It is modern man who needs to be remade."

There is a wrong way and a right way to meet the challenge of Communism. An American general who trained the army of an Asian nation, says, "I tried to fight Communism with an army and with economic aid. I trained good soldiers. But I was unable to equip them with a world idea superior to Communism. Moral Re-Armament is the idea I was looking for. It is the right way to do it."

We have been living the wrong way for so long that we have come to accept it as normal. Broken homes, disrupted industries, divided nations, deadlocked conferences—these things are not normal. They are the inevitable outcome of doing things the wrong way. Many people condemn Communism. But could it be that the hate, greed, fear and selfishness which create confusion and division in our own society, are the strength and essence of Communism? Millions who would never join the Communist Party, make its advance inevitable by the way they live.

MORAL RE-ARMAMENT OR COMMUNISM

Admiral William H. Standley, who was United States Ambassador to Moscow and Chief of Naval Operations, sees this issue clearly. In a thought-out statement which has gone all round the world, he says, "The choice for America is Moral Re-Armament or Communism."

An Air Force general in charge of 8,000 men who are part of the Strategic Air Command and for two years have been on a fifteen minute alert, says, "The young men who are sent to me don't know what democracy is about. They live as they please. As for Communism, that doesn't concern them and they won't trouble to understand it." While arming against atomic attack from without, we have already surrendered within ourselves the basis of our defense—moral character.

The right way is not "my way." It may not even be "your way." The right way is God's way. Some seem to think that freedom and democracy mean "do as you please." Each man decides and goes his own way. Fathers and mothers do as they please and then they are alarmed when their children follow their example. It is estimated that more than one million youth will go through the juvenile courts this year in America. Broken homes spread disillusion throughout the nation.

A play called The New American, written and produced from their own experiences by a group of young Americans, is capturing the mind of America with an answer to delinquency, divorce and subversion. At the invitation of the Commanding General it was shown at one of the largest Marine Air Stations in the world, and at command performances for Air Force bases, and in high schools. At one of these bases a newspaper described it as "a great driving force which is awakening the free world from complacency." The Mayor of one city where this play was shown, said, "It is the soundest, most down to earth thing that ever came to our community." The Mayor of another city said, "It must go to every school and college throughout America."

MOST ASTONISHING EVENT

There is a wrong way and right way in statesmanship. A high official of the German Foreign Office, former Ambassador to Canada, told the press, "The most astonishing event of post-war European politics is the reconciliation of Germany and France. A major factor in the birth of an apparently permanent friendship between these former enemies is Moral Re-Armament." And Dr. Adenauer, the German Chancellor, in a letter to me says, "Unless this work of Moral Re-Armament is extended the peace of the world cannot be preserved." The Chancellor talks of Moral Re-Armament as the unseen but effective force in achieving international agreements.

A diplomat who has been at the heart of the great international conferences that have taken place in the last fifteen years writes to say, "Three events in recent months have amazed the diplomats." In each case the answer has been found through men who have changed.

The first was the Lebanon crisis. This issue which divided the world was solved by ten Arab nations who united to bring an answer to East and West. The man most responsible for this was the Secretary-General of the Arab League, who was in Egypt when he heard the news of crisis. He had the compelling thought which he believed came from God, to fly immediately to New York. He obeyed. He found the Arab States divided amongst themselves, and all the other nations divided against each other. There was a real risk of war. Early one morning a further thought came to him, that the Arab nations were meant to be a bridge and not a battleground. He brought them all together in one room, and they stayed together until they found a resolution on which they all agreed. When it was put to the United Nations, the vote was 80-0. The Times of London said, "Overnight an almost magical transformation has come over the scene."

NEW UNITY IN ASIA

The second event was the new unity being brought to birth through Asia. A token of this was the visit of the President of the Philippines and his reception in the Japanese Diet. Little more than a year ago the feeling between those two countries was so intense that such an action would have been political suicide. The man who, as Speaker of the Japanese Diet, received the Philippine President, and was one of the plenipotentiaries who signed the Peace Treaty for his country, says that in the last two years Moral Re-Armament has brought reconciliation between Japan and the Philippines, wrested control of the largest single political organization in Japan from Communist hands, established new relations with Indonesia and Viet Nam, ended a dispute with Free China, and is now in process of healing the division between South Korea and his country. The President of the Philippines says, "The bitterness of former years is being washed away by compassion and forgiveness." The New York World-Telegram comments, "This visit of the President of the Philippines to Japan may mark an historic turning point in post-war affairs."

The third most recent event is the Cyprus settlement. An Asian Ambassador in Washington was in my home. He had been chairman of the committee that vainly tried to bring an answer to Cyprus in the United Nations. He told us, "Cyprus unsolved would have shattered European unity and could have led to European war this year." The answer was brought by men—British, Greeks and Turks, who through Moral Re-Armament honestly faced the fact that they had been doing things the wrong way. A British Member of Parliament went to see some of the Cyprus leaders and was honest about the places where he felt he and his country had made mistakes. A Greek leader expressed his sorrow to the British leaders in London for the situation of bitterness and bloodshed in Cyprus. A Turkish editor went to Athens and in an article which appeared throughout the Greek press, said that his country and Greece were meant to live as brothers and not as enemies. The New York Times called it "a resounding success for enlightened statesmanship." Is not this the answer for our overworked and under-inspired statesmen?

ONLY HOPE FOR AFRICA

A diplomat of world experience says, "In Africa today they are saying everywhere to the white man, 'How soon can you leave?' But to the Moral Re-Armament men and women they are saying, 'How soon can you come?' " My friend Dr. Azikiwe, Premier of Eastern Nigeria, recently entertained Premier Nkrumah of Ghana on a State visit. He took the occasion to show him the Moral Re-Armament film Freedom through which Africa has spoken to the world. Written by Africans and acted by Africans, it shows how a young nation threatened with destruction through division and Communism in its own ranks, can find the secret of unity and the right road. Afterwards Premier Azikiwe spoke to the nation of 36 million Nigerians and said, "We must build a hate-free, fear-free, greed-free Africa, peopled by free men and women." The newspaper of Ibadan, the great Nigerian city where the largest university in West Africa is situated, came out with the headline, "MRA is our only hope."

In the great cities of South Africa Freedom has been showing to packed audiences. In Cape Town the manager of the theater himself introduced the film and said, "We believe this is the most effective weapon in the free countries today to win the world to the right idea." At the end of the film the man who plays the part of the Prime Minister in it, the former President of the African teachers of South Africa, steps in front of the screen in the glorious robes which he wears in Freedom. He speaks to those audiences, which is an unprecedented event in the life of South Africa. For probably all the white people in that theater it is the first time they have ever listened to an African speaking. Afterwards night after night he is surrounded by those who want to find from him the secret of how to get their own lives and the life of South Africa on the right way.

The Colwell brothers sing at each performance. These three young Americans are playing a major part in this revolutionary answer in South Africa. They have given up Hollywood contracts and over the past years have had a profound influence on the leadership of Asia and Africa. In South Africa they won thunderous applause by their commitment and their songs sung in national languages that few South Africans have ever tried to master. Of them the Mayor of their own city in California says, "These three are securing and undergirding the defenses of America." They tell the South African audiences that they are giving their lives to the answer they feel Hollywood is meant to interpret to the world.

BATTLE FOR THE WORLD

A battle is being fought for the mind of the world. Think of the mothers in Asia, Europe, Africa, yes, even America, who weep because their children are learning the wrong way to live from the motion pictures we make in the West. Rickard Tegström, the brilliant Walt Disney cameraman, who went to Africa to film Freedom, spoke of the films he saw in Africa. He says, "From white screens against the blue-black African night, the dregs of Western civilization's film production were poured out over defenseless young Africans night after night." Now this cameraman is lending his genius to put the answer on celluloid. He is at present completing the filming of The Crowning Experience. It is inspired by the marvel of the life of Mary McLeod Bethune, born of slave parents, who rose to be the adviser of Presidents in the White House, and who said of Moral Re-Armament, "To be a part of this great uniting force of our age, is the crowning experience of my life."

The Crowning Experience showed in the South as a play for four months last year and then broke the 123-year attendance record at the National Theatre in Washington. Of its effect a leading newspaperman of Atlanta said, "This is the greatest news story to come out of the South this year." Rickard Tegström adds, "Filming must be in the hands of men who understand the need of the world today and the deepest need of mankind. The statesmen who realize this in time can save the world from disaster."

U Nu, Burma's great statesman, recently visited me. We talked of the need for statesmen to be able to read men as we read a page of print. We spoke of their need to diagnose and cure every corrupt and subversive influence, and so safeguard our nations from going the wrong way. We dealt with the urgency in the ideological struggle for the men who lead to be incorruptible and to create around them men and women with clean hands and pure hearts. U Nu together with the Prime Minister of Japan and the Presidents of the Philippines and Viet Nam has just welcomed the Moral Re-Armament Assembly of Asian peoples in Japan. Said he, "It is giving a clarion call to one and all to read the writing on the wall."

The objective of the Assembly is to clean up the nations from bottom to top. One of the instruments is a play called Shaft of Light written by the great-grandson of the founder of modern industrial Japan. This play deals incisively with men at the Cabinet level, with politicians of all parties, with industrial and labor leaders who can be bought with money, tempted by position or by indulgences which make them vulnerable to Communist strategy. The play is being nationally acclaimed because it deals fearlessly with the primary need and gives the answer.

What is the answer? The author of this play, Masa Shibusawa, spoke recently in Washington at the farewell service for a great American patriot, Priscilla Cornell. For the last few years, with her family and through the weakness and pain of cancer, she has fought for a clean up in the leadership of America, Europe, Asia and Africa, and helped create the good news of a world changing. Said Shibusawa, "It is up to us to carry on what she lived. With the Cross of Christ lived in reality—which means a change at the very root—America can save the world. This is the revolution which takes the Communists' breath away and changes them."

That's it. The whole-hearted, single-minded, completely dedicated commitment to provide our nations with leaders who are fear-free, hate-free, greed-free, men and women who know the strategy, the power and the unity that comes when the will is totally given to God for the building of a new world.

There is a wrong way and a right way for statesmanship. MRA has conclusively demonstrated in some of the most critical national and international deadlocks that when the fear, hate and greed in man is changed, solutions are rapidly achieved. This is the panorama before us—so simple that many miss it, so fundamental we cannot do without it.

Moral Re-Armament—the Answer to Communism

By ADMIRAL WILLIAM H. STANDLEY

Former Chief of Naval Operations and former United States Ambassador to Moscow

SAN DIEGO—We are in a world war of ideas and our greatest need is to go on the offensive. We must awaken America to the need of arming our nation with an ideology as well as through economic and military means. Subversive forces are tearing down and undermining the moral strength of America. At the same time with ruthless duplicity Moscow is sweet one day and tough the next with a strategy which the free world has failed to comprehend.

Moral Re-Armament, which came to San Diego with an international ideological force of 150 men and women from 25 nations is at the same time effectively operating with similar forces in Europe, Asia and Africa. Bloom Heads Paddock's '59 All-State Track Team

KICKIN' IT AROUND

By BOB FRISK

INDICATIVE OF THE fact that track at Arlington high has experienced amazing success in the past few years is the realization that eight of the school's major cinder marks have been established since 1957 with only two set prior to 1954.

Overall, when you include the events found in some relays but not in the Illinois Interscholastic meet, Arlington has either broken or tied seventeen marks in the past three years.

The past two seasons, in particular, have been outstanding. In 1958 Arlington finished third in the state meet, produced its third individual state champion in Bob Mors, and turned in seven marks which withstood the strong '59 challenge. This spring's team didn't finish as high in the state but still managed to win four major titles, including the Lake Shore, Palatine Relays, Hinsdale Relays, and West Suburban Conference.

Rich Bader, Arlington's senior sprinter who made the All-State track team in two events, had a hand in two of the new standards with a :21.8 clocking in the 220 and :09.9 in the 100. Bader's 220 was a new mark but he shares the century time with Gordon Busse, the mighty mite on Arlington's track scene in 1950. Busse, who now coaches at Proviso East, holds the oldest record on the books, a 22-7 broad jump in '50.

Junior Mike Dundy was a part of three new records this spring. Dundy, who just started running the half mile in late April, covered the 880 yards in 1:59.7 in winning his heat of the state finals but still failed to place. In addition, Mike joined Bob Barbour, Jim Glidden, and Chuck Phelan for a brilliant 8:17 clocking in the two mile relay and he teamed with Barbour, Phelan, and Tony Stavros for a 3:28.8 mile relay time.

In addition, Cardinal quartets this spring cracked the standards in both the high and low hurdle shuttle events.

One Arlington mark, Bill Palmer's high jump in 1957, is a recognized state record while another, Dick Winterbauer's tremendous 175-5½ discus heave in 1954, betters the Illinois mark but was not recorded in the state finals.

Although Arlington has an impressive array of school marks, only one—Winterbauer's discus hurl—would even rate consideration on a nationwide basis for just this season alone. The current prep track campaign has been outstanding on a national scale, and if you took all of Illinois' track record holders at their peak efforts and matched them against the out-of-state bests for '59, it would be no contest.

Take a look at some of these nationwide bests for 1959 prep trackmen:

100—:09.3 by Mostyn of Bergen Catholic, Oradell, N. J.; 220—:20.5 by Tripp of Crawford high in California; 440—:47.9 by Stoddart of Marshall, Oklahoma City, Okla.; 880—1:53.3 by Dunbar of Westmoor, Daly City, Cal.; Mile—4:13.4 by Story of Orange high, Cal.; 120 yard high hurdles—:13.8 by Pauly of Beaverton, Ore.; 180 yard low hurdles—:18.1 by Mitchell of Gainesville, Tex.; Shot put—61-3 by Gubner of Clinton, Bronx, N. Y.; Discus—194-5 by Johnstone of No. Phoenix, Ariz.; Broad jump—25-2 by Haas of Corpus Christi, Tex.; High jump—6-8 1/8 by Nickelberry of Oxnard high in California; Pole vault—14¾ by Armon of West Phoenix, Ariz.; 880 yard relay—1:27.2 by Fremont, Cal.

Can you imagine the parade college track coaches will be making—or have made already—to these athletes' homes?

In any respect, California turned out the best marks again this year but its exceptional record is made possible with the benefit of excellent weather conditions. As pointed out in one paper, California's track season runs for about 25 weeks and with that type of early start in addition to the weather factor, is it any wonder the boys are able to turn in such outstanding marks?

Illinois is lucky to get in one good month of favorable weather for outdoor meets and that holds true in a lot of other states. But we'd like to take our Rudy Morgans, Bill Rawsons, Ed Wests and Bob Dotys among others, let them go through a complete California track season, and see the results!

Cards, Pirates Place Four Boys

by THE SPORTS STAFF

Bloom high school of Chicago Heights, state track champion for four straight years, added a concluding chapter to its 1959 success story by placing six individuals on Paddock Publications' fourth annual All-State track team.

Coach Ralph Steben's Trojans, easy victor in the 65th renewal of the Illinois Interscholastic cinder finals, landed slots in seven of the 12 events with versatile Ed West named in three events.

West, who was unable to compete in the state meet due to an injury, earned All-State honors in the 120 yard high hurdles, 180 yard lows, and 440 yard dash.

Other Bloom athletes named were Rog Elliott in the 100; Elzie Higgenbottom in the 440; Lynn Griffin in the 880; Ike Jefferson in the pole vault; and Ron Barbizzi in the shot put.

NEW TRIER, LaGrange, Centralia, and East St. Louis followed Bloom in the selections with three boys on the '59 squad while seven schools, including Arlington and Palatine, placed two each.

Arlington's Rich Bader was named in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes and hurdler Ed Whitelaw was selected in the 120 yard highs. Palatine's low hurdles champion, Ken Gordon, gained spots in both hurdle events and Dick Welty, runnerup in the state 440, was named in his specialty.

Thirteen boys are repeaters from the '58 honor team, including three in the mile run. Jerry McFadden of Belleville, Steve Newcomer of Leaf River, and Terry Dearden of Collinsville all earned berths for the second straight season.

OTHER REPEATERS are Bob Doty in the 100; Forrest Newton in the 220; Lynn Griffin and Rudy Morgan in the 880; Bob Neuman in the shot put; Cloyd Webb in the discus; Bill Johns in the high jump; Ike Jefferson and Jim Nelson in the pole vault; and Bobby Watts in the broad jump.

The competition for All-State berths was stiff in several events with some boys just missing after the ballots were tabulated. Elliott of Bloom was edged by Bethany's Dwayne Barnes in the 220 yard dash, and John Taylor of East St. Louis barely lost out in the 180 yard lows. Another near miss was Aurora East's Allen Mabrey in the broad jump.

ALTHOUGH THE top four slots were definite in the shot put, that final berth caused a little trouble. However, the fifth position went to Ron Crawford of Pana over Dave Cox of Galesburg and Pete Martin of Hinsdale. Bloom's Chuck Boling was a strong sixth in the discus balloting.

The West Suburban Conference placed eight boys on the All-State team, including Arlington's Bader and Whitelaw, Glenbard's Ron Menely, Maine's Bob Neuman and Bill Butts, Downers Grove's Nelson, Barry Glashagel, and Dave Stormer, and Eugene Baker.

Thumbnail sketches on the All-Staters:

100 yd. dash:

Bob Doty-first southern Illinois sprinter to break northern Illinois domination in many years, best time in state this year :09.8.

Roger Elliott-210 pound all-state football man, considered by many to be the best big man sprinter produced here, consis- best time i state this year :09.8. tent at :10.0.

Rich Bader-picture runner, thought by many coaches to be the best college sprint prospect among state sprinters.

Forrest Newton-considered to be a better 220 man, an improved start would have really made Newton tough in the 100.

Stu Fried-came into his own late in the season and turned in some outstanding races.

220 yd. dash:

Forrest Newton-very strong finisher, ran the furlong well all season, coaches think he will be a top quarter miler in college. recorded time in this event also, fine competitor.

Rich Bader-showed improvement in this event as the season progressed.

Ron Menely-a junior, should prove one of the state's best next year, ran well all season.

Dwayne Barnes-a top sprinter for four years, state qualifier each year, ran well all season, sometimes used in the 440.

440 yd. dash:

Elzie Higgenbottom-was an honor roll leader a good share of the season, good competition.

Ed West-the best quarter time in the state :49.5, top hurdler.

Bob Doty-had the state's best sprinter, and middle distance man.

Dick Welty-fine competitor, had the best late kick of any, improved his time as the season went on.

Barry Werner-came into the picture late in the season winning the district and finishing well in the state.

Lovell Swanson-the best in southwestern Illinois, turned in some excellent times throughout the season.

880 yd. run:

Rudolph Morgan-one of the best this state has produced, top times all year, ran a smart race to beiome state champion.

Bill Rawson-a junior, ran 1:55.1 this season, should break state record next year.

Lynn Griffin-top distance man for three years, bothered by injury part of the season.

Jim Simmons-gave Phillips a real one-two punch in this event improved as the season progressed.

Ken Peterson-improved the last few weeks of the season, ran very well in the district and state.

Mile run:

Jerry McFadden-top miler for two years, suffered unfortunate disqualification in state after winning the state mile, good college prospect.

Steve Newcomer-top northern Illinois miler, 4th in 1958 and winner in 1959.

Marvin Silliman-best time in state the past year, ran strong all year, finished 3rd in state.

Terry Dearden-turned in fine times all year, has been one of states best for two years.

Steve McBain-improved throughout the season finished strong in state meet.

120 HH:

Ed West-best time in the state past this year :14.5, great all-around track man.

Larry Howard-only a junior, one of the top men on the honor roll throughout the season, should be great in 1960.

Ken Gordon-one of state's best, a :10.3 sprinter who could really turn it on between the timbers.

Ed Whitelaw-fine form hurdler, turned in good clockings through

Caddying Healthful Summer Work

AS SCHOOL DAYS continue into June, school boys crave a chance for outdoor activity. With the close of school this week, full-time caddying at the area golf courses will get under way. There is no finer summer employment or activity for boys of the upper grades and the first two years of high school than working at a golf course. Pleasant surroundings, a beautiful environment, nice people, fresh air, moderate exercise, and a chance to learn one of the finest sports. These are the advantages to the boy who takes up caddying. Caddies earn good wages and during breaks in the schedule have sports entertainment possibilities for themselves at most clubs under the direction of a caddymaster. And if the boy who works regularly in the high school years maintains a good scholarship average and shows some leadership in his school activities, he may apply for and perhaps win, an Evans Caddy Scholarship which will take care of the major part of a college education. All it takes to become a caddy is to go to the golf course in the neighborhood and enroll with the caddymaster. He will see that boys have an opportunity to get into this worthwhile summer activity.

Roberts Lions Athletic Award Winner

LLOYD ROBERTS is winner of the Palatine Lions Club athletic award for the year 1959. Roberts was a good football fullback, an outstanding competitor in wrestling with a fourth in the state meet, and a consistent point scorer in the sprints and 880 relay in track. The award is made to the senior who rates highest in the opinion of the coaching staff in scholarship, character, sportsmanship, competitive spirit, and all-round athletic achievement. The award is made in honor of four Palatine athletes who gave their lives in World War II. These athletes, all of whom had the rank of lieutenant, were Jack Thompson, class of 1934; Francis Reuse, 1935; Jack O'Brien, 1938; and Wilbert Gieseke, 1940. Thompson played football, Reuse was an all-conference forward in basketball and a football player, O'Brien starred in basketball and lettered in track and football, and Giesecke was a high jumper in track.

This Lions award is a plaque on which names are inscribed each year. The award was made possible from the receipts of a Globe Trotter basketball game sponsored in Palatine's old gym in 1947. Previous winners are as follows: 1948—Richard Pepper; 1949—no award; 1950—Paul Loeber & Don Klein; 1951—Herbert Oesterle; 1952—Gerry Harmann; 1953—Paul Schrage; 1954—Norman Stenzel; 1955—Allen Eck; 1956—Jim McCreery; 1957—Karl Schwenk; and 1958—Richard Wisner.

Palatine Baseball Looks Up

NEXT YEAR WHEN PALATINE joins a new conference, the North Suburban, they should be ready for baseball championship. The present team, a good field-weak hit team, is made up to a great extent of juniors including pitcher Jack Nelson who was voted by his teammates as the most valuable player. Added to, and replacing part of this year's team, will be the boys from a conference champion soph team which had a 15-1 season record under the direction of Don Wilkening who moved up with them from frosh to soph coach. Palatine, however, has been in the habit of producing outstanding sophomore teams and fine frosh groups. The past four years Palatine has had conference champ sophomore groups with records of 13-3, 13-2, 11-3, and 15-1. The first three were coached by John Ellis who never has coached anything but winners either in baseball or wrestling. Ellis was relieved of spring sports this year because of heavy classroom work where he excells just as much as in coaching. Wilkening has always had a winner in frosh ball before taking over the sophs and his decision to leave to get a masters degree in art is a real blow to Palatine's baseball program. "Chick" Anderson who coached a very fine frosh squad this season will, like Wilkening, move up with them next year to the soph level. When Anderson gave out frosh awards last Friday in a school assembly he gave special mention to the exploits of John Roberts who was elected honorary captain and was both the leading hitter and the leading pitcher of the freshman team.

Ten Years Ago

Bill Robinson of Arlington has been selected to pitch in the suburban area all-star baseball team against the city all stars in the game sponsored by the Chicago American. Robinson had a 6-2 pitching record. Bill was even more outstanding in football leading his team in punting, passing, and running as well as being signal caller. Bill led Arlington in basketball scoring and won firsts in pole vault and high jump in the conference track meet . . . Arlington lost to Main 3-2 in the district and they went all the way to the final game of the state tournament before losing . . . Palatine closed the baseball season by taking two bad drubbings at the hands of Barrington 14-4 and Ela-Vernon 16-3.

Cards Register 208 Victories in 1958-59

Only Eight Teams Fall Below .500

by BOB FRISK

It's all over but the shouting, but Arlington has a lot to shout about after the 1958-59 athletic program!

Thirty teams combined for 208 victories in 329 contests in what was one of the most outstanding campaigns ever registered in the Arlington high sports annals.

Only eight of those thirty teams had losing records, none on a varsity level, as the Cardinals won over sixty per cent of their athletic contests.

Two teams went unbeaten in ten or more decisions, Rick Farris' frosh-soph gymnastics team and Maurice Ross' frosh wrestling unite while only one defeat marred the records in frosh-soph football, varsity cross country, varsity and frosh-soph track, and varsity golf. The latter, coached by Ed Spacapan, had a 15-0 mark going into the final match with Palatine.

GAY HUGHES' varsity gymnastics team walked off with the state championship for the second time, and the varsity golfers, district and conference champs, finished third in the finals at Champaign. Russ Attis' cross country team added an eighth place state finish to its co-championship in the West Suburban conference, and the outdoor track squad won three major relays and the WSC title.

Other highlights for 1958-59 were a runnerup slot in the state tennis finals by the doubles team of Jim Erickson and Bob Inman; second in the Glenbrook Invitational by the frosh thinclads; Harwood Holiday championship by the varsity basketball squad which also advanced to the regional finals: and runnerup slot in sectional wrestling.

CLOSE COMPETITION shows as (left to right) Jim Houston of North Chicago, Ken Gordon of Palatine and Maurice Guins of North Chicago cross the hurdle nearly even. Gordon, named to this week's all-state track team, finished third after he and the heavier North Chicago boys clashed arms going over a later hurdle. Gordon returned to capture the low hurdle event in the Tri-County conference track meet last week with great ease.

Fonseca Feels Detroit May Contend in AL

"Age is catching up with the Yankees and they face a tremendous job to climb upward... It looks like Jimmy Dykes is bringing up that Detroit club for contention along with the Sox, Yankees and Indians."

These observations and others were made by Lou Fonseca, for 40 years connected with major league baseball, at dinner meeting of the Mt. Prospect Lions club last Thursday night at the V.F.W. clubhouse.

NOW DIRECTOR of both leagues' promotional activities and producer of world series and all-star movies, Fonseca will be remembered as the American league batting champ in 1929. He spun many anecdotes concerning his acquaintance with baseball's immortals such as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Carl Hubbell and Al Simmons.

Fonseca asserted that a third league in the majors is ahead, but not until there is sufficient material to make it a logical step. He told of the paradox today with Little League, Babe Ruth, college and American Legion leagues operating that there is still a lack of youths capable of playing in the big leagues.

"THE MAJORS are looking for speed and size in players," he said. "Youngsters today don't practice enough to reach the stage of doing everything well by instinct."

Fonseca praised Nelle Fox and Lou Aparicio of the White Sox as two tremendously good little men in baseball today. He asserted that Bill Veeck will have a winner eventually with the White Sox and said he was a tremendous influence for baseball.

Mound Efforts Highlight Play In Arlington LL

Impressive pitching performances highlighted a light schedule of games last week in the two Arlington Heights Little Leagues.

The young hurlers chalked up a no-hitter, a one-hitter, a two-hitter, and a trio of three-hitters for the six game card.

Splithoff of Frank Frohne's Athletics, co-leaders in the American League, hurled the no-hitter, fanning four and walking four in his six inning stint. Backed by excellent defensive support, keyed by the work of Tuterberg, the young A's hurler was never in trouble after yielding two runs in the first.

JEFF GALYON picked up the win and Ray Gross rapped a homer as Hugh Robinson's White Sox slapped down the Senators, 3-1, and Brunner fanned twelve in chalking up an impressive one-hit, 3-0 victory for the Red Sox over the Tigers. Graczyk was the loser.

Timely hits by Gow and Larson, coupled with Senator errors, got the Yankees off to a fast start in their May 26 contest, and Merv Fink's nine held on for a 7-6 victory over the Senators.

Rick Whiteman relieved Corky Riesing with the bases full and two outs in the final frame and forced Pasvogel to pop out to end the game.

LARSON LED THE Yankees at the plate with a double and triple while Tuegel's two doubles and Swarthout's homer featured the Senators' attack.

In the National League Bob Webber twirled a neat two-hitter and was backed by timely hitting and effective fielding in the Cards' 8-3 win over the Giants. The battery of two ten-year-olds, Pat Martin and Joe Nastal, combined to lead the Cubs to a 1-0 victory over the Giants. Martin fanned eight and walked four while Gary Grom, who hurled for the Giants, fanned ten and walked two.

Urge Cooperation

Paddock Publications' sports staff requests once again that first names be included in all Little League game reports. In addition, managers should turn in team rosters to aid in the game stories. George Herbert, manager of the Northside Owls was the first to include a team roster.

Managers should print all game reports!

Mount Prospect Lions, Sox Win Openers

Mt. Prospect's major Little League opened its baseball season on Memorial Day with the Lions beating the Schwanns 3-2 in a thriller that saw the lead change twice and the game finally called on account of rain. Each team got five hits. Winning battery was Ryan and Traversone, losing battery was Moehling and Froemling. The other major league game between the VFW and Professionals was rained out.

The Pony League opened its season with the Sox, last year's champion, taking the Cubs, second place winner, on a lopsided 10-0 score. The game was called at 4½ innings on account of rain. Wining battery was Dave Leekley and Richardson; losing battery, Bill Mutert ad Paul Koester.

the season, hard work paid off for him.

Dave Stormer-a bad leg bothered him most of the season, came along strong at the end of the year.

180 yd. lows:

Ken Gordon-speed, a desire to win, made this boy a state champion, good prospect.

Ed West-third event that West topped the honor roll in, :19.5.

Mike Piotrowski-good competitor, state qualifier in 1958, good times all season.

Barry Glashagel-qualified two years, one of the best in the suburban area.

Larry Howard-should return in 1960 and be real tough in this event.

Broad jump:

Phil Winteroth-most consistent jumper in the state, this paid off for the state champ, good college prospect.

Tom Hayden-best recorded jump in the state 23-5, should be tough next year.

Bob Watts-state champ, 1958; fine jumper the past two seasons.

Gene Baker-one of the best in the Chicago area, consistent over 21-0.

Rickey Fox-excellent young prospect, over 20 feet as a freshman last year, placed in the state this year as a sophomore.

Pole vault:

Jim Nelson-state champ, best vault of the season 13-0, top college prospect.

Ike Jefferson - top indoor vaulter 13-4; 12-11½ outdoors, injured in state, a junior.

Terry Harshbarger-top central Illinois vaulter, flirted with 13 feet all season, also good sprinter.

John Sutherland - consistently over 12 plus, one of the outstanding vaulters in a year loaded with them.

Gary Wolff-top vaulter of southern Illinois, one of the best for three years.

High jump:

Bill Johns-top mark in the high jump 6-4⅝; good for 6-2 in most of his meets through the year.

Wes Sidney-jumped best when the chips were down, state champ, fine jumper for three years.

Al Quinn-improved through the year to mark himself as one of state's best, jumped very well in state meet.

Charles Warren-top southern Illinois jumper on the honor roll, qualified in 1958.

Bill Butts-consistent throughout the season, performed well in all major meets as well as state.

Shot Put:

Ron Barbizzi-first boy in state to better 59-0, should rank high on National honor roll, one of the best this state has ever produced, top performer for three years.

Bob Richardson-one of state's best for two years, had two excellent throws in the state meet but fouled, top college prospect.

Ron Crawford-one of the best down state, ranked high on honor roll all season.

Bob Neuman-one of state's best for three years had top marks for two years.

Frank Palandri - a junior, should improve in the coming year to challenge the present state record.

Discus:

Cloyd Webb-consistently over 165, broke state record, should rank very high nationally, top college prospect.

Harry Edwards-a top performer, with better form would be a serious threat to national record.

Bob Neuman-improved his discus marks through the year, best in suburban area.

David Cox-top weight man for two years, very good competitor.

LeRoy Cook-fine discus man for two years, threw well as the season progressed.

Several Changes Found in Setup For LL Umpires

Several changes in Little League head umpires have been made since the program book for Arlington Heights was printed.

Managers of the teams should contact head umpires of their respective leagues in case of rescheduled games or other business.

Senior League — Gus Staahl (CL 3-3037).

Varsity league — Dale Johnson (CL 3-2638).

American league — Ed Culbertson (CL 3-1482).

South Intermediate — Russ Larson (CL 3-3473).

South Juniors — Mert Taylor (CL 3-5108).

North Juniors — Wally Kehe (CL 3-5441).

Early Shutout

Early Wynn of the Chicago White Sox leads all American League pitchers in shutouts with 39. Billy Pierce of the White Sox is second with 33. (Sp

Pirate Soph Golfers Top Arlington

Palatine's frosh-soph golf team scored a smashing 12½-2½ victory over Arlington Wednesday, May 27, at Inverness Golf club.

The Pirates were paced by an 83 by Steve Hicks though teammate Duke Olson was right behind with an 88. Gil McIntosh carded a 92 and Jim Mellin a 93 for the winners.

Jeff Hitch with a 92 and Mike Heyl with a 98 were the only Cardinal sophs to shoot below 100.

Hicks (P) 40-43—83 beat Hitch (A) 48-44—92, 3-0.
McIntosh (P) 44-48—92 beat Peterson (A) 49-52—101, 3-0.
Mellin (P) 48-45—93 beat Brostad (A) 49-51—100, 2½-½.
Olson (P) 42-46—88 beat VanderVoort (A) 54-51 — 105, 3-0.
Heyl (A) 48-50 —'98 beat Garrett (P) 47-55—102, 2-1.

Owls, Padres, Huskies, Saints Pace AH Minors

The Owls, Padres, Huskies, and Saints led the way going into the third week of action in Arlington's minor leagues with the quartet of teams pacing their respective divisions.

George Herbert's Owls turned in a perfect mark for the first four games of the Northside juniors league, but Bill Hessler's Sox are also unbeaten, though only playing two contests. Jim Millay's Padres hold a game lead in the Southside juniors division.

In the two intermediate loops Steve Donchess' Huskies have gotten off to a good start along with Bill Hotze's Saints. But there are two other unbeaten clubs in the Saints' league, including the Bruins and Redbirds.

SHAVER TWIRLED a no-hitter, fanning ten in four innings, as the Badgers crushed the Larks, 27-1, in the Northside juniors league. The winning hurler also banged out a homer.

Rain halted action in the fourth as the Bisons dumped the Blues, 5-3, behind Donahue, and the Gophers tallied five times in the first inning on the way to a 9-5 win over the Badgers. Jimmy Gumz continued his heavy hitting with two tremendous home runs.

A heavy rain also interrupted play between the Millers and Owls but not before the latter pulled out a 1-0 victory. Bobby Edgerton rapped a homer to highlight the Owls' 9-3 triumph over the Larks.

IN SOUTHSIDE juniors play McCarthy received credit for a three-innig no-hitter as the Spartans, always a power in minor Atoms, 14-0. Epperly and Nebel both slapped grand slam homers for the winners.

Fruechtenicht and McMillan pitched steady ball to enable the Oaks to stop the Beavers, 14-2, and the Padres counted a quintet of runs in three of the four innings in routing the Angels, 16-6.

Christiansen and Corbett supplied the offensive power in the Huskies' 15-2 victory over the Solons in the Southside intermediate loop. Christiansen had a homer and triple, while Corbett collected two doubles.

A GRAND SLAM homer by Ainslie keyed the Dons to a hard-fought 13-8 decision over the Ravens. Wolff fanned 11 in pitching the triumph.

Meyn's brilliant pitching and batting sent the Seals to an easy 8-2 conquest of the Rangers. Meyn fanned 14 and allowed four hits and cracked out a home and triple.

In the final two contests of the Southside intermediate league the Stars edged the Dons, 7-6, and the Huskies slipped by the Rangers, 10-9.

HEAVY-HITTING featured action in the Northside intermediate league with the five winning nines piling up totals ranging from nie to 15 rus.

The Mohawks scored six times in the second inning and went on to a 15-5 decision over the Broncs, and the Saints erupted for 14 runs in the last three frames to rout these same Mohawks, 15-10. Alm, Ewart, Boehm, and Syoen had perfect days at bat for the Saints.

Hawley picked up the win and Gerlach clouted a homer as the Redbirds whipped the Lancers, 13-2, and the Doves backed the pitching of Luxion, Hula, and Farr with a seven-hit attack and 6 victory.

In final action the Broncs had no trouble in setting down the Comets, 14-5.

Chicago White Sox road attendance is considerably better this year than in 1958. In 20 road dates this year the White Sox have attracted 268,069 spectators. Last year for the first 20 dates on the road, the White Sox drew 205,589.

Bluebirds Whip Hawks

The perennial Rolling Meadows Men's softball league leading teams—Sigwalt and the Bruns and Payne Bluebirds—have again taken the league lead after only three weeks of play in the 1959 season.

In a hard-fought game Sunday the Bluebirds gave the Hawks their first defeat with a final score of 11-9. Fine defensive play was turned in by Bluebirds "Lefty" Hansen, John Caltagirone and Gordon Granger. Hitting stars of the day were led by Jim Wilson who had 4 hits in 5 trips to the plate, sending home 8 runs. Phil Caffero also totaled 4 for 5 while Jack Glees has a perfect 4 hits in 4 tries including a double with the bases loaded.

OWL DR. was almost lost in the dust of an onslaught by Sigwalt with the final score of 38-8. Holding the Owls to 8 runs was Sigwalt pitcher Don Dahlquist who was backed up in his victory by three home runs from the bats of Bob Dellamaria, Ed Jaske and Chuck Kelly. Bill Casey and Chuck Kelly each totaled 5 hits, followed closely by John Lumley with 4 successful trips to the plate. A home run for the Owls was credited to Bob Evenson.

Games scheduled for next Sunday at 11:15 a.m. on the Arlington high school field will pit the Owls against the American Legion, the Bluebirds against the Saints and the Hawks will face Sigwalt.

After three weeks of play the league standings are:

Sigwalt	3	0
Hawks	2	1
Saints	1	2
American Legion	0	3
Owls	0	3

ELRUSMAR'S MEDALLION, MHR 11477, pictured above, is an excellent example of selective Morgan breeding to produce true Morgan type. This stallion was foaled in June 1955 and now stands 14.2 hands, weighs 950 pounds, and is bay, with heavy, long black mane and tail. His only markings are a star and snip on the face and two hind socks. He was bred by Chester Treftc of Silver Lake, Wis., and is by Dyberry Ethan out of Alrita. Medallion, who won third place in the 1958 model Morgan class at the Wisconsin State fair, is owned by Mark and Eleanore Krumwiede, 212 S. Plum Grove rd., Palatine.

Justin Morgan, a little horse from Vermont who was unsalable as a colt because he was a runt, achieved immortality in the horse world because he was the foundation sire of an entire breed, passing on his qualities of prodigidous strength, unsurpassed good temperament, physical beauty and amazing versatility not only to his colts, but to his colts colts and to their colts down through the generations.

Justin Morgan was foaled about 1790, believed to be of grade Arabian and Dutch, or light draft, horse ancestry, and died in 1821. His pedigree is technically unknown.

However, today one will find horses which are registered Morgans and bear almost no traces of the qualities of the foundation sire. This is due to the fact that the Morgan Horse Registry, aware of the limited number of Morgans in existence, initiated a rule which made it possible for any horse with one registered Morgan parent to be listed as a purebred. This rule was later rescinded but the damage had already been done and the influx of outside blood left a number of "mongrels" eligible for breeding as pure Morgans.

THERE IS A growing interest among Morgan breeders to promote selective breeding and return the Morgan to his original type. While many of the part Morgans registered are nice looking individuals, they are not Morgan in type, but look more like saddlebreds or thoroughbreds or small draft horses.

The Justin Morgan horse was bay in color with long heavy black mane and tail. He stood only 14 hands high but his bearing and carriage made him appear to be a bigger horse. Those who have tried to increase the size of the Morgan have found Morgan characteristics are lost in the process.

It would be well to remember that size has little to do with a horse's ability. Justin Morgan outraced thoroughbreds, outpulled draft horses in harness and out-trotted road horses. In addition his great prepotency produced colts which, all greatly resembled their sire regardless of the physical characteristics of the mares which produced them.

IN A VISIT TO Vermont, President James Monroe selected the Morgan horse as his mount in the parade in Monroe's honor. At this time the Morgan was at least 27 years old and had a life of great hardship behind him.

Pure type Morgans are always bay or dark chestnut in color, with an occasional black. Light colored Morgans always indicate influences of an outside breed. In height they are from 14 to 15 hands. The taller ones are generally a result of outside breeding.

In temperament the horse is extremely gentle, willing and quick to learn. Even stallions of the Morgan breed can usually be handled safely by a woman.

This little horse is truly a product of America and is a horse of great versatility. Morgans will be found as mounts for policemen in busy cities, working cattle, plowing, in harness as roadsters or as pleasure horses.

It is for Morgan breeders and owners to strive to purify the breed and return it to the old type, where it had its beginnings and achieved world prominence.

Hutchinson Gains Baseball Numerals

Alan Hutchinson of Arlington Heights has been awarded freshman numerals in baseball at DePauw University, according to Athletic Director James C. Loveless.

A product of Arlington high school, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hutchinson, 1218 Woodford Place. He played third base at DePauw.

Herr, Cook Share Low Net Honors

Jim Herr and P. Cook shared low net honors last Wednesday night in the St. James Holy Name Twilight Golf League with red-hot 29's. Gross honors were shared by J. Murphy, B. Bertsche and R. Alm scoring 39's. Birdies were made by B. Bertsche on the 10th and 13th holes while J. Loughman had a birdie on the 2nd hole. Simonds Abrasives are still in first place for the third consecutive week.

Wayside Matches Close

All four team matches played last Wednesday at Chevy Chase in the Wayside-Colette golf league were real close proving that with the handicap system, all teams are evenly matched. Only one team had a margin of more than one point as many of the new players are getting the "feel of the course" and the scores are getting better.

Arlington Milk hung onto first place by picking up a 4-3 decision over Roll King. Bowler Lysien won the only match for the dairymen but two ties and low net gathered in the other three points. Howard Jack and Merle Kingsley were victorious for Roll King while Fred Townley and Bob Ulbrich Jr. managed to tie Homer Cokenower and Jim Stahlhut of Arlington Milk.

Lauterburg and Oehler took over second spot with some very hot shooting by Capt. Tom Waldron and Howard Johnson. Waldron, shooting as an alternate, came in with a brilliant 42-14-28 while Johnson shot two under par for the last four holes to squeeze by Chuck Cronin, one up. Even with these two hot golfers, L & O could only manage to split with Continental Can as Capt. Bob Pagliai, Jim Cronin and Bob Wirth each came up with a win while Gene Campion tied Ed Coyle for Continental Can.

GARDEN LIQUOR was the team with the greatest victory margin as they defeated Quadriga Mfg. Co. 4½-2½. Capt. Frank Plennert led the way with a 42-10-32 good for two points while Dave Marini and Tom Strass chipped in on the other two. Both teams tied at low team net. Traub and Earl Scherrer were the two triumphant members of Quadriga's men.

Thos. A. Catino Bldrs. took the measure of Jim's Service by a close 4-3 score. Jordan Italia and Ray Burke won their matches while Capt. Jack Boland tied Lou Stefanik on the match and Joe Foreman for low net to gain a point for his team. Catino's also had low team net. Capt. Don Engstrom and Joe Foreman both won to keep Jim's Service Station in the running.

Low gross for the evening was shared by Earl Scherrer and Howard Johnson with 41's. Birdies wer eshot by Johnson on six and nine, Scherrer on four and Len Pearson of Catino's on two.

The GOLFERS' DIRECTORY

Neubauer's Five in 2nd In Scratch Golf League

Jim Neubauer's 37, Bob Lee's 38 and John Gertenrich's 39 were enough, when consolidated, to add six points and a second place for their team in the Old Orchard Scratch Golf League. The three scores knocked the Arlington Pharmacy team out of second place despite efforts by Len Arnold and Stan Luczak who teamed together to nose out the Kamp's Sign's Team 4½-3½.

Arnold scored a fine par 35 on the front nine with seven pars, a birdie two on the water hole fourth and a bogey five on the ninth. Stan Luczak matched Len Arnold's deuce on the fourth and continued to win his match from the long hitter, M. Kamps.

JOE LOHR decided to do something about getting his Lohr's Pharmacy team back into the race by starting the front nine with five straight pars and scoring a 39. He won his match, tied low ball and teamed with Dan Musser and Ed Spacapan to defeat the Arlington Heights Rest Home team by three points.

Long ball Hugo continued his winning ways by best balling Dop Hager 38 to 40 but couldn't carry his team alone and Hager's team of Stewart, Hornbostel and Matyas struggled enough to keep Roto Mercury in first place by ½ point.

JIM KEANE stroked a couple of long hits on the 540 yard fifteenth and knocked in a putt for birdie to beat H. Kamps and lead his Peterson Floor and Tile team to a decisive 7-1 victory at the expense of the Webber Paint five. St. Germaine won his match to help in total points, while straight hitting Charlie Kleinhofen again had a tie match when Bob Blessing won the last two holes.

The closest to the cup special event for the evening was won by Len Arnold with an eight foot measurement on the par three fourth, and by Andrup on the tricky par three twelve hole. Len dropped his putt for the birdie while Andrup two putted.

Moler's Captures Monday Night Golf Lead

The Moler's Barber Shop team took the golf lead by one point over the second place Savings & Loan team, Monday, May 25.

The Winkelman - Shell group scored 8 points against the Kruse Schlitz team, dropping them from third place down to fifth and moving themselves up from 11th place to eighth.

Busse Biermann took over the third place spot by taking 8 points from the Van Driel Drug team.

Eagles have become as popular as birdies in the past few weeks with two more being scored last Monday. Hawkinson scored one on No. 13 and Michgelson on No. 18.

Birdies continued to be plentiful. Len Johnson continued along his merry way with four more, getting them on No. 10, 12, 13, and 16. The balance of the birds are as follows:

Michgelson, No. 15; Bergo, No. 5, 6, and 7; Sandeen, No. 16; Jack Walter, No. 11; Elmer Walters, No. 15; Krewson, No. 12; Di-Vito, No. 7.

Keefer's Rolls On In MP Loop

Keefer's Pharmacy racked up another victory last week and now holds a clear 3½ point lead in the Tuesday division of the Mt. Prospect Twilight Golf League. Led by Roy and Ron Hawkinson, the Father and Son special, the Pharmacists subdued their closest rival, second place Golden's Food Shop and Cleaners in a 6½-3½ tussle.

Surprisingly, Goldens remained in their second place slot for while they were losing their match to Keefers, the third place team, Licht's Paint Store, was losing to Wille Lbr. & Fuel in a 10-0 clean sweep. This upset reduced Licht's to sixth place and moved Wille's into the vacated third place position.

CLOSING IN on the leaders, and a dark horse if there ever was one, was Carl's Food Shop 10 point clean sweep, this time over Mt. Prospect Elec. Constr. who scored a second consecutive Co. After the first three nights of play this cinderella team had amassed a grand total of seven points. As a result of their unprecedented back to back grand slams they are now in fourth with 27 points, only ½ point out of third and 6 points behind the league leaders.

Birdies were reported by Ron Hawkinson No. 1, J. Driscoll No. 9, J. Bannister No. 12, W. Double No. 12 and 13, Rollie Becker No. 13.

Dairy Farm Day

The Chicago White Sox have designated Sunday, June 7th as DAIRY FARM DAY at Comiskey Park when the White Sox face the Boston Red Sox in a doubleheader. The DAIRY FARM DAY at Comiskey Park on June 7th will be the official kickoff of June Dairy Month and is being staged in cooperation with the American Dairy Ass'n of Illinois, the Pure Milk Association and the United States Department of Agriculture.

Lesson of The Week

Follow Through! Guard Against Rushing Swing

THE BACKSWING AND DOWNSWING

The backswing and the downswing are the same with every club except the putter!

The backswing is done in ONE SMOOTH motion. Everything starts back together — the hands, arms, hips, and shoulders. As the swing goes back, you will find your weight shifted to the right side of your body.

The club face is kept square to the intended line of flight on the back swing. Your wrist will cock automatically about waist level.

AT THE TOP of your swing, your left arm will be straight but not stiff. The right arm is relaxed with the elbow pointing to your hip. Your left shoulder will be turned about 90 degrees pointing at the ball.

On the backswing do not take the club back too fast, and your head should be as steady as possible looking at the ball.

Starting the downswing, we should try to think of pulling the club down with the left hand; this pulling action will keep the left arm reasonably close to the body and thus produce an inside-out ark on the downswing.

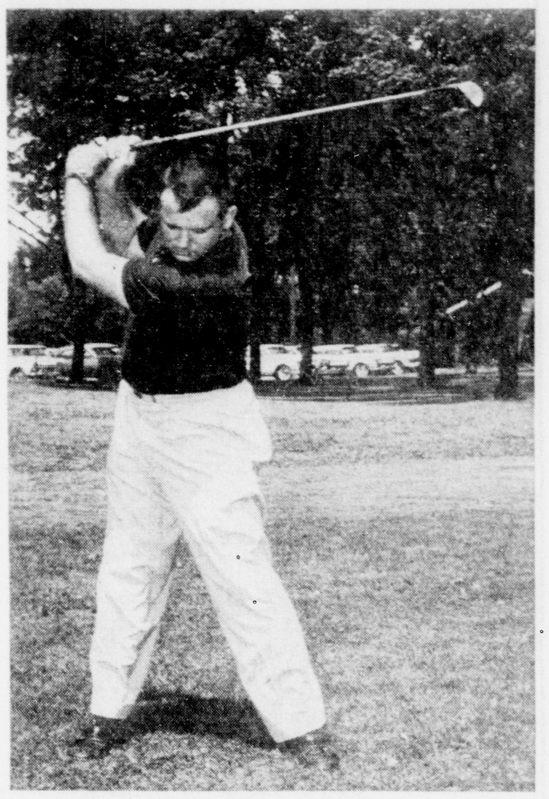
THE LEFT hand action that I have mentioned will also help shift the weight of the body from the right foot back to the left foot.

The downswing is an uninterrupted motion of transferring body weight from the right foot to the left foot in one smooth motion.

Again your head is steady, looking at the ball as in the backswing until the right shoulder is completely underneath our chin.

ONCE THE ball has left the club, the follow through is the essential part of the swing. You MUST follow through. The only thing that I concentrate on immediately after the movement is that I must make the club head travel two feet in the direction I want the ball to go. That is, for two feet after the impact, the club actually follows the ball in its flight and only then after that two feet of faithful follow, does the club head begin to make an ark. By concentrating on this, I make sure of a full follow through.

Next week I will take up wood shots.



CHUCK PEDERSEN demonstrates the proper position at the top of the backswing. Note the arms and the position of the left shoulder.

O'Hare Adds Sunday Night

The midwest's top New-Late Model plus Cadet stock car racing is now being presented every Saturday and Sunday nights at popular O'Hare Stadium, Mannheim and Irving Park rds (Rtes. 45 and 19). Gates open nightly at 6 p.m. with the first race at 8:30.

"The addition of Sunday night to our weekly schedule has come strictly through the expression of the fans who, we must admit, have showed quickly this year that they want to see all they can of the New-Late Models and Cadets," it was announced this week by Promoters Bill Cherney and Tex Wooten.

Arlington Wins Palatine Grade School Track Meet

Pased by 23 points in the dashes, Arlington captured first place in the eighth grade division of the Palatine invitational grade school track meet at Palatine high school Saturday, May 23.

Barrington knocked over the seventh grade division with the greatest of ease.

Totzke paced Arlington with victories in both the 50 and 100-yard dashes and a tie for second in the high jump.

Paddock proved strong in both relays to take second behind Arlington in the eighth grade race. Barrington edged out Oak St. by a point as Oak st. placed last in both relays.

Oak St., placing all but one event, finished 12½ points behind Barrington in the seventh grade division.

Sports Desk Wins Honors In Illinois

In the annual competition conducted by Illinois Associates of the Press Radio-TV association, the award for the best regularly scheduled sports show in the metropolitan Chicago division of competition, was given to WGN in recognition of the Tribune Sports Desk program.

The Sports Desk is conducted six times weekly by WGN as an early evening radio program with Jack Quinlan and Lou Boudreau handling the commentary.

Oak Park Federal Savings, Oak Park, Ill., sponsors the award winning program six months out of the year. The same team of commentators brings Oak Park Federal's baseball broadcasts to the entire Chicagoland area via the facilities of WGN radio.

Leaders Falter At Rob Roy; Low Net 34

The first four teams in Rob Roy Tuesday play lost by big scores Tuesday, June 2, with the result of tightening the league race and bunching the first six teams within three points of each other. Jacobs Hardware team, captained by Burt Casteel, took a 7-0 decision over Pankratz Driving Range. Other big winners were Smith & Dawson with 5; Prospect Heights Pharmacy with 6½; Statz & Associates with 6; Borchards with 6, and C. P. Flooring with 5.

All the scores were on the high side with only one player breaking forty. Low net of 34 for the evening was shared by H. Jackisch, Bob Johnson, and Pete Schenk. Following are the latest team standings:

Statz & Associates	26
Kirchhoff Insurance	25½
Dunteman's Dairy	25½
Jacobs Hardware	25
Prospect Hts. Pharmacy	23½
Prospect Hts. Service Sta.	23
Pankratz Driving Range	22½

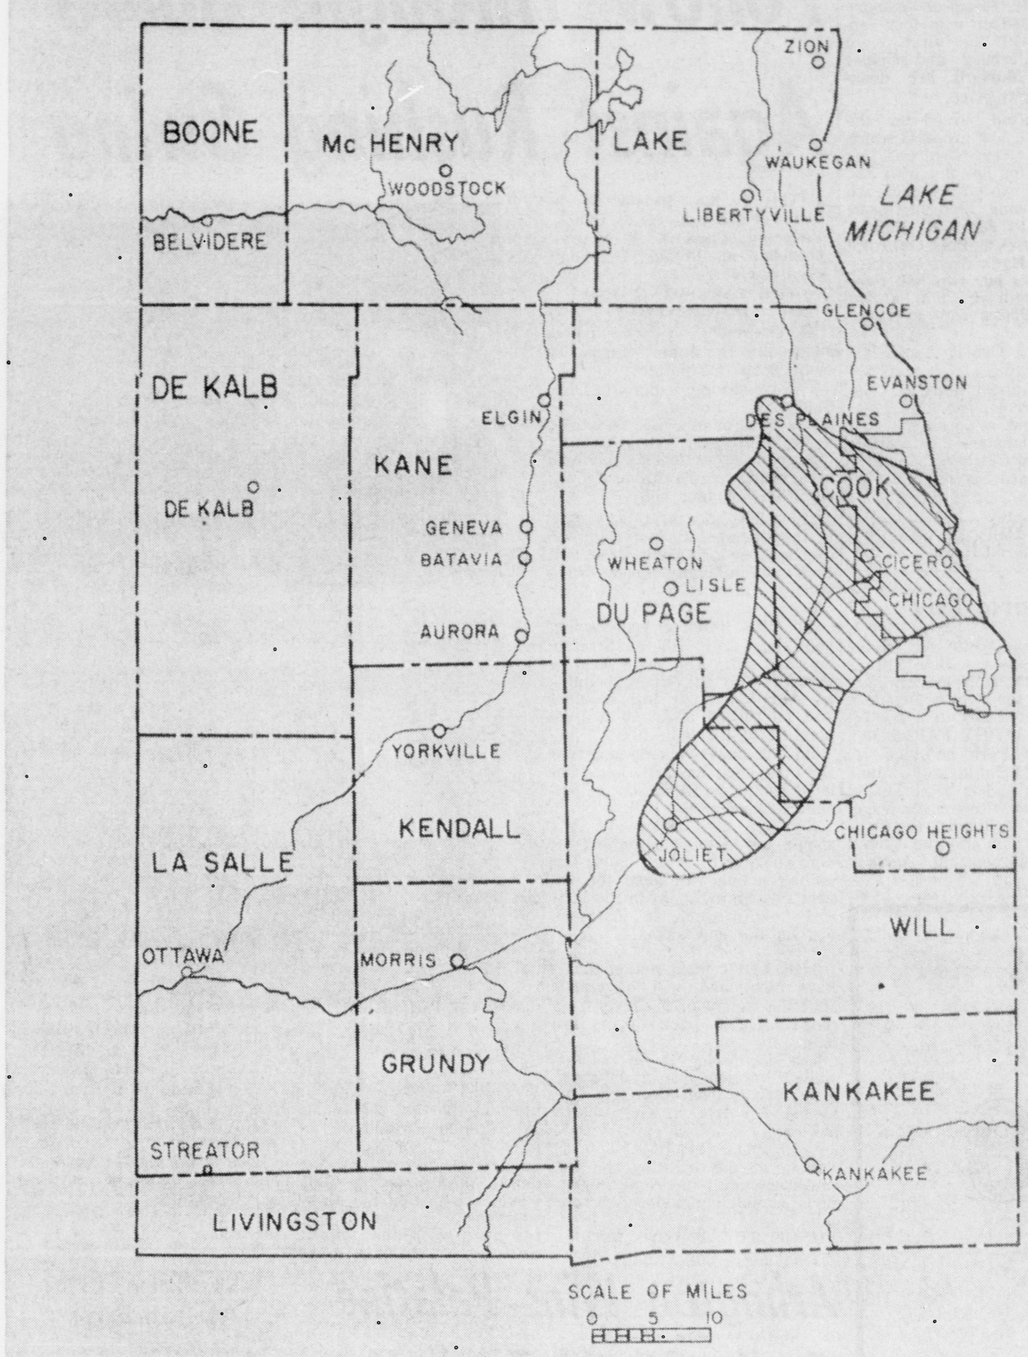
Water Crisis in Suburbs



WATER LEVELS in wells in the deep sandstone formation in the Chicago area have fallen steadily since the first deep artesian well was drilled in 1864. This is the result of the continuous increase of pumpage from the hundreds of wells in the area. The above map indicates the area of heavy pumpage where water-levels have fallen more than 600 feet. Although the amount of decline has been somewhat less, water levels have lowered in the surrounding areas as well.

Sprawling within a squirt of the world's sixth largest lake, Lake Michigan, 110 municipalities in the Chicago area, including many northwest suburban communities, are dependent upon wells for their water supplies.

And these wells are now being pumped at their maximum safe yield, according to a report issued this week by Illinois' Department of Registration and Education. Since the first artesian well was drilled in Chicago in 1864, the decline in water level has been 500 feet at Des Plaines and Elmhurst, more than 300 feet at Aurora, and about 275 feet along the Fox River Valley.

PUMPAGE of ground water in the metropolitan area has increased to a current withdrawal of more than 127 million gallons a day. Pumpage from Chicago wells, however, is less than it was in the peak year of 1924 just before many of the city's industries abandoned their wells in favor of Lake Michigan water. On the other hand, use of ground water by municipalities surrounding Chicago has increased 70 per cent in the last 10 years.

In 1957 about 78.9 million gallons per day were pumped for public use; 35.2 million gallons a day for industrial use; 13.1 million gallons a day for rural, non-irrigation use; and 0.6 million gallons a day for irrigation for farms, golf courses and cemeteries.

As a partial solution for the increasing demand for ground water in the area, the report suggests development of additional supplies from shallow sources such as glacial drift and underlying dolomite bedrock. The report indicates that these formations are capable of yielding water in far greater amounts than presently pumped.

THE AREA has three underground water sources. The deepest is the sandstone formations to which level the first artesian wells were dug. These wells, relied upon for nearly a hundred years, are being pumped at their maximum yield.

Above the sandstone formations are layers of limestone and dolomite, whose water supplies are replenished by rainfall seeping downward in areas west and northwest of the Chicago region.

Over these stone formations are the glacial deposits of boulders, sand and silt, remnants of the ice age that are steeped in water. The report notes there has been no decline of water levels in these shallow layers. This indicates, survey investigators point out, that the potential yield of the shallow layers is considerably larger than present pumpage.

Hansel and Gretel Players To Present 'Aladdin'

Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp plus Little Black Sambo will be presented by the Hansel and Gretel players of Arlington Heights June 14. There will be two complete performances at 1:30 and 4 at Miner Junior high school.

The Hansel and Gretel players are members of the Childrens Theatre conference of the American Educational Theatre association, planned and organized for natural creative expression.

This should be delightful Sunday entertainment for children and adults. The plays are geared at a professional level and since there is no guarantee of 2-year-olds behaviour on stage, the youngest member of the cast, there should be some interesting creative ad libbing, if not a void, in the cast. Mrs. Robert Coddington, an accomplished artist, has created and designed the sets for both plays. Mrs. Robert Randolph has the responsibility of the designs of costumes.

The program is planned by Lu Staahl's dramatic groups of Arlington Heights and Palatine. Mrs. Staahl and her talents are well known to the local village theatre patrons. She is a charter member of the Village Theatre having directed "Sleeping Beauty" and "Mr. Popper's Penguins."

Tickets will be on sale at the various shopping areas by members of the cast, in costumes. This should be a wonderful opportunity for children to see creative and organized entertainment geared at their level in Arlington Heights. Further information is available from Mrs. Patrick O'Dea, CL 3-6933, or Mrs. Staahl, CL 3-3037. (B9

Want Ads in 30,000 Homes

GROUND WAS BROKEN this week for a $550,000 addition and remodeling project which will expand the facilities at the Norwood Park Home by 50 beds—principally in the infirmary area—and provide new safety and comfort factors. The Home has been operated by the Norwegian Old Peoples Home Society since 1896 to care for elderly men and women. Taking part in the ceremony were Leonard G. Johnson (left), 405 S. Wille st., Mount Prospect, chairman of the executive committee of the society, and Dr. Larsandrew Dolan, 6734 Longmeadow ave., Lincolnwood, president of the society.

Basements Can Be Fireproofed

For about $250 the average homeowner can fireproof the basement and add to the fire safety factors of his entire house, according to Architect Frederick A. Thulin Jr. Thulin is a fire safety engineer as well as architect.

Fireproofing consists of spraying the basement ceiling joists with a blend of asbestos and mineral wool fibers, which is equivalent to the more expensive plaster in its effect of retarding fire. This cuts down the risk of basement started fires spreading to upper floors.

Using large, six inch minimum wood beams as main supports is more fire retardant than using exposed steel beams, this architect points out. The wood has a higher safety factor, will char under fire, but tends to hold up, whereas the steel softens and bends in fire under the same degrees of heat.

Another fire safety factor recommended by Thulin for multistory homes with staircases, is to enclose the stairwell if possible. Or at least, close off the upstairs with a door at the top of the stairs. This prevents the stairwell from acting like a chimney in a fire, furnishing draft and increasing the rapidity of the fire spread.

For maximum fire safety, this architect says there is nothing better than a sprinkler system installed throughout the house when first built. The cost for this overall protection however, might add as much as $500 or more to the construction budget. However, the advantage costwise secured through reduced fire insurance rates, would tend to balance this initial cost in a few years. An alternative would be to put the sprinkler system just in the basement if the house has one. (BB

Mt. Prospect Man Agent In Glenview

FREDERICK MOSIMAN

The recent appointment of two new Allstate agents in Glenview has been announced by R. C. Brazier, Illinois Regional Manager for Allstate Insurance companies. The new agents are Robert Macuba, 29, 1311 First st., Northbrook and Frederick M. Mosiman, 40, 6 South School st., Mt. Prospect.

Now staffing new office space shared with a local real estate firm at 1226 Waukegan rd., the agents are presently handling policy sales and service in the automobile, homeowners, fire, general liability, theft, boatowners, and other lines written by Allstate.

A native of Wisconsin, Macuba attended Lake Geneva High school and majored in economics at the University of Wisconsin. Following graduation with a B.S. degree in 1952, he had early business experience with Sears, Roebuck and company, in Chicago, where he served as a division manager until his present appointment.

Mosiman, a native of Chicago, was graduated from Lake View High school and gained business experience with a retail hardware association before joining Allstate.

The appointment of Macuba and Mosiman came as the climax to an intensive three-week training course the agents attended at the Allstate Midwest Zone Office in Skokie. (BB

140-Mile Pipeline Construction To Heat 41,500 Homes Under Way

Construction of Northern Illinois Gas company's 22-inch natural gas supply line between East Dubuque and Des Plaines is getting under way. Delivery of more than 140 miles of steel pipe on 815 railroad cars began last week to five stockpile points.

NI-Gas' new pipeline will transport 50 million cubic feet of natural gas per day from a connection with Northern Natural Gas Company's system near East Dubuque to NI-Gas' facilities near Des Plaines. The line is scheduled to be in operation by September 30.

NORTHERN NATURAL is extending its present gas transmission system from Iowa east across the Mississippi River to connect with Northern Illinois Gas' 140-mile pipeline at a point eight miles southeast of East Dubuque.

Permits based on the new supply were mailed by NI-Gas early in May to 41,500 on the gas house-heat waiting list following Federal Power Commission and Illinois Commerce Commission approvals of the project.

The large diameter pipe in 40-foot sections is being unloaded at five stockpile points near the general pipeline route:

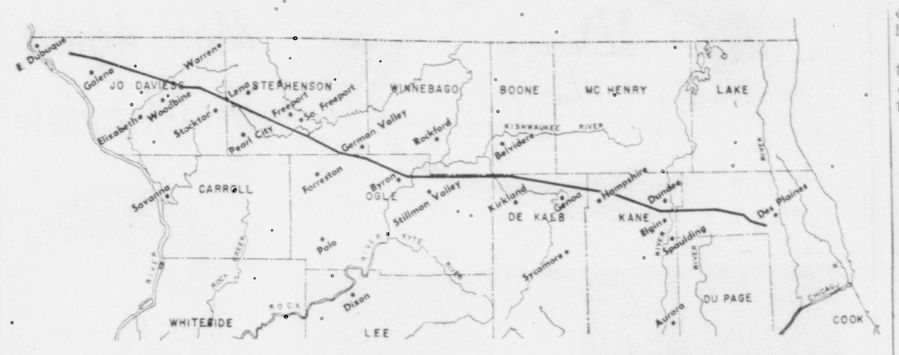
AT WOODBINE, 140 car loads were delivered late last week (about May 30);

At South Freeport, 175 car loads are arriving the middle of this week ((about June 3);

At Byron, 175 car loads will arrive early next week (about June 9);



MAP SHOWS ROUTE of Northern Illinois Gas company's 140-mile pipeline to bring 50 million cubic feet daily of new natural gas supply from Northern Natural Gas company terminus southeast of East Dubuque to NI-Gas facilities near Des Plaines. Enabling Northern Illinois Gas to release gas heat permits to 41,500 of its customers, the new line is scheduled to be in service by Sept. 30. Construction now is getting under way.

At Kirkland, 205 car loads will arrive late next week (about June 22); southeast of Elgin, 120 car loads will arrive the following week (about June 18).

AND AT SPAULDING, just

Starting the first week in June, the pipe will be trucked away from the stockpile points and placed end-to-end along the actual route of the line. Installation will begin in mid-June.

The pipeline will cost about $12,500,000, according to Loren W. Tuttle, vice president of Northern Illinois Gas. Contracts for installation of the line were let May 22 to the Contracting and Material Company, Evanston. The engineering and supervision of construction are being done for NI-Gas by Williams Brothers Company, Tulsa, Okla.

NI-GAS distributes natural gas to about 640,000 customers in 277 northern Illinois communities, according to Tuttle. About half of these customers use gas to heat their homes.

The utility has connected more than 260,000 residential gas heat customers to its system during the past 13 years, Tuttle said.

The new East Dubuque-Des Plaines pipeline supply, which enabled 41,500 gas heat permits to be released in early May, leaves only about 62,500 still on NI-Gas' waiting list. (BB

SETTLED IN THEIR NEW LOCATION and ready for business, four Arlington Heights agents (l. to r.), W. Curt Kenyon, Matthew Sopchyk, Donald O. Fetke, and Robert J. Chrabot, are shown standing before their office front at 110 North Evergreen st. The move into the new office building a month ago and the appointment of Kenyon and Chrabot as new full-time agents on the office staff followed the expansion of Allstate sales and service operations in the Arlington Heights area.

Expansion of Allstate operations in Arlington Heights, marked by the appointment of two full-time agents and a move into new quarters, has been announced by R. C. Brazier, Illinois Regional Manager. The additional facilities and personnel will increase the service available to an area that also includes the communities of Palatine, Mt. Prospect, Roselle, Wheeling, and Prospect Heights.

The new full-time agents are W. Curt Kenyon, 38, 313 North Brighton pl., Arlington Heights, and Robert J. Chrabot, 38, 2911 Cardinal, dr., Rolling Meadows. Working with Donald O. Fetke and Matthew J. Sopchyk, Allstate's other local agents, they are currently handling policy transactions in the new office building at 110 N. Evergreen st. As formerly, the Arlington Heights office provides 24-hour service to policyholders and potential customers in the automobile, homeowners, fire, general liability, theft, boatowners, and other insurance lines written by the company.

Chrabot served as a government employee and as a part-time agent for Allstate before his recent appointment. Originally from Chicago, he attended St. Michael Central High school and the Chicago Commerce, where he majored in accounting.

Chrabot is active in Rolling Meadows Post 1251 of the American Legion, where he has been Junior and Senior Vice Commander and is currently holding the office of Chaplain.

Mr. and Mrs. Chrabot have two children — Joseph, 5½, and Mary Frances, 2.

Kenyon attended Senn High School and Wright Junior College in his native city of Chicago. Following graduation from the University of Illinois with a B.S. degree in 1946, he continued in graduate school there and subsequently received a master's degree in agricultural economics. Later he served in the infantry during World War II.

Kenyon has had previous business experience as a salesman in Illinois and Iowa for a chemical company located in Chicago.

Kenyon and Mrs. Kenyon, the former Dorothy Smith of Peoria, have two children — Kimberly, 3, and Scott, 5.

The appointment of Chrabot and Kenyon followed an intensive three-week training program they attended in Allstate offices, Skokie. (BB

More TB Patients Treated At Less Cost in Suburbs

More patients were treated by The Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitary District in 1958 and at the same time the cost to taxpayers was less than the preceding year, it was reported by the directors this week.

In its annual published statement, the district reported 546 persons in hospital during the year, which compared with 511 in 1957 and 459 in 1956. Dr. Ralph G. Willy, board president, said that the cost of caring for these patients and for an increased load at the seven clinics as well, was met with a tax levy 20 per cent under 1957.

OUT-PATIENTS treated at the clinics as of Jan. 1, this year, included 1,260 receiving care and 1,310 incidental, it was reported. Clinic visits for therapy, tests and consultations totaled 37,702 in 1958, an increase of 5,580 over 1957.

A new clinic, in Harvey, was started last year and opened early this year. Facilities of the district's Hinsdale hospital-sanitarium also were expanded with the opening last October of a 51-bed wing for convalescent males. It is equipped for adult education, occupational therapy and rehabilitation to prepare patients for return to normal living.

NEW ACTIVE cases reported in the county suburbs during the year were 3.8 per cent above 1957-346 as compared with 333. This change, said Dr. Willy, is consistent with population growth in the area.

Marked increases in active cases occurred among children. In the ages under 5 there were 31 cases last year, as compared with seven. 1957, and in the 5 to 14 group there were 10 in 1958 and two in 1957. Primarily this was due to finding more young mothers with tuberculosis and also to intensive examination of persons in contact with TB cases, said Dr. Willy.

Altogether, hospital patients were given 66,546 days of care, at a cost of $1,317,852.50. Since 1955, it was reported, the average stay in hospital has decreased from 235.7 days to 162.9 days last year.

THE FREE CHEST x-ray program conducted by the district in cooperation with the Tuberculosis Institute and local suburban health departments x-rayed 275,910 persons last year. This was fewer than in 1957 because tuberculin testing replaced x-raying in schools.

Of the total x-ray films, 6,049 showed signs of some type of chest pathology, it was reported, and up to March 1, this year, 80 had revealed active tuberculosis.

Among the larger suburbs, the number of hospitalized cases in each of the last five years was as follows:

Town	1954	1955	1956	1957	1958
Arlington Heights	6	8	8	8	9
Berwyn	24	19	18	13	22
Blue Island	19	14	10	9	10
Brookfield	8	5	5	9	11
Calumet City	11	6	6	18	13
Chicago Heights	25	20	20	16	18
Cicero	42	44	56	49	50
Des Plaines	13	13	13	18	15
Elmwood Park	11	3	4	6	4
Evanston	46	49	37	55	42
Forest Park	8	8	10	10	9
Harvey	16	13	12	14	12
LaGrange	9	7	7	9	14
Maywood	17	20	26	26	29
Melrose Park	22	21	16	22	19
Oak Lawn	15	21	21	19	10
Oak Park	33	18	15	35	32
Oak Ridge	10	7	10	10	11
Robbins	13	11	12	10	3
Skokie	7	7	4	11	15

As for today's TB picture, the foreword to the annual report states:

"TUBERCULOSIS is killing fewer people every year. It is not a terrible killer now — but it is still a terrible chronic disease. In our area, the number of new cases reported each year remains about the same. There is no dramatic increase or decrease.

"An attitude of optimism prevails now, as though tuberculosis were a thing of the past. Many feel we have reached an irreducible minimum of cases. This attitude bodes serious consequences. 'Just about licked' is not good enough.

"Tuberculosis is potentially just as deadly as ever — a little neglect, less favorable conditions, public apathy — and we could reap serious consequences.

"IT IS TRUE that some sanitoria have closed and some case-finding methods have become obsolete. Today there is no drama to catch the public interest. But — the man who is a new case statistic is a man who has to give up his job, leave his home and family and enter a sanitarium. To him 'just about licked' is not good enough. To 346 such persons in suburban Cook county in 1958 an old scourge was a new and terrible enemy." (BB

What Does Future Hold For Suburban Newlyweds?

Lois and Don are a young couple who plan to be married this summer. They will settle down in a small apartment in Evanston, a suburb of Chicago.

How well do their personal plans fit in with what university studies and sociological statistics say will happen to them during their married life?

They want four children. The statistical average is 3.4. They want eventually to build their own home. The sociologists say they will move four times, and their "silver anniversary move" may be back to the city.

Paddock Publications takes you through the next thirty years or so and see what lies ahead for them and for thousands of other Americans who will soon be young marrieds in suburbia in the June issue of the colorgravure supplement, "Suburbia Today."

JUNE IS vacation month, and there is a story about the hazards involved in leaving your house unprotected from burglars while you are away — and an outline on how to burglar-proof your house before you leave.

There is also a first-hand account of a man who left the turmoil of the hurried and harried commuter's pace for a job close to home. He now saves over a thousand hours a year in traveling time alone, which he turns into a thousand hours more free time with his family.

"A Summer to Grow On" speaks for the children, and urges us to provide enough space and air and solitude this summer to give them room to grow in — spiritually as well as physically.

OUR FOOD pages feature a complete menu for a bridal shower. Add a wedding cake and the festive menu would serve for a wedding reception as well.

"It's Not Too Late To Plant Your Rose Garden," says John Brimer, and shows us how, by waiting till summer, you can choose your roses by color as well as variety.

We are pleased to introduce a new department — "Unusual Suburban Homes," this month featuring the Maine residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barber — Blueberry Ledge. You will also find the best of the month's new books, movies and records; and a full page of cartoons that may convince you to rush right out to your pool and boat dealer — or that may cause you to run for the hills.

The June issue winds up with Cross-Country Classified, which this month tells you where to find a way of dry cleaning your pets a kit that makes you an expert chrome-replater in seconds, a paper doll that has your own little girl's face on it, and many, many other useful and amusing items.

"Suburbia Today" will be distributed next week with all editions of Paddock Publications.

Social Security Lesson For Elk Grove Home Bureau

The May 27 meeting of the Elk Grove Home Bureau unit was held at the home of Mrs. Henry Wille, 55 W. Wille rd., Des Plaines. The topic of discussion for this meeting was "Your Stake In Social Security," given by Mrs. Claradehl Upham, County Home Adviser. A great many people do not realize that the Social Security law is changed from time to time and that it would be time well spent to check up on these changes to see that one's Social Security account is still in effect to his credit and not being applied to someone else's account.

If one earns $1,200 a year, partial security benefit is lost, but if one earns more than $2,081.01, all security benefit is lost. This pertains to those in the retirement bracket, between 65 and 72 years of age. A retired person over 72 years of age may have unlimited earnings and still receive social security benefits.

To find out more detailed information, a person should contact the nearest social security district office.

Mrs. Upham made a suggestion that our tour next year be extended a few more days, so as to be able to visit a city like Detroit, Mich., and its nearby points of interest. No definite agreement had been reached, so it will be discussed at a later meeting.

Homemakers' camp begins Friday, June 26, Vsiting day for friends and relatives is Sunday, June 28. Reservations should be in by June 10. Mrs. Edwin Deeke is in charge for reservations.

Mrs. Robert Scheunemann, a neighbor of Mrs. George Koelper, was the only guest this month.

At the annual North Cook county Play day at Rand Park in Des Plaines May 26, 15 units' members and guests attended, bringing the attendance to several hundred women. Mrs. Upham announced that the Rand park field house would probably be too small for next year's gathering, so would welcome suggestions for a larger location. Nine Elk Grove unit members and one guest attended.

The booths of the different units were attractively displayed; themes being on lessons had or handicrafts made by unit members. The theme for Elk Grove unit was the lesson on outdoor cooking. Mrs. Herbert Sietman, Mrs. Robert Wagner, Mrs. Harry Wille, Mrs. Marvin Busse, Mrs. Edwin Deeke and Mrs. Clarence Heinkel were the able landscapers and designers for this theme.

Mrs. W. H. Davis was the mistress of ceremonies, presenting the program and introducing the members from several other units who gave group skits. At noon, a potluck lunch was served. Mrs. Noel Foss, Mrs. Herbert Sietmann, Mrs. Arnold Scharringhausen, and Mrs. Thomas Sullivan of Elk Grove unit helped serve the food with members of the East Maine unit.

Closing the program, Mrs. R. Heinkel of the Riverview Unit, gave an instructive demonstration on using flowers from the garden for decorative purposes in the home.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Oltrogge, 1506 W. Algonquin rd., Arlington Heights June 24 at 7:30 p.m.

4-H'ers Plan New Plat Book Drive

Wednesday, May 27, marked the beginning of a campaign by 4-H members that should be of vital interest to all people living in Du Page county areas. The date began the kickoff of the drive to sell the new DuPage County Plat books. These books contain detailed maps of all the farms and cities in the county, land ownership, boundary lines, zoning and school districts.

The new Plat Book has many features that the old one did not contain, such as the rural numbering system and index to land owners. All in all these Plat Books will be of valuable asset to farmers, businessmen and anyone who moves about. They can be obtained from 4-H members and will also be sold at various public places.

Proceeds of the sale of these books will be used to establish a recreation field at the fairgrounds.

Clothing Talks For TNT 4-H

Talks on clothing were given by Karen Lemke and Shirley Mueller at the May 25 meeting of TNT 4-H club. The meeting was held in the home of Alice Miller and also included a discussion of tours and demonstrations by Alice Bollmann on meats, Bonnie Pahlman on flower arranging and Cheryl Tasche on the ABC's of food.

Next meeting of TNT will be held in the home of Pat Mortenson, when demonstrations will be given by Lois Landmeier, Carol Loeding, Karen Lemke and Bonnie Pahlman, Talks will be given by Janet Kramer, Judy Wille, Christine Gates and Sarah Carter.

Up and Doing 4-H Hears Talks

The meeting of the Up and Doing 4-H club was held May 19 at 7 p.m. in Sandra Moehling's home. Talks were given by Dolores Thon on "Party-a-Month" and by Virginia Witt on "You Make Your Own Clothes."

Demonstrations were given by Linda Kryse on "ABCs of Food," by Mary Haseman on "It's Fun to Cook" and by Karen Jensen and Rose Machling on "Adventures in Cooking." Refreshments were served by Carol Moehling and Arlene Mueller.

Steve Names Heights Girl Hinkey Honey

Television personality Steve Allen has named six Carroll college coeds, including one from Arlington Heights, as this year's "Hinky Honies" in the annual contest sponsored each year by the school's yearbook. The yearbook, which was distributed May 27, features full page pictures of each girl.

Each year, a prominent personality selects Carroll's most attractive girls from a number of photographs sent by the yearbook staff. In making his selection, Allen wrote: "It was a most difficult task because all the girls pictured in the photographs were lovely."

JANET DAVIS

This year's "Hinky Honies" are: Marilyn Fuchs, Rt. 5, box 156, Waukesha, Wis.; Sharon Williams, Wauwatosa, Wis.; Eloise Wendell, Delavan, Wis.; Michaelee Moran, West Salem, Wis.; Judith Prokash, Algoma, Wis.; and Janet Davis, 408 N. Evergreen, Arlington Heights.

The name "Hinky Honies" is derived from the yearbook's name "Hinakaga" which means "owl" in the Indian language.

At Harding

Ronald Goemmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Goemmer, 709 S. Elmhurst, Mt. Prospect, received the bachelor of arts degree at the Harding college commencement exercises May 28 in Searcy, Ark.

RONALD GOEMMER

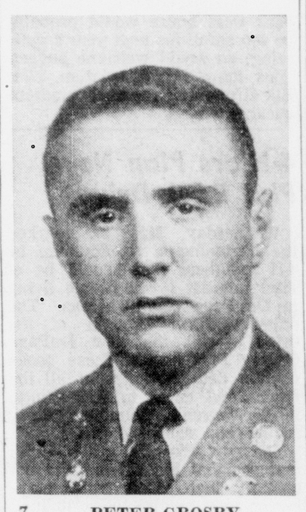
Goemmer was graduated from Arlington high school in 1955. A social science major at Harding, he was named to the honor roll for the last semester.

At Illinois Tech

Melvin M. Meyer, rt. 3., and George R. Schlaffer, 139 S. Ashland ave., Palatine; Roger J. Thomas, 116 W. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights; and Franklin L. Zollner, rt. 2, Ellis ave., Bensenville, have been named to the dean's list at Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago.

Meyer, a senior, is in the chemical engineering department; Schlaffer, a freshman, is in physics; Thomas, a senior, is in industrial engineering; and Zollner is a junior in the electrical engineering department.

Shattuck Graduate



..7 PETER GROSBY

Dates for the 101st Anniversary Commencement at Shattuck school, Faribault, Minn., are June 5, 6, and 7.

Members of the senior class are from 19 states and Canada.

Included in the senior class is: Peter Grosby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon H. Grosby, Ela road, Hickory Woods, Palatine.

He is a sergeant in the ROTC unit, member of the business staff of the yearbook and has lettered in football and swimming. (CC

At Colorado State

Patricia Wolfe of 311 N. Elmhurst ave., Mt. Prospect, was elected to membership in Spur, sophomore women's honorary society at Colorado State university, Fort Collins.

Selected on the basis of scholarship, activities and character, the freshmen women chosen to be members of Spur next year will be initiated in a formal initiation ceremony later this spring.

Patricia, a freshman humanities student, was also elected secretary of the Associated Women Students organization on campus.

At Grinnell

Patricia Freter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Freter, 115 S. Fremont st., Palatine, is one of 49 students at Grinnell college who have been chosen as group leaders for New Student days next fall.

As a student leader, she will head a group of incoming freshmen and help orient them to the activities of the college during their first week on campus.

A sophomore this year, Miss Freter is a 1957 graduate of Palatine high school.

At Northern

Carol Ogdon, 531 W. North st., Itasca and Lois Nensel, 246 South st., Elmhurst have been selected for the 1959-60 staff of "Northern Star" weekly student newspaper at Northern Illinois University.

Both will serve as staff reporters.

At Illinois Masonic

At Marmion

Cadet Lt. Michael Y. Oester, son of Dr. and Mrs. Y. T. Oester, 300 E. Berkshirt, Mt. Prospect, is a member of the 1959 graduating class at Marmion Military Academy in Aurora. He will receive his diploma Friday, June 5, from the Right Rev. Gerald Benkert, OSB, abbot and president of Marmion Military academy.

CADET OESTER

His school activities included: tennis team, drill team, dramatics, Officers club, school newspaper, yearbook, and Monogram club.

He plans to attend the University of Notre Dame.

Lawrence Graduates

Corinne Niemz, 606 S. Mitchell ave.; and Richard Malcomson, 727 S. Belmont ave., Arlington Heights, will be among a class of 140 to receive bachelor's degrees on June 7, during Lawrence college's 110th commencement ceremonies on the Appleton, Wis., campus.

The graduation service will have Ben W. Heineman, chairman of the Chicago and North Western Railway of Wausau, Wis., as its principal speaker, while the baccalaureate sermon on the morning of the same day will be preached by President Douglas M. Knight, eleventh head of Lawrence.

Miss Niemz will receive a bachelor of arts degree with a major in Spanish.

She is a member of Alpha Delta Pi social sorority, which she has served as house chairman and corresponding secretary. She has participated in the social and homecoming committees, the Spanish club, and the Schola Cantorum. She also has worked on the staff of the college yearbook.

Malcomson will receive a bachelor of arts degree with a major in economics.

He is a member of Phi Delta Theta, of which he has been house manager and treasurer. He has also been on the campus newspaper staff.

At Marquette

Miss Linda Mann, a sophomore at Marquette university, Milwaukee, was invited to attend the convocation of honor students at Marquette University Union house May 17.

Linda was recently elected vice president of the Campus Carnivals of 1960, and instead of coming home from school for the summer, plans to be a junior counselor at a Girl Scout camp in Green Bay, Wis.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Mann, 304 E. Fairview, Arlington Heights. (CC

At Miami

Linda A. Hackbarth of 404 W. Hawthorne st., Arlington Heights, was one of 180 Miami university students who were cited at the annual recognition assembly May 23 on the Oxford, Ohio, campus. Miss Hackbarth was cited for her work received in a Women's Recreation Association scholarship.

New F-108 Is Named Rapier

The United States Air Force today announced a name for its as yet unveiled F-108. Called the "Rapier," the 2000-mile range, mach-3 fighter-interceptor will become part of the Air Defense Command's deterrent forces.

Chosen from 38,000 entries sponsored by the ADC and North American Aviation, builders of the F-108, the Rapier will begin service in the early 1960's.

For his winning entry, Indianapolis-born Staff Sergeant Charles B. Wyon, now stationed at Ent Air Force Base, Colorado Springs, Colo., will receive a $500 War Bond and for him and his wife an all expenses paid trip to Las Vegas.

Previous North American fighters have been named "Sabre" with the latest being the F-100 "Super Sabre." "Rapier," another sword, is a narrow two-edged weapon used for thrusting. The name aptly fits the long range and tremendous striking power of the F-108. (WUS

The Way We See It

Why Districts Should Merge

These are never story book romances; in fact, school consolidations are viewed in the harsh light of economic reality, more often representing marriages of convenience.

And no matter how flirtatious or alluring smaller school districts become, these unions of school districts in Cook county have been limited to occasional wooings.

In fact, the majority of school mergers are more like "shot-gun" weddings. As a result of county survey committees' recommendations, a wave of courtships occurred in 1949, reducing the 12,000 separate school districts which had existed in the state to 1,849.

Now, legislative pressure is again to be exerted by a proposed senate bill (No. 385) which would make reorganization surveys mandatory in counties whose total number of school districts is greater than 20 per cent of these 1945 figures. This would affect both Cook and DuPage counties.

But chief stumbling block to a trip to the altar, according to the Cook county superintendent of schools' office, is that consolidation cuts districts' bonding power in half. The state constitution insists that a school district's bonding power be equal to five per cent of its assessed valuation; by merging, a mathematical subtraction occurs, reducing what two districts separately could figure as 10 per cent in assessments. It would take a constitutional amendment to change this unhappy fact. (Although the smaller district usually benefits by its absorption into a wealthier district.)

This is what makes larger school districts reluctant suitors. But it also acts to the detriment of the smaller districts whose bonding power is never sufficient to meet expanding needs.

It has created in such school districts as District 24 (a one-school district, Wilson school, located just north of Arlington Heights) what school officials describe as "a constant state of emergency," with enrollment forever outdistancing assessed valuation.

This, paradoxically, however, is what is also plaguing larger suburban school districts. The suburbs' exploding population, with its accompanying building boom, has conspired with the fact that residences do not appear on tax rolls until two years after they are constructed, further complicating school budgets and future planning.

With the larger districts, such as Elk Grove District 59, experiencing unparalleled expansions, it becomes evident to see why they are hesitant to have their bonding power suddenly reduced to half by a merger with a poorer mate.

But what smaller districts find even more unpalatable about their situation is that they have little room for expansion. Feehanville school district 26 (situated between Prospect Heights and Des Plaines) exhausted its bonding power with an $80,000 bond issue floated to build seven additional classrooms last fall. Only four square miles in size, Feehanville finds itself in the uncomfortable position of occupying farm land which is being developed at such a rapid rate that 2,000 homes are expected to be erected there within the next five years.

And most of the land in the school district has been sold without provisions for additional school sites as yet.

Surprisingly, most smaller school districts in the northwest suburban area are solvent. Forest View school district 56 has an assessed valuation of $23,000 per pupil. But more graphically illustrating its plight is the fact that 34 children enrolled in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades share one room. Wilson school had to partition a basement for more classroom space.

While the Forest View district is probably starting to feel like the girl in the deodorant ads (it has negotiated with Arlington Heights, Elk Grove and Mt. Prospect for merger), the Wilson and Feehanville schools remain uncommitted about consolidation.

Arlington Heights' school board feels that if it did consolidate with the Forest View district, the merger would have to carry the condition that the village annex the property in the smaller district's four-square miles to eliminate the dangers of spot zoning.

But it also sees the need for having communities and school districts displaying fairly consistent and compatible boundaries, instead of the present geographic and jurisdictional confusion which exists.

State and county officials also recognize a need for seeking more sensible district contours for what is called a "hodge-podge" of high school, consolidated, community consolidated and unit school districts.

For consolidation means a four-fold improvement: 1) it spells out better, more uniform instruction, with more educational tools such as libraries and supplementary references available; 2) it means principals and supervisors can be employed to conduct in-service training programs for teachers, for curriculum studies and guidance services; 3) it offers pupils more opportunity to participate in band, orchestra, glee club, and intramural and inter-scholastic athletics; 4) it adds up to a more equitable distribution of the tax revenue secured from real and personal property, often making possible tax benefits obtained from railroads and industry even through people live in exclusively residential areas, in the process giving the enlarged district greater financial resources.

These officials favor unit districts (combined high school-elementary) because it allows for a total educational philosophy to be pursued from grades one through 12. It is also a more favorable situation from the standpoint of state aid, since the tax levy of such a combined district need only be 62 cents per pupil as compared to 50 cents each for a divided high school and elementary district before state equalization aid is received.

Mergers — like marriages — have thorns hidden among the roses. But they are the only means educators now have at their disposal to knot a loosely-knit, slovenly system into a more workable whole.

Health Problems

After some deliberation and study of the situation in Wood Dale's public school system and conditions, I decided to add a few of my own ideas and efforts of research to the program. I call it "Thoughts for Digestion" and sincerely hope that it will be possible to have it included in your Letters to the Fence Post.

After reading and listening to the many pro and con issues concerning the bond issue for the expansion of the Wood Dale public school system, I felt that the basic issues were being overlooked. To me as a father, Wood Dale homeowner, and as an Optometrist who sees visual problems daily, the major issues are the effect of present conditions upon the children themselves. Poor and improper school environment affect many important functions of the child; The environment may produce changes in posture, vision, physical health, and others which in turn reduce the ability of the child to function properly in his school work and create a reduction in achievement.

I'm sure that when an architect designs a classroom, he does so with a certain number of students as a maximum. He then considers lighting, heating, ventilation, school activities and many other things so as to provide proper conditions for the school child. Protection from sunlight glare, shadows, improper seating arrangements must be considered. Provision for good observation ability for teaching aids, etc. must be considered. If the situation arises where the number of students exceeds that for which the room was designed then some children will be forced to work under conditions which will require adaptations in their body, visual and other functions in order to achieve at their scholastic work. These body, visual and functional changes will produce a lowered efficiency and ability to learn.

Dr. Gesell of the Gesell Institute and Dr. D. B. Harmon of the Texas State department of health have shown that a child functions better, achieves better in school, and is physically, visually, and emotionally better when he has the proper school conditions in which to work. They have proven that poor classroom conditions produce adaptations which affect the body function as well as learning ability. The following figures are taken from the research of Dr. Harmon which covered 15 years and covered many areas in the country. The school facilities were varied in type and age. The children of this study were examined thoroughly before and six months after being put in ideal classroom conditions and environment.

Problem Studied	% of cases before	% of cases 6 mos. later
Nutrition Problem	71.3%	37.2%
Chronic Infection	75.2%	42.6%
Visual Difficulties	53.3%	18.6%
Posture Problems	30.2%	22.4%
Chronic Fatigue	20.9%	9.3%

These figures are an average for the whole school. Studies in other localities showed similar results. There are many statistics which could be quoted but these are the most startling, and important in the lives of our children.

These, to me, are the important issues when such a project is to be considered, and should be given careful consideration before reaching a conclusion. The first few years of a child's education are important to give these future citizens the start they need in their life of education to prepare them to meet the many problems they are going to meet in the years to come.

Tax Warrants

Re: Last week's "Tax Warrant" item by Trustee A. R. Moberg.

Now that "Hopeful Citizen" has Moberg's reason for his reluctance to be a rubber stamp, it appears "Hopeful Citizen" now can feel secure that Palatine will not become a laughing stock if the three recently elected Trustees can prevent it, but—the vote on this issue was a 4 : 3 ratio, with the old gang on top. If this is an inference that vote pattern will follow along this initial exhibition of solidarity, on both sides, then it should become quite clear to "Hopeful Citizen" that the public still has a job to do, come next election day. Perhaps "Hopeful Citizen" can answer the four intelligent questions given as Moberg's reasons for his no vote, also his other two colleagues, if not let's hear from the other, the yes men on this board. The public is interested. (Also why the issue was not given to the board before the vote.) Steamrolling cannot exist without it being clearly seen, from now on, is certain.

Borrowing from future income certainly is a serious matter, even when necessary, and usually a discussion on a matter like this, before a vote, can be a fact finding exposure of the basic reason for the dilemma, of those wanting future income, ahead of time. I say: Orchids for Moberg and his other two colleagues, for their very sensible realization they were being ignored.

"Parks for Palatine."

Orchids also to "Resident" in the same issue of the Palatine Enterprise who commented on "Parks for Palatine" bond issue defeat. At present "Deer Grove" will suffice and "Resident" said a mouthful, why this is so. It seems quite evident the people make correction for incompetence in government, quite readily, when the opportunity presents itself.

Actually the observation is: in these breech-busting suburbs—that we get too many inexperienced part time politicians, aspiring egotists, politically bent and undedicated servants, who every time they open their mouth they get their foot into it, or if they try to think, they stumble over their brains.

Party Planner

We called "Here's Haugh to Plan a Party" for ideas concerning a dinner party given on May 2.

Since this date fell on Derby Day, our decor and games followed in that theme.

On the Monday following we received in the mail Thank You notes from all guests complimenting the originality in an evening filled with delightful and splendid entertainment. The presenting of gifts as suggested fitted the particular occasion. Our party was a pronounced success.

So-o-o-o let's give credit so well deserved.

A Derby Day Host and Hostess

Noble Purpose

I recently witnessed an incident that left such a deep impression with me that it moves me to call it to public attention.

A man collapsed at the railroad station in Palatine and the volunteer fire department was notified of this emergency. Within five minutes their pulmotor squad was at the scene administering oxygen to the unfortunate man.

As I witnessed with my own eyes that such help is available in an extreme emergency where the balance of life hangs on a thread and every moment of saving that life is dependent on the efficient help such as the volunteer fire department can offer, my heart and my mind was filled with gratitude for the brotherhood of man, which the volunteer fire department evidenced by their immediate and life-saving assistance.

I, as a citizen, wish to publicly acknowledge this wonderful work by the volunteer fire department performers who respond to calls in all kinds of weather, at any hour, and under any circumstances, and who give of themselves so willingly despite the fact that they receive no remuneration for their work.

I thank them for their humanity—I salute them for their noble purpose.

Youth Is Tops

To the Concerned Reader—on his Civilized Decay:

I would like to assure "Concerned Reader" that there is no possibility that the people of Arlington Heights will call him an "alarmist." The only alarm that can be felt or spoken is that any person "only six years removed" could have forgotten so quickly the importance in everyday life of a normal amount of fun and diversion from a year of hard study. Maybe you haven't forgotten—maybe you are one of those rare unfortunates who never has and never will get genuine wholesome pleasure out of living and who is irritated at seeing others enjoy life. Your statements make it obvious that your life to this point has been a failure, and you, apparently, have no hope for the future. It appears that your five years of intensive schooling since high school were entirely too intense for you, as I am sure its purpose was to prepare you for good, sound, well-rounded citizenship.

In the first place, if you had bothered to get the full facts, you could not have written such a critical letter—a little information is quite often dangerous. All you could comprehend was that the parents were preparing an elaborate Junior-Senior prom, and the cost was $18,000. What you evidently don't know is that the number one purpose of all these plans was safety for the girls and boys with more pleasure and fun at a great deal less cost per couple than the average prom and after-prom expense (remember, there were between 1,200 and 1,300 girls and boys to be considered when thinking only of the one figure—$18,000.)

These boys and girls came to the prom, enjoyed the dancing, the soft drinks and refreshments, the show, the food, the train ride (to the music of two combos), the boat ride, the games, and the trip home. There was no getting into cars after the dance, driving to Chicago to a night club, eating, and again getting into cars and driving home in the early hours of the morning. A thousand times the efforts and expense were cheap if one life was saved or one body was protected from being mangled in a car accident. It could have happened enroute to or from Arlington Heights, and unfortunately, it did happen further downstate with the loss of seven students in an accident after their prom.

Had you been able to speak firsthand, you could never have said that Arlington High students were "for the most part immature and unstable" (it is too bad that we can't see ourselves as others see us.) Had you been there, as I was, you would have seen the finest group of clean-cut, gentlemanly boys and the prettiest, most lady-like girls ever assembled under one roof. They were, and acted like the real young ladies and young men that they are—an intelligent group of strong character, laying aside their school work for a night of good, clean fun.

Next to mental training, one of the great values associated with schooling is the pleasant associations formed and the friendships made. In the formation of these, character is built and knowledge gained as to how to live with and understand other people and their point of view. I am sure they are all a great deal more tolerant of you than you of them.

How anyone, regardless of mental stamina, can preach doom and gloom to our nation because of a once-a-year prom and other reasonably-spaced fun activities during the year for our high school students actually amazes me.

Is it possible that a person can go from youth to senility without ever reaching the mature period? I wonder, when you speak of "such a state of affairs."

The American youth is tops, and I for one am happy and relieved to know that our country's future is in their capable hands. Arlington Heights' youth is a definite part of American youth and will contribute healthily to the overall.

CTA Tax

I noticed in your May 21 issue of the Rolling Meadows Herald an article entitled "Chicago Hasn't Forgotten Northwest Suburbs: Daley" and I should say he hasn't . . . nor has he forgotten any other part of Illinois! The idea of wanting everyone in Illinois to pay for the CTA through real estate and more gas tax is certainly unfair! We never ride the CTA as my husband works in another town and drives to work—our car insurance is higher because the town is a certain number of miles away, we use more taxed gas to get there—but we haven't requested the citizens of Chicago to be taxed to help us pay the high insurance or the gas, which would make just as much sense as for them to tax us for something we do not use.

My folks live in Rolling Meadows too and it costs them $85.00 per month just to get to and from work. Two tickets on the North Western (plus 10 per cent tax—as if having to work was a luxury), one rides the CTA bus which is 50 cents per day, parking in Arlington, and gas which is highly taxed already. They also pay high taxes for schools (without complaint) with no children of school age, and personal property tax, which none of us had received a bill for in Chicago (or Skokie) where we lived most of our lives until four years ago when we moved here.

Our real estate taxes have increased almost $200 in those four years and will be going up again this year with two much needed schools being built. I want my daughter to have a decent education and I realize that we must be taxed for the schools, but I just can't see why we in the suburbs should have to support the CTA! They didn't need support when the transportation system was privately owned. Why can't they operate on a budget like we who live on salaries alone must do. We just get so much money per week and we have to live on it or cut out some luxuries, waste and sometimes even necessities. With taxes on income so high and not coming down, real estate and personal property taxes getting higher all the time, higher sales tax, high gasoline tax, wartime luxury tax still on purses, luggage, traveling, phone, make-up and deodorants (this is a luxury?) and taxes on cigarettes and liquors, which we personally do not use, how can we afford any more? How much are we Americans going to put up with? Where is the old stuff our forefathers were made of?

How about the suburbanites gathering together to oppose our being taxed, in any way, for the CTA? After all it's our money they're after—let's fight for it!

71 Years Young

Enclosed check for $4 for one year's delivery service for Mt. Prospect Herald. I used to get it at the drug store, but we like to have same delivered.

If your paper would be interested in short stories free:

Why we moved to the suburb from Chicago;

Am 71 years young—how to enjoy old age;

Have a 100x200-foot estate — hobbies are gardening and flowers;

I retire at 11 p. m., up every morning (seven days a week) at 5 a. m.;

My folks came from Germany before the Chicago fire—sailed seven weeks on the ocean to come to America—raised seven boys, owed $200 for the voyage here and retired from shoe business—taught us boys to buy property and invest first saving in first mortgages—after three years to buy own property;

My kid days I got $2.95 a week, six days of 10 hours each—I said to my employer make it $3 a week, and he said that was too much money for a young man—I started to shine shoes in a barber shop, Wednesday nights from 6 to 9, Saturday, noon to 10 p. m., Sunday 9 a. m. to 3 p. m., and made $8 to $9.

When I bought our present ranch home it was all farm around four years ago and our friends said you live in the sticks. Now it is a different story, they stay till midnight.

Sigh of Relief

Congratulations on your editorial on "dog-control." We gave a sigh of relief at some effort toward alleviating this nuisance.

Like you, we like animals but feel they must not be permitted to be a menace to health or property.

We are newcomers and bought a home in an attractive excellent neighborhood where people are educated and intelligent and supposed to be considerate—about 90 per cent of them—many who are dog owners are most thoughtful and are disguested with the small per cent who are not.

There are those who dare to ignore the ordinance (especially after dark) and permit the dog to run loose, or they tie them and allow them to bark all day or night. We are speculating which condition is more unpleasant.

Many suburbs have the situation well controlled. Seems to us a few "stiff" fines might be effective for this area.

We are sure that those who are responsible for the best welfare of this lovely suburb will take heed.

Wise Decision

I was very pleased to read that you were the 1958 winner of the Illinois Editor-of-the-Year award. I congratulate you and the Illinois Press association for the wisdom of its decision.

Every week I go through your paper page by page and marvel at your ability to produce such a fine publication. My only wonder is why you don't go semi-weekly.

My interest, of course, is increased because of the presence on your able staff of several former Medill students. I know, from having helped place graduates on many other newspapers, that it is impossible for bright young men to live up to their capacities without sympathetic and intelligent guidance. That you have provided in abundance. Again, congratulations.

Dairy Association Meets June 15-17

Welcome signs are being posted for members of the American Dairy Association as they gather for their 54th annual meeting at the University of Illinois June 15-17.

This year about 1,500 to 1,800 persons are expected to attend, according to G. W. Salisbury, head of the host university's Department of Dairy Science. More than 200 scientific papers will be presented during five special sessions.

HIGHLIGHTING the meeting will be an address of welcome by UI President David D. Henry and presentation of the association's awards for outstanding research, teaching and extension activities.

The association was founded on the Champaign-Urbana campus on July 17, 1906, by the late Prof. W. J. Fraser, then head of the Department of Dairy Husbandry. Charter membership was 19, six of whom were from the University of Illinois, including Prof. Fraser and the late Dean Eugene Davenport.

Founded to promote teaching and the application of science to one of the nation's basic food industries, the association is now the world's leading scientific society in the dairy field. It now numbers more than 2,400 members in the United States and Canada, in addition to a non-member subscriber list of more than 2,000 others to its official publication, The Journal of Dairy Science.

THE UNITED Kingdom and Japan lead in numbers of non-member Journal subscriptions, but there is a substantial mailing behind the Iron Curtain, Salisbury reports. E. E. Herreid, UI professor of dairy technology, is Journal editor.

The association conducts its annual meeting in June on the campus of one of the nation's land-grant universities. The first and 25th meetings were held at the University of Illinois.

The UI now has more recipients of the association's scientific awards than any other American university. Profs. Stewart L. Tuckey, Paul H. Tracy, Herreid and Salisbury are all holders of the Borden award for their achievements in dairy science. (Fm

Floriculture Program Revised At Illinois

A completely revised and expanded curriculum in floriculture and ornamental horticulture will be offered this fall by the University of Illinois.

This curriculum, explains C. J. Birkeland, head, Department of Horticulture, provides a well-rounded education for a career in the rapidly growing florist and nursery industries.

FOR EXAMPLE, excellent training will be offered for flower-shop employment and ownership. Top-notch flower designers are much in demand and receive high salaries.

Training for nursery and turf management will also be offered. This training will qualify persons for work as greenskeepers or turf consultants at parks, golf courses, playing fields or for home lawns.

Many career opportunities in greenhouse management and production of florist crops await young men and women. The new curriculum also offers training in this area. Examples of florist crops are cut flowers, flowering pot plants, foliage plants and bedding and vegetable plants.

HERE ARE SEVERAL of the courses that students enrolled in this curriculum may take: bedding and foliage plants, commercial florist crops, floral design, nursery management, student research, ornamental gardening and nursery and flower shop management. Elective courses in other areas may also be taken.

For more information on this curriculum, write to 100 Floriculture Building, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois. (Fm

Add Vitamin To Hen Feed For A-1 Egg

Research work has shown that adding a small amount of vitamin C (ascorbic acid) to the feed of laying hens in summer results in fewer broken and cracked eggs.

This research at Colorado State University shows that as little as one ounce of ascorbic acid in a ton of feed will increase egg-shell thickness and cut breakage losses in half.

IN REPORTING THIS research, S. F. Ridlen, extension poultry specialist at the University of Illinois, points out that hot weather normally causes hens to slow down their bodily activity. They eat less feed and so they have less calcium in their systems to use for egg-shell formation. Thin egg shells result in breakage losses.

Egg breakage now causes more than $1 million loss in Illinois each year, Ridlen says. This new treatment, if successful, can save this state's egg producers much extra loss.

There is no need to put more than one ounce of vitamin C in a ton of feed, the research shows. Too much ascorbic acid can have harmful effects on the birds. And there's no need to feed additional ascorbic acid during winter. Egg shells normally are strong enough in winter.

FARM SCIENCE VIEWS
UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

Wonder which of my buddies that chop came from thinks this fat lamb at the University of Illinois.

Pat Clover, East St. Louis coed at the University of Illinois, models a sweater made of corn protein fibers.

L. B. Miller, University of Illinois agronomist, checks over the 1958 corn harvest from the world-famed Morrow Plots in Urbana. Yields varied from a low of 32 bushels an acre on continuous corn with no treatment since 1876 to 144 bushels on fertilized soil.

Is Corn Surplus Build-Up Ending?

by L. H. SIMERLE

There is a strong possibility that during the past two years corn production and use have been brought into balance and that the long accumulation of stocks by the government under price support programs is at an end. Whether or not this is true depends on how large corn yields of the future will be.

In 1957 the corn crop was the third largest on record. Increase in carryover totaled only 48 million bushels. The 1958 corn crop was 378 million bushels larger than the 1957 crop and by far the largest in history. Production of other feed grains (oats, barley and grain sorghums) was also substantially larger than in the preceding year and of record size.

Disappearance from the 1958 crop cannot be accurately forecast, but on the basis of the first six months it now looks as if the 3.8 billion-bushel corn crop will be used up and the increase in total feed-grain carryover will be 2.5 to 5.0 million tons. Production and use are nearly in balance in spite of the huge increase in production.

THE HOG-CORN ratio is favorable and therefore conducive to further increase in hog numbers. The price of corn is above next year's loan. The utilization base is not overexpanded in terms of current support rates for corn.

The United States is now in a position to use 145 to 150 million tons of feed grains and a 3.7 billion-bushel corn crop. Will that much be produced at a $1.12 support for corn?

For the last 11 years national average corn yields per acre have been as follows:

1948, 42.5; 1949, 37.8; 1950, 37.6; 1951, 36.2; 1952, 40.7; 1953, 39.9; 1954, 38.8; 1955, 40.6; 1956, 45.7; 1957, 47.1 and 1958, 51.7.

How much of the increase during the past three years has been the result of improved technology, and how much has been the result of unusually favorable weather? One extreme says that all but last year was the result of technological improvement and that 47.5 bushels is now a normal yield. The other says that the last three years are the result of favorable weather, that there is no real increasing trend in corn yields and that the 1955-55 average of 39.3 bushels is what we should expect.

On the basis of March 1 planting intentions, a yield of 47.5 bushels will produce 4.0 billion bushels of corn, whereas a yield of 39.3 bushels will produce 3.3 billion. Without any very good basis, I think a normal yield is 43 bushels per acre. This would produce 3.6 billion bushels, substantially less than the amount being used this year.

CARL F. MEES
with Your Farm Adviser

Carl F. Mees,
Cook County Farm Advisor

The market value of farmland now has reached the highest point in history—nationally and in all states of the Union except South Dakota, where values are still below the 1920 peak.

Forecast is that prices will go even higher in the year ahead. Increases are expected in all states and regions, with the greatest increases through summer followed by a smaller rise next fall.

THE BOOM IN land values, which started five years ago has been fed up by a variety of influences. The continuing trend toward larger farm operations contributes strong demand for the limited number of farms up for sale. Recovery in last year's recession in the national economy served to reinforce the optimism in the real estate market.

The market value of all farm land and buildings in the United States is $125.1 billion. The value of the land alone is estimated at $96.5 billion. The per acre value of land alone averages $83.42 nationally. The per acre value of land and buildings is $108.11.

The total spending for production of goods and services this year will rise toward $26. billion out of less than $38. billion gross income.

The U. S. D. A. sees no let up in the farm spiral, a minimum rise of $300 million is seen for 1960 and 1961 with little or no inflation. Another inflationary spirit might add an additional $300. million each year.

THE ANALYSIS OF FARM costs shows that almost everything farmers buy for production needs has gone up during the past year. Only bargains available this spring are fertilizer (down 2% in price), seed (down 7%), and general farm supplies (no change from last year.)

Here's the percentage increase of other inputs: wage rate, 9%; taxes, real estate, 8%; farm machinery, livestock, 5%; motor vehicles, 3%.

This data was obtained from Agricultural Business Outlook prepared cooperatively by Farm News Service and Dudley-Anderson-Yutzy.

Calls Damage to Plants Difficult to Estimate

by JAMES FIZZELL,
Asst. Cook Co. Farm Adviser

The presence of unusual growths on twigs and leaves often is the result of the work of gall insects and mites. Galls come in all sizes and shapes, some large, and some small, each kind being characteristic of a particular type of creature.

The habits of gall-makers are as varied as the galls they produce. In general, galls provide a home for these creatures where they may feed, develop, and reproduce; undisturbed and protected from outside enemies.

CYNIPID GALLS on oaks are produced by small wasps which lay an egg on a developing bud. The egg hatches into a small, legless grub which causes the gall to develop. When the insect is completely developed, it deserts the gall.

The numerous colorful, wart-like galls on the upperside of maple leaves are maple bladder galls. These galls, stimulated by microscopic mites, are very common in this area. The mites overwinter under the bud scales. When growth begins in spring, the mites move to the new leaves to produce new galls.

The damage caused by galls is difficult to estimate. Damage is usually localized, and with few exceptions, is not considered serious enough to permanently damage a tree. Occasionally, maple bladder galls develop in such numbers that the leaves become distorted and are unsightly.

THE CONTROL of galls is a matter of prevention rather than cure. Galls are seldom noticed until the small animal inside is well protected from any spray materials that might be used. The control measures have been worked out for only a few of the many kinds of galls. Maple bladder galls can be prevented by spraying the trees with Malathion just before the buds open in spring. This kills the mites before they can form galls. Likewise, elm cockscomb and hackberry leaf galls can be prevented by spraying with Lindane before the leaves expand.

New systemic insecticides now under trial offer promise of complete control of gall producing creatures. (Fm

County Soil Types Differ In Color, Depth, Topsoil

Soil types in the County differ in a number of ways. Some of the major factors that distinguish soils are, Soil Color, Depth of Topsoil, and Structure. These factors have a very important influence on the natural ability of the soil to produce high yielding crops.

During the next several weeks, as the farmer and gardener works his soil, he will be able to observe these soil characteristics.

SOIL COLOR IS THE result of the natural vegetation present during the soil formation period. If your soil is very light colored the native vegetation was timber, if it is very dark brown or black then it was formed under a grass or prairie vegetation.

The dark soils are usually more productive, because they have a higher level of organic matter and nitrogen. This difference can be offset to a certain extent by the addition of larger amounts of commercial nitrogen, manure or legume nitrogen.

Depth of topsoil varies by soil type and the degree of erosion that has taken place. The amount of erosion is readily seen when plowing. The change of soil color from black at the foot of the slope to a reddish yellow near the top is the tip off that serious erosion has damaged the soil.

SOIL STRUCTURE is the condition of the soil. When soils have a good structure they are easy to work. A fine and firm seed bed results when soils have a good structure. Soils that are worked too wet or are over cropped will develop a poor structure. This condition results in a reduced yield.

A good soil management and land use plan takes into consideration the soil type differences. The effect of soil color or organic matter level can be reduced by proper fertilization and good crop rotations, which include the use of grasses and legumes.

The result of soil erosion is lower crop yields, however erosion can be controlled by contour farming and the use of grasses and legumes.

Poor soil structure will also reduce yields, but structure can be improved by good crop rotations and proper tillage practices.

DETAILED SOIL maps are available to all landowners within the boundaries of the Soil Conservation District. These maps are available without cost. Farmers who have obtained this information find it a very important guide in the development of a soil conservation plan for their property.

Requests for these maps should be made to the Directors of the District or to Elmer E. Offerman, Soil Conservationist, P.O. Box, 186, Lake Zurich, Ill. Tel GEneral 8-1281.

Greenview Boy Named Junior Chicken Winner

Roger Elliott, 13, Greenview, has been named winner of the 10th annual Illinois Junior Chicken-of-Tomorrow Contest for 1959.

Elliott was given his first-place trophy during final ceremonies at Lincoln on Saturday, May 23. He was also named winner of the central section contest with his 10-bird entry, for which he was given a cash award and a ribbon.

OTHER STATE winners include Dale Meisinger, 14, Lemont, second place; Donald Deverman, 17, Greenview, third; Rob Bohlander, 12, Morris, fourth; and James Kemmerer, 15, Plainfield, fifth.

These boys were named winners over 101 entries in the contest, with 5,050 chicks entered (50 cockerels in each entry). A total of 85 boys and girls made the entries from 19 different counties, and 20 different hatcheries supplied the contest chicks. There were 17 entries from Logan county.

Dale Meisinger entered the top group of birds in the northern section contest, and Darrell Brown, 15, Bingham, had the winning entry in the southern section contest. The five first-place winners in each of the three sections won a cash award and a ribbon. In addition, 25 statewide cash awards were given on the basis of entry quality, and a certificate of achievement was given to each contestant who completed the contest.

In addition to Meisinger, Bohlander and Kemmerer, Denis and William Rab, both of Monee, were northern section winners; Elliott, Deverman, and Larry, Terry and Gary Schieferdecker, all of Rushville, were central section winners; and Darrell Brown was the only southern section winner.

VERN ALMQUIST, Armour Creameries, Chicago, and S. F. Ridlen, extension poultry specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, were the judges. The birds were scored on conformation, condition, weight, defects and disqualifications.

Statewide cash award winners included Georgia Bergman, Palatine; Fred Shelton, Emington; Twila Kay Miller, Lincoln; Dale Meisinger, Lemont; James Schafer, Shelbyville; David and Billy DeHart, Greenview; Donald Deverman, Greenview; John Kilhoffer, Jr., Buffalo; Dennis Kurtz, Lincoln; Carl Awe, Elkhart; Kay and Rita Winner, Beardstown; William Neff, Chandlerville; Jerry Schieferdecker, Rushville; Don Nordsiek, Beardstown; Richard Scheer, Beardstown; Joyce Launder, Beardstown; Judith Marie Schafer, Martin Herter, Mickey Reed and Gary Moore, all of Springfield. To Describe Temple Plan

Robert Cohen, education director for the Beth Tikvah congregation, will outline the temple's Sunday school program for the coming year tonight for all Jewish families in the area.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. in the Rupley school in Elk Grove.

In addition to Cohen's educational outline, the congregation will hear a report from Rabbi Richard Hirsh, Chicago regional director of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations (Reform), on the congregation's plans for the coming year.

Rabbi Hirsh has been engaged as spiritual leader for the Beth Tikvah congregation.

President of the congregation is Ralph Gold of Hoffman Estates. (A13

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Edward Rentz

For Seafood and Dairy Products, the Norsemen take the lead for variety in their cooking. An endless variety of fish are served in an endless variety of ways. Meat plays a secondary role in the diet. Their Smorgasbord is of course a hit in our country. It can be simple or elaborate, according to taste, consisting of small sandwiches, meat balls, cheeses, eggs, and, of course, an endless variety of fish dishes.

Scandinavia consists of Sweden, Norway, Finland and Denmark. The Danes are masters of the open-face sandwich — all kinds of black bread, white bread and rolls, spread with unusual pastes and meats.

At The Catlow Friday

LANA TURNER reveals her career ambitions to John Gavin in this New York scene from "IMITATION OF LIFE" opening a six day engagement at the Catlow Theatre in Barrington on Friday.

The modern version of the Fannie Hurst novel also stars Sandra Dee, Dan O'Herlihy, and Robert Alda. The film is in brilliant TechniColor.

Symphony Has Concert At Home For the Aged

The Northwest symphony, under the direction of its regular conductor, Perry Crafton, played for an audience of 165 residents at the Lutheran Home for the Aged in Arlington Heights May 27. This concert was the first concert which the orchestra has played outside of their regular season.

The orchestra performed a "pop" type program, opening with a briskly played Rossini overture, "Semiramide." This was followed by Brahm's "Variations on a Theme by Haydn" and a most enthusiastically received rendition of the Waltzes from "Der Rosenkavalier" by Strauss. The familiar "Pavanne" by Morton Gould featured a well played trumpet solo by Trudy Ullman, a regular member of the orchestra. Mrs. Ullman is a former graduate of Maine township high school now residing in Northbrook.

Following an intermission the orchestra performed the "Entr'acte" to the ballet music from Schubert's "Rosamunde." The ballet music from Tschaikowsky's "Swan Lake" featured solos by violinist Dr. William Heller of Des Plaines and cellist Mrs. Leota Schwenke, also of Des Plaines. It was apparent that the orchestra's final number "The Blue Danube Waltz" was an old favorite of everyone present. As an encore the orchestra played the high spirited "Slavonic Dances" by Dvorak.

In thanking the orchestra for a fine performance, Miss Tripp, a social worker at the Home for the Aged, said that they hoped the orchestra would return next year and that this might become an annual "treat." For the benefit of some of the residents at the Home who were bedridden and were not able to come into the hall where the concert was played, the music was "piped" into their rooms through a speaker system, thus enabling all residents to enjoy the program.

This concert was presented through the cooperation of the Music Performance trust funds of the Recording industries.

Shady Lane Announces 3 Benefits

Telephone bells are ringing so steadily at the Shady Lane theatre box office in Marengo that Squire Bryan anticipates record attendance during the first two weeks of the season.

Director Louis Tanno, returning for the fifth year, reports that his new resident cast is rehearsing in a smooth fashion. First presentation of the summer season of 13 weeks will be "Tunnel of Love," which opens next Tuesday at 8:45 p.m. This farce comedy was a smash hit on Broadway and in Chicago during the past two seasons.

FOLLOWING a custom established several years back, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan are giving over a major portion of the house each Tuesday night for charitable or social agency benefits. There are a few open dates, but the first three Tuesday benefits are announced as follows: June 9, Woodstock Memorial hospital benefit, with Mrs. G. O'Brien, chairman of ticket sales; June 16, McHenry county Shriners club; June 23, Sycamore hospital auxiliary benefit, of which Mrs. Tom Jones is chairman.

Groups in the designated category may inquire of Mr. Bryan at the theatre for particulars of the benefit ticket sale plan.

Plan Testimonial For Michael Finn

The Men's club of Beth Tikvah congregation will sponsor a testimonial dinner-dance June 28 at the Old Orchard country club to honor outgoing President Michael Finn.

Finn, who lives at 134 Berkley, Hoffman Estates, has been described by the congregation's leaders as "the man who has done more for the development and rapid growth of the temple than any other person."

Invitations have been sent to 70 families of the congregation in Elk Grove, Palatine, Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Rolling Meadows, Roselle and other Northwestern suburbs.

ANYONE WHO is not a member of the temple, but who would like to attend the dinner should contact Jerry Herter, 150 Morgan lane, Hoffman Estates. No reservations will be accepted after June 15.

Guest speakers for the occasion remain unannounced. Herter urged that reservations be placed early since the room reserved for the dance can hold only 150 couples.

The dinner is set to begin about 8 p.m., and the country club is located at Rand road and Euclid ave. in Mt. Prospect.

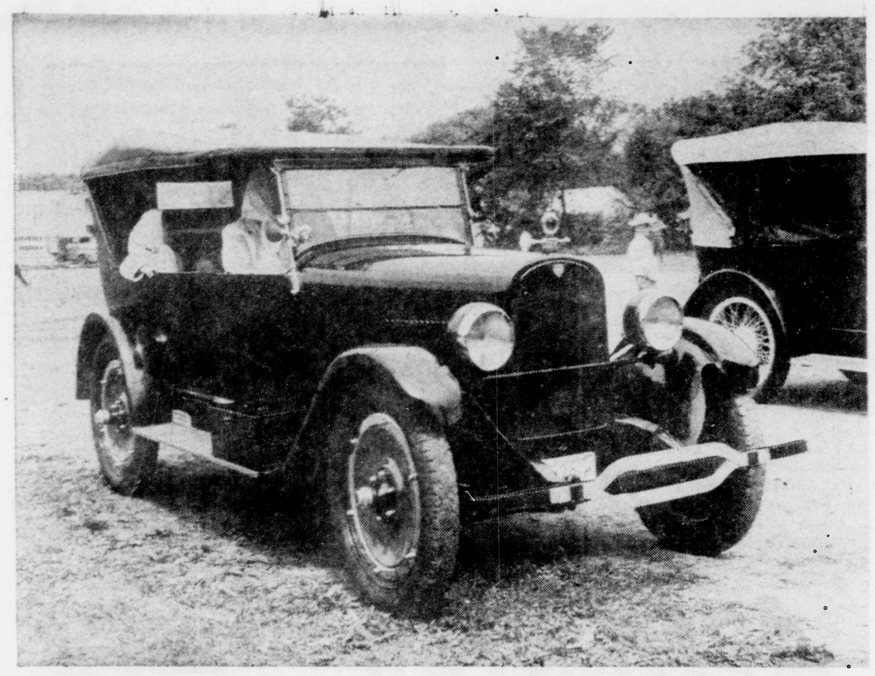
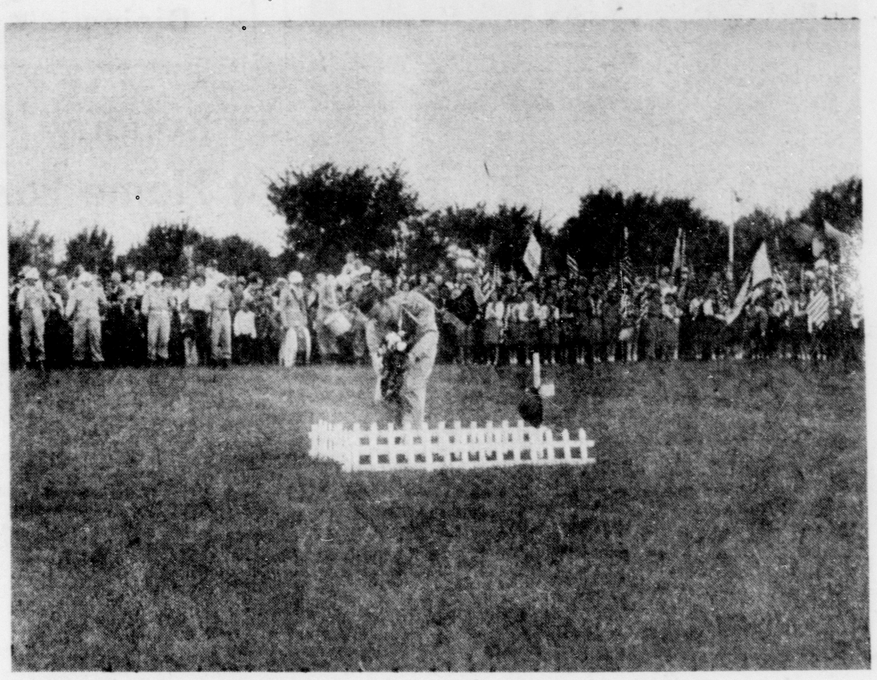
Memorial Day — A Look into the Past to Honor the War Dead with Hope for the Future



A 1918 MAXWELL, in the Wheeling parade Saturday, emphasizes the type of autos that were on the road during World War I, the war to end all wars and the reason for the initiation of Memorial Day.



SYMBOLIC OF THE HEROES of World War I, Mt. Prospect VFW Post commander Chester Voss places a wreath on a make-believe grave in Lions Park, culminating Saturday's parade in the northwest suburb.

HOPE OF THE FUTURE are this young boy and girl, Terry Meyer of 3905 Owl drive and Peggy Larson of 2307 Cardinal drive, as they watch the Rolling Meadows Memorial Day parade.

Communities Pause to Honor Nation's War Dead

THE HONOR GUARD stands at parade rest in Memorial Park in Arlington Heights as Major John M. Morris Jr., commander of the 45th artillery brigade at the near-by Nike site, addresses the crowd and his troops at the right.

VFW, Legion Posts Hold Memorial Day Observances

Northwest suburban communities paused Saturday to honor the nation's war dead.

Parades and cemetery solemnities marked observances throughout the United States, Alaska participating for the first time. Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Wheeling, Rolling Meadows, and Palatine took a look into the past with hope for the future as graves for the victims of three wars were decorated.

In most cases VFW and American Legion posts sponsored the reverent rites as Americans saluted valiant relatives and neighbors whose sacrifices have become part of the history books' grimmest, yet inspiring, chapters.

To the youngsters whose only knowledge of world wars has been passed down by parents, teachers, and text books, Memorial Day annually serves as an indication of the esteem in which the "young men who never had a chance to grow old" are held.

The solemn expressions worn by the marching veterans and the reverent words of Memorial Day speakers are evidence that the older generations need no texts to remind them of the tragedy of war.

Although Americans will never fail to appreciate the war dead's sacrifice and "The war department regrets to inform you . . ." will never lose its sting, Memorial Day speakers all over the country expressed the hope that some day persons of all ages will have to turn to history books to find stories of war.

RAISING THE 49 STARS are the Palatine Post American Legion members during observance of Memorial Day in Palatine's South Side cemetery.

JOINING HANDS in the civic observance of Memorial Day in Rolling Meadows are Major W. F. Brown (left) from the near-by Nike base, who was guest speaker, Floyd E. Beit, former Naval hero and grand marshal of the parade, and Will Hutchison, American Legionnaire and chairman of the program.

A PARADE OF BIKES brings up the rear of the Rolling Meadows Memorial Day parade as it moves up Meadow drive past Swallow lane. The contestants brought along their "motorized" units as the parents trailed behind on the sidewalk.

Named New Director

MRS. JOSEPH STECKER, retiring director of seventh district Juniors, Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, pins badge of directorship on Mrs. M. R. Hartley, Arlington Heights Junior Womens club, the new director.

Mrs. M. R. Hartley, newly elected director of seventh district Juniors, Illinois Federation of Womens clubs, has previously served as assistant publicity director, first vice president, president of Arlington Heights Junior Womens club, district chairman of American Home department, state junior editor of Illinois Clubwoman, Junior "get-together" chairman at Illinois State convention and was representative of Illinois Federation on advisory committee to Mayor Daley on consumer education.

The affiliated clubs of seventh district Juniors are the Junior Womens clubs of Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Mt. Prospect, Rolling Meadows and Wheeling and the Northwest Junior Womens club.

In the past two years these clubs rendered 14,603 service hours to local communities, contributed $6225 to local communities, contributed $3350 to Brain Research fund and contributed $1525 to Scholarship fund for teachers of exceptional children.

Retiring seventh district Junior director is Mrs. Joseph Stecker.

Arlington Jrs. Award Teaching Scholarships

Arlington Heights Junior Woman's club is pleased to be able to award two teaching scholarships to students of Arlington high school. It is the sixth year that the club has given scholarships which are awarded through the school's scholarship committee.

MARTHA MILLS

Martha Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Mills, 402 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights was selected for one scholarship. Elected to the National Honor society this year, Miss Mills will attend Macalester college, St. Paul, in the fall and will major in social science.

Miss Mills is also an outstanding music student, winning departmental awards in both social science and instrumental music. She was a member of a woodwind quintet which placed first in both the district and the state.

THE SECOND scholarship was again presented to Eileen Sundquist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Sundquist, 1025 E. Palatine, Arlington Heights. Eileen will enter her sophomore year at Northern Illinois university, DeKalb, where she is specializing in elementary education.

Arlington Heights Junior Woman's club is proud to award scholarships to these young women. The club is also grateful to the community for its support of club affairs which makes all of the club's community, district and state philanthropic work possible.

Elk Auxiliary Dinner Dance

The Ladies Auxiliary of Arlington Heights BPO Elks 2048 will hold its first dinner dance Saturday, June 20, at the Old Orchard country club, at 8 p.m. Tickets for Elks and guests are available from Mrs. Harry Lee, CL 3-8664, Mrs. S. L. McCandless, FL 8-3247 or Mrs. Raymond Driscoll, CL 3-5314. Only 100 tickets will be available.

Edith Dally Becomes Bride Of Arlington Heights Man

Lighted candelabra gave a warm glow to the white floral arrangements in Barrington's St. Michael Episcopal church the morning of May 23 as Edith Daily, daughter of the Norman Dallys of Mardan Woods, became the bride of William Evans, son of Mrs. Ruth Evans of Arlington Heights.

Wearing a white silk, organza, floor-length gown with chapel train and finger tip veil, the bride, carrying a matching bouquet, was given in marriage by her father.

Nuptial mass at the double ring ceremony was sung by Mrs. Ralph Mabbs of Barrington.

The maid of honor, Miss Lynn Wessell of Glencoe, chose yellow for her gown; she and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Robert Blowers of Glencoe and the groom's sister, Miss Ruth Evans, carried bouquets of yellow mums interlaced with ivy. All wore sheaths with overskirts and matching head bands. One of the attendant's gowns was of nile green, the other of lavender.

The bridegroom's niece, Patsy Russell of Volo, wore a white dress with melon colored sash and headband and her bouquet was a duplicate of the attendants' bouquets in miniature.

FRED HUMMELL of Fox River Grove was best man and the bride's brother, David, and John Pittenger of Barrington were ushers.

At a reception for 225 held later at the Wing and Fin club at Volo Mrs. Dally received guests wearing a pale blue silk sheath, accented by beige accessories while Mrs. Evans chose a jacketed beige sheath with matching accessories. Both wore orchid corsages, Mrs. Evans choosing lavender and Mrs. Dally, a deep brown hue.

AFTER A WEEK'S honeymoon at a resort in Pennsylvania's Pocono mountains, the newlyweds will live in a Cary apartment on the Fox river, where they look forward to a summer of water skiing and enjoying the Dallys' home-constructed Chris-Craft boat. Both are employed by the North Western Railway, she in the personnel department, and he in the Ravenswood business office.

PART 4

Just Around The Corner From Patty McArdle

A Weekend at the Farm

Dear Peg:

To pack clothes for four children for just a weekend at the farm is very little different from packing for a six week vacation! They must have warm weather play clothes, cold weather play clothes, special clothes for pony riding and shoes, dresses, coats and hats for church. To say nothing of diapers, bottles, etc. In fact, it takes longer to decide what to eliminate than it does to just put in everything they own. So, regardless of my promise to Megan and Bridget, we didn't leave at the crack of dawn but actually closer to 9:30.

The weather was misty and gray—not at all conducive to outdoor fun at the farm, however, spirits inside the car were bright and sunny. The children had looked forward to this trip for days and neither rain, sleet nor snow was going to interfere with their fun.

Grandma McA was waiting for us in Children's House with coffee and doughnuts when we arrived. After the early morning arising and the hour and half trip to the farm, Bob and I just wanted to relax and chat with Mother McA. Not so the children! They made a quick inspection of the bedrooms and the book and toy shelves, then wanted to go right out and find Grandpa. From the kitchen window we could see them running and skipping down the lane leading to the "back pasture" where Grandpa and his tractor were working. Patrick had to move those little three year old legs pretty fast to keep up with his sisters, however the thought of a ride on the tractor with Grandpa kept him hurrying right after them.

He had been talking so much recently about Grandpa and his tractor and telling us all how he was going to ride on it, but when he actually saw the tractor at close range it must have looked so much bigger and sounded so much noisier than those he'd been looking at through the car windows that he was a little frightened. Only with a little gentle coaxing from Grandpa and insistance from his sisters did he agree to sit on Grandpa's lap and "drive" the tractor.

Megan and Bridget spent the weekend either sitting on Mike, the pony, or playing with the family of kittens in the barn. It was a comical sight to see them sitting back to back on the pony—Megan brushing his mane and Bridget brushing the other end. Sunday was sunny and beautiful and after a big Sunday dinner we all spent the afternoon outside taking pictures, shooting the bow and arrows, playing with Patrick's ball and bat and just watching the children play. Now that the winter months are over, we can look forward to many weekend visits with Grandma and Grandpa at Manapisu Farm.

My love,
Patty.

Heights Women At Convention In Los Angeles

Two Arlington Heights women are delegates to the General Federation of Womens' clubs convention being held this week in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Herman L. Berthold, president of the Arlington Heights Woman's club, is representing the club and Mrs. Clarence Hendrickson, seventh district first vice president, is representative of seventh district Illinois Federation of Womens' clubs.

MRS. BERTHALD is staying at the Statler Hilton hotel, convention headquarters. Business sessions of the 68th annual convention are being held at the Shrine auditorium. The week-long convention closes Saturday.

Mrs. Berthold visited the Grand Canyon on her trip to the coast, and will return via San Francisco and Salt Lake City.

Stork Feathers

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Curtis, 325 S. Maple, Palatine, announce the arrival of a daughter, Cynthia Patrice, who was born May 13. The Curtisses have another daughter, Susan Elise, 6, and grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hayes of Palatine and Mrs. William Curtis of Oak Park.

The birth of their third child, a son, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Rochfort, 208 S. Rose, Palatine. The baby, named Daniel John, was born May 13 in Resurrection hospital weighing 7 pounds one ounce. The baby's sister, Mary Nell is 7½ and his brother, Tommy, is 5.

William James is the name Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Wiegand of Waukegan have chosen for their second child and first son, who was born May 25 weighing 8 pounds 7 ounces. His sister, Catherine Ann, is 1½. Grandparents are Mrs. William J. McNeil and the late Mr. McNeil and Mr. and Mrs. Adolf Wiegand, all of S. Beverly, Arlington Heights.

Parents of their first child are Mr. and Mrs. John M. Otzen, 500 S. Dryden, Arlington Heights. A son, John Myrland, was born to them May 26 in Evanston hospital, weighing 6 pounds 14 ounces. 'Play Day' for Home Bureau Units

OUTDOOR COOKING was the theme of the booth displayed by Elk Grove Home Bureau unit at the North Cook County Play Day held May 26 at Rand Park. Mrs. Edwin Deekes, 2400 E. Oakton, and Mrs. Clarence Heinkel, 1700 Algonquin rd., demonstrate the art of outdoor cookery as taught in the Home Bureau's lesson program. Nine members from Elk Grove unit were in attendance at the affair, which numbered several hundred women.

INTERNATIONAL TOUR, complete with foods representing various countries was a highlight of the year for members of Palatine unit of Home Bureau. Members of the unit held a progressive luncheon featuring these foreign foods and used the theme for their display at the Home Bureau's Play Day last week. Fifteen units were represented at the Play Day, which began at 10 a. m. and included potluck luncheon and words of greeting from Mrs. Claradehl Upham, home adviser, and Mrs. Jessie Coulter, assistant home adviser, and an instructive demonstration on using one's own garden flowers for decorative purposes in the home.

'Holiday USA' Offers Fabulous Afternoon For Hospital Auxiliary Members, Guests

PATIO OVERLOOKING golf course at Tam O'Shanter country club was the scene of gala benefit luncheon and fashion show May 28 at which 600 women viewed dozens of the newest in summer fashions from a Mount Prospect shop. Among guests at the affair were Mrs. Stephen Bohack, Mrs. Einar Larson, Mrs. Joseph Stecker and Mrs. Joseph Nadherny. Mrs. Stecker is president of Northwest Community hospital's women's auxiliary, sponsors of the luncheon-fashion show.

"A fabulous afternoon" was the verdict of those who attended "Holiday, USA," a luncheon and fashion show sponsored by the Northwest Community hospital women's auxiliary. The show was held May 28 in Tam O'Shanter country club under the co-chairmenship of Mrs. Robert Jacobs, Des Plaines, and Mrs. John Doyle, Rolling Meadows.

More than 600 women filled the main dining room of the club and a second floor dining room as well, to view the latest in summer and resort clothes. The fashions, provided by the Doris Kirkeby shop, Mt. Prospect, included everything from "toe rings" to wear with bathing suits to evening dresses and luxurious peignoir and gown sets.

The fashions were presented in morning, afternoon and evening groups. Commentating in the main dining room was done by Mrs. Herbert Herrmann, Mt. Prospect, and on the second floor by Mrs. Gordon Wells, Prospect Heights.

MRS. ARTHUR Johnson, Mt. Prospect, treasurer of "Holiday, USA," reports that $1800 profit was made on the benefit, and will be applied to the auxiliary pledge of $25,000 to finance the emergency room at the hospital.

Among the many "show-stoppers" were two sequined and jeweled bathing suits flown in especially for "Holiday, USA" by Cole of California. One, in flesh colored fabric trimmed with pearl sequins, was modeled by Mrs. Allan Peters, Palatine; Mrs. Edward C. Hume Jr., Rolling Meadows, modeled a white satin suit embroidered in pearls and sequins. Matching costume jewelry added glamour to all the ensembles.

Mrs. John Vavra, Mt. Prospect, chairman of the gift committee, drew howls of laughter from the audience as she opened the show, showing what should not be worn on a holiday. Her costume included a bandanna and curlers, torn shirt and slacks, sloppy shoes and a liberal supply of cold cream for makeup. The other models had makeup by Beauty Counselor, and hair-do's courtesy of the Clip and Curl Shop, Arlington Heights.

AMONG THE morning fashions, the tailored navy blue wool crepe suit and navy blue hat modeled by Mrs. Everett Wagner, Arlington Heights, past president of the auxiliary, was outstanding. A bermuda short outfit with matching straw hat modeled by Mrs. David J. Grant, Mt. Prospect, was applauded by the spectators.

Bouffant dresses plumped out with can-can petticoats were prevalent in the evening collection; a very attractive one in black and white checked organza was modeled by Mrs. Robert Provart, Palatine. Another ensemble which drew gasps of pleasure from the audience was an evening dress in beige organza with a matching beige mink-trimmed cashmere sweater worn by Mrs. Robert Schultz, Rolling Meadows.

OTHER AUXILIARY members who modeled in the show were: Arlington Heights, Mrs. Richard A. Burkett, Mrs. George L. Traner; Elk Grove Village, Mrs. E. E. Wolfe Jr.; Barrington, Mrs. W. Miller, Mrs. M. Schrein, Mrs. E. Foster, and Mrs. Einar Larson; Rolling Meadows, Mrs. Levern Wille; Palatine, Mrs. Lawrence Bowen, Mrs. Fred Ziesk and Mrs. Alec Proctor; Mt. Prospect, Mrs. Robert Payne, Mrs. George Carroll and Mrs. Charles W. Payne.

Baby orchids for each guest from United Air Lines, and many gifts from business firms including an electric broiler, portable television set, and a mink scarf were another feature of the afternoon.

Other auxiliary members who helped arrange the luncheon and show were Mrs. Clyde Schuetz, Prospect Heights, Mrs. Earl Williams, Des Plaines, Mrs. Gordon Ronneberg, Palatine, and Mrs. A. Heim and Mrs. Donovan Ballard both of Arlington Heights.

DELIGHTED with an afternoon at Tam O'Shanter country club of fashions, luncheon, orchids and gifts were Mrs. William Giungoli of Mount Prospect, Mrs. J. F. Donnelly of Fox Point, Wis., Mrs. William Hodge and Mrs. William Ramser of Palatine, who were among more than 600 guests at "Holiday USA," last Thursday. Proceeds of the benefit will go toward the Northwest Community hospital women's auxiliary's pledge of $25,000 to equip the new hospital's emergency room.

MEXICAN COCKTAIL DRESS was one of many Doris Kirkeby fashions modeled last Thursday at Tam O'Shanter country club when Northwest Community hospital women's auxiliary presented "Holiday USA." Mrs. Allan Peters of Palatine complements the dress with mantilla and fan.

Engagements Are More Than Parties

After a whirlwind of parties at almost breaking-point intensity, many young couples find themselves face to face with the minister at the wedding ceremony.

They've sailed through the engagement on a high tide of activity, but perhaps have skimmed over the real purpose of the engagement.

This purpose, according to family relationship specialists at the University of Illinois, is to establish a mutual "communication system." In other words, it's the time to get to know each other's goals, ambitions and standards and to explore possible problem areas.

MRS. WILLIE MAE Mowrer and Mrs. Lura Stoedefalke believe that, first of all, a couple needs to discuss what each person ultimately expects from the marriage. Is it security, companionship, status or what?

Usually they have touched on many topics in earlier discussions, but the approaching marriage puts these topics in a different light.

Career aspirations of both husband and wife often pull a marriage together or apart. Unless these hopes, dreams and ideals are aired in a "neutral" atmosphere before the wedding, they may be the source of real trouble after the wedding.

Similarities and differences in personality and background should be reviewed objectively. Even though "variety is the spice of life," researchers have proved that more often than not similarities rather than differences contribute to a happy and successful marriage.

WHAT THE specialists call "pair unity" is another point to check. Pair unity occurs when each person thinks the other person and his (or her) welfare is most important. In other words, one person loses sight of himself in favor of the other. When this happens, the specialists say that love is "other-person-centered."

Mrs. Mowrer and Mrs. Stoedefalke point out that young people dedicate several years to preparing themselves for professional careers. But too often they take preparation for marriage for granted. They have the everybody-gets-married and-I-can - too attitude.

A minister has said that the wedding ceremony solemnizes a relationship called love that has developed between two people. Had this relationship not already been thoroughly established, all the words a preacher could say and all the licenses that could be bought would not "marry" the couple. (Soc

Sally Jensen Receives Nurses' Scholarship

The Arlington Heights Nurses club has awarded its annual Martha Jackson scholarship for student nurses to Miss Sally Jansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Whitney Jansen of Arlington Heights.

SALLY JANSEN

Each year this scholarship is awarded to an outstanding graduating senior of Arlington high school who has chosen nursing for her career. Miss Jansen was a member of the National Honor Society during her junior and senior years and holder of a seven semester honor pin in her senior year.

She has been an active member of the yearbook staff and president of the Quill and Scroll. Other extra curricular activities during her high school years have included membership in the French club, freshman counseling and the Pep club. Miss Jansen has also been very active in the Presbyterian Sunday school program, being a member of the choir and participating in the Westminster fellowship.

The decision to study nursing has grown out of an increasing interest in public health. Miss Jansen has chosen the University of Iowa school of nursing and plans to enter in the fall.

Toastmistresses To Elect New Officers Monday

The election and installation of new officers will be highlights of the next meeting of Midtown Toastmistress club. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Monday, June 8, in the meeting room of Lauterburg and Oehler funeral home, 2000 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights.

Two members are scheduled to give their first prepared speeches, Mrs. Walter Marsh, Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Harold Edwall, Mt. Prospect.

MRS. A. C. PETERS, membership chairman, will induct prospective members who wish to join the club at this time. New members inducted at the May meeting were Mrs. Gerald B. Conklin, Palatine, Mrs. Arlo Robinson, Mt. Prospect, and Mrs. Raymond Yokum, Arlington Heights.

Tiny Roses Find Place In Today's Gardens

In today's gardens, which average smaller than gardens of years gone by, miniature and dwarf plants of all kinds are finding a place of importance. Even in larger gardens, spots of color are needed and miniature roses, that stay green and bloom 10 months out of the year, fit into this picture.

While comparatively new in gardening, these tiny roses, with buds no larger than a pea, are of known parentage and have been tested for growing qualities just like their bigger brothers and sisters. In many cases, one of the parents or grandparents, is a well known bigger brother or sister hybrid tea or floribunda.

IN WARMER climates many of these small roses stay green all year and bloom nearly as long. In this climate, they may be hilled up on the garden for the winter months or may be potted and brought indoors, where most varieties are ever-blooming.

The plants are easy to care for and are remarkably pest-free. Sunlight, regular watering and a small amount of fertilizer is all they need. Pruning is easy, too.

While only available by mail in previous years, a local nursery, Butler's, on N. Arlington Heights rd., between Hintz and Dundee rds., now carries many varieties. The nursery receives the plants in small paper pots, repots them into larger ones and cultivates them until they are ready for transplanting in the garden.

MINIATURES may be placed in groups and in borders. They make attractive permanent edging for path, driveway or flower beds. They may be planted singly in attractive pots or several together in tubs or planter boxes. The flowers make delightful small bouquets, party and table favors, boutonniers, tiny corsages and may even be used to decorage cakes or dress up salads and desserts.

Some of the varieties available at Butlers include Polka Dot, a double white; the new Dian, a light glowing red; Pink Joy, pink with salmon tint; Westmont, a deep red; Bit O'Sunshine, buttercup yellow; and the new climbing variety, Pink Cameo, a rose pink that grows three or four feet high.

MRS. WILBUR MOTTWEILER, retiring president of the Women's Organization of Hatlen Heights, presents the gavel of office to newly-elected president, Mrs. William Frear, at the organization's third annual banquet, Tuesday evening, May 19, in the Clan room of Old Orchard country club. All new officers and committee chairman were then introduced and installed to office.

Healthful Tan Requires Care

Sun bathing time is with us once again, but be careful! Too much sun can hurt you, warns Mrs. Gertrude Couch, associate professor, department of health and safety education at the University of Illinois.

Two kinds of rays are produced by the sun-infrared and ultraviolet. Mrs. Couch explains that the infrared rays are the ones that produce the heat and warm us, while the ultraviolet rays convert the fatty tissues to vitamin D, which is essential for a strong bone structure.

The amount of melanin or pigment in your cells determines whether you are a blond, brunette, brownette or redhead, she explains.

THE SUN stimulates these melanin cells in the skin, and they increase to provide protection against burning. The more you are in the sun, the more they increase and thus produce a tan.

Blonds and redheads take more time to tan because the freckles always come first, but tanning is a process that can't be hastened. Excessive sunning, warns Mrs. Couch, causes a burn which then may blister and peel. If it does, you lose all of the tan you originally had and tanning must be done more slowly and gradually the next time because the skin is more tender.

According to Mrs. Couch, an excess amount of sunning can be harmful to your eyes. The sun's rays may cause relatively severe burns in the deeper layers of the eye and may cause permanent damage unless protective sun glasses are used.

A certain amount of tan can be obtained by merely sitting in the shade of a tree, Mrs. Couch says, but only by gradual and increased exposure will you be able to get a healthful, good-looking tan.

Cotillion Dance

The last dance of Arlington Heights Cotillion club's season will be held Saturday, June 6, at the Brookwood country club.

It will be a formal dinner dance with music by Ralph Berger and his orchestra.

Foundlings To Benefit From Fun Day

Tickets are now available from members of the North Shore auxiliary of the Chicago Foundlings Home for its fun day set for June 6. On that day the auxiliary will sponsor its second annual spring benefit at Fun Fair kiddy park located at Skokie blvd. and Golf rd., across from Old Orchard.

Arrangements have been made for special tickets for the day, which can be purchased in advance or from a booth to be set up at the park the day of the benefit. Members in this area who may be contacted for tickets are Mrs. Harol Berg, 344 N. Fremont st., Palatine; Mrs. Jack Flora, 108 S. Louis, Mt. Prospect; Mrs. John Grayson, 322 S. Phelps st., Arlington Heights.

All proceeds will be turned over to the building fund of the Chicago Foundlings Home. The new building is well underway in Chicago's west side Medical center and will be ready for occupancy this year. (S

Beauty Tips from ME to YOU BY Powder Puff SALON DE COIFFURE

The Beauty Parlor is so much a part of everyday living in America that even the smallest communities have them. There are over 60,000 beauty shops in U. S. A. They give employment to about 200,000 persons of which the greater percentage are women. So the beauty shop and industry plays a very important part in the economical structure of the U. S. A.

Most states have laws governing the practice of beauty culture which set requirements for the education and special training of beauty operators. A rigid examination is given before the operator is licensed and strict rules concerning health and cleanliness are enforced.

Women Voters Attend State Convention

The Arlington Heights League of Women Voters has announced the election of Mrs. Paul Green to the office of treasurer of the LWV of the State of Illinois. Mrs. Green, 300 School lane, Prospect Heights, has been an active member of the Arlington Heights league since its beginning. Mrs. Green has a degree in business administration from the University of Nebraska and is also a graduate of the Lincoln school of commerce. She has served on the board of directors of the local league.

Arlington Heights, being one of the newer leagues, is proud of having a member on the state board and is confident in Mrs. Green's ability to efficiently discharge the duties of her post.

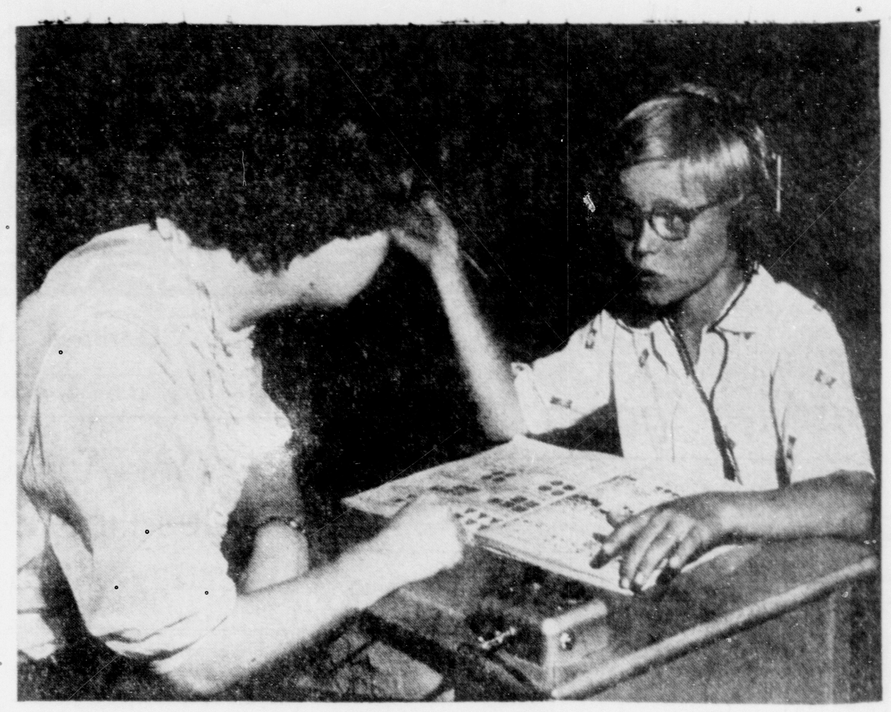
AMONG THE 350 delegates and observers attending the state convention of the League of Women Voters in Peoria were the following members of the local league: Mrs. E. J. Roble, president; Mrs. R. B. Yadon, first vice president; Mrs. Leonard Castle, second vice president, and Mrs. Paul Green.

During the next two years, the LWV of the State of Illinois will work for a state constitutional convention. The purpose of this convention would be to draw up [illegible] consitution for the state of Illinois to replace the present one which was adopted in 1870 and is generally criticized as being obsolete.

MRS. ROBLE, president of the local league, reported the adoption of the other state projects; the study and support of measures to provide an equitable and flexible tax structure for Illinois, and the improvement of election laws and procedures with emphasis on primaries, centralized supervision and the short ballot. Work on the newly adopted programs will begin immediately.



DEAF AND HARD OF HEARING classroom at Elk Grove's Rupley school will benefit from $500 check recently presented to the school's principal, Ernest L. Cavallo, by Arlington Heights Nurses club. The check was presented in the memory of Donna Marie Helbling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don E. Helbling, 601 E. Clarendon, Arlington Heights, who was a pupil in the classroom until her recent death. In the photo, Mrs. Jerry Green, teacher of the class, gives her undivided attention to Bobby Melson.

Days for Dieting

I read a thing the other day that I just can't believe. It said, in effect, that there are only a few days each month when a person can gain weight. And, by watching the old calories on those days, fatties will lose weight.

Then, the rest of the days they can live it up with such tasty and non-fattening things as eclairs, ice cream, potatoes and gravy and loads and loads of hot rolls. Fiddlesticks. If this be so, what happens to calories on the days one is not supposed to gain weight? I mean, where do all the little unused calories go?

It's a little sad to be a calorie that nobody wants. Anyhow, if anyone has any unused calories lying around, send them over to me. I am definitely on the slight side. I could go further and just bluntly say that I am skinny. So evidently on the days that I could eat and grow plump, I give up eating entirely.

As not eating for a few days, or even missing one meal, is enough to put me six feet under, somewhere this revolutionary theory is all wet. Furthermore, as far as telling a certain relative of mine and a few friends who fight the old surplus, I can only say that this thing shall be unmentioned.

Only the other night I went out to dinner with some friends and relatives and guess who ordered and consumed not one but two parfaits. That's right, the very ones who keep saying that tomorrow they will go on a strict diet but tonight is ours and let us eat and drink and eat and eat.

I asked one of these weight watchers what kind of a diet she was on and she told me quick as anything it was a parfait diet. Just the thought of what would happen to her if I told her that she could crunch up anything she wanted 25 days out of 30 makes me cringe.

The poor girl would be making her clothes out of pup tents. I like her the way she is. Fairly slender and worried. (Soc

Successful Homemaking

Elegant Torte Is Ideal Dessert for Big Groups

by LOIS SEILER

The recipe for an impressive dessert, perfect for serving a large crowd, has been shared with us this week by Mrs. James Vondrak of Prospect Heights.

It is an elegant 6-layer Vienna Torte, filled with a luscious chocolate filling and frosted with a creamy butter cream custard icing. "It is the filling and frosting that really makes this torte" says Mrs. Vondrak.

The cake itself is simple to make, and is baked in three 9-inch layers which are cut in half when cool." Though the recipe may look complicated, it is really not much work," asserts Mrs. Vondrak, "but you must stay with the filling and frosting from beginning to end."

AND YOU WILL find that it is well worth the effort, for this is a dessert that will truly sparkle and is always a success. Because it is so high and rich, the torte may be cut in thirds and then sliced down to serve a crowd. It may be prepared a day in advance, and if there is any left it will keep for days in the refrigerator.

Mrs. Vondrak is a homemaker who loves to cook and bake, and as is obvious from her recipes, she really shines in the dessert department. One of her husbands favorites is called Filled Nut Horns.

Mrs. Vondrak terms these horns a "hand dessert" because they are individual little desserts which may be eaten with the fingers.

MADE FROM a rich pastry-like dough, the horns have a meringue filling containing chopped pecans. They are sprinkled with powdered sugar when cool.

These delicious, delicate sugar filled Nut Horns are excellent to serve for a coffee party or buffet supper. If stored in a cookie tin, they will stay crisp for days.

The Vondraks live at 503 N. Elmhurst in Prospect Heights. They have two children: Patsy, 12, and Jimmy, who is 14.

Mrs. Vondrak is a member of the Women's Guild of St. Alphonsus Catholic church.

Vienna Torte

4 eggs
2 cups sugar
1 cup milk
4 tablespoons butter
2¼ cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
Pinch of salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat whole eggs until very light and creamy. Add 1 cup sugar and continue beating. Then add the remaining cup and beat again.

Scald the milk and melt the butter in the hot milk. Add this to the above mixture and mix well.

Sift the dry ingredients together and add to batter. Add vanilla.

Grease three 9-inch layer cake tins and line with waxed paper. Grease the paper. Pour batter into the tins.

Bake in 350 degree oven for 30 to 40 minutes.

Filling and Frosting

2 cups milk
½ cup sugar
½ cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/3 cup milk
½ pound butter
1 heaping cup powdered sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
5 teaspoons cocoa

Heat the milk in the top of a double boiler. When scalded, add the sugar and flour which have been combined and mixed with the 1/3 cup milk.

Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. This should make a very thick custard. Let cool.

Cream together the butter, powdered sugar and vanilla. Mix well.

Add the creamed mixture to the custard and beat until smooth.

Set aside about 2 cups of this mixture and to the balance add the cocoa. Use this chocolate mixture for spreading between the layers.

Cut each layer of the cake in half to make 6 layers. Save the uncolored portion for top and sides.

Keep torte refrigerated; it will stay fresh for days.

Joyce Kompelien Becomes Bride Of Minnesotan

Miss Joyce Ann Kompelien of Palatine and Merville L. Olson of Austin, Minn., were united in marriage in Good Shepherd Lutheran church in Decorah, Iowa, May 29.

The bride wore a white lace, ballerina-length gown and carried red roses. Miss Alexis Kompelien, the bride's sister, was maid of honor.

Sheldon Evenson of St. Paul, was best man to the groom and Philip Anderson of Ft. Worth, and Darwin Redwig of Houston, Minn., were ushers.

Miss Gayle Kompelien, another sister, sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The ceremony was performed by Dr. G. L. Belgum of Luther college, where the couple were members of the 1959 graduating class. They will make their home in Decorah until August 15 and then reside in Marshall, Minn.

The new Mrs. Olson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Kompelien of Palatine and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar J. tnu.AOfliossoeeee Mrs. Oscar J. Olson of Austin.

Filled Nut Horns

2 cups flour
½ pound margarine
2 egg yolks
¼ cup milk
1 tablespoon sugar
½ cake yeast

Mix flour and margarine as you would for pie crust.

Beat the egg yolks. Heat the milk and dissolve yeast in the milk.

Add the sugar and egg yolks to the milk and stir until dissolved. Then stir this mixture into the flour and oleo. Place in the refrigerator overnight.

The next morning, cut the dough in 6 pieces and roll into 6 thin rounds as you would for pie crust.

Cut each round into 8 wedges and place a scant teaspoonful of the filling in the wide part of each wedge. Roll up.

Filling

2 egg whites
¾ cup sugar
¼ pound chopped pecans
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat whites of eggs until stiff. Gradually beat in the sugar. Fold in the nuts and vanilla.

Bake the filled horns in a 375 degree oven until light in color, 20 to 25 minutes. Sprinkle with powdered sugar when cool.

Store horns in a tightly-covered cookie tin.

Yield: 48 Filled Nut Horns.

June Brides Are Home from Hunt

The American bride sweeps down the aisle with all the self-satisfaction of a modern Diana returning from the hunt with a stag slung over her shoulder.

But this spring ritual wasn't always the victory celebration of the female. And everything about the wedding — including the word itself — is designed to remind her that she once was, at best, a marketable commodity . . . and at worst, fair game for any strong-armed marauder.

The best man, for example, is believed to be a relic of the days when a man simply carried off a girl who had wandered too far from home. The husband-to-be usually brought along a muscular friend to fight off pursuers.

THE BRIDEGROOM had to hide out for awhile until the girl's family got tired of searching for them. This was the beginning of the honeymoon.

Of course, these tactics didn't foster togetherness . . . and may have started the continuing battle between a husband and his mother-in-law.

The practice of buying a wife left a girl with fewer bruises. But it didn't do much more for her pride, especially when some African tribes thought she was worth about one ox.

The betrothal of children was common among early Anglo-Saxons. The bridegroom's pledge of marriage was accompanied by a "wed"—security for the purchase price of the bride. From this comes our word "wedding."

"Giving the bride away" merely represents the time when the father delivered his daughter to her fiance, who paid up.

Among some modern tribes, however, notions of romance have persuaded the father to renounce his loot, and the bride gets the traditional gifts.

PARENTS
Enroll your son or daughter in one of our Summer 6-week Typing Classes. Two sections are available — 8:45 till 10:30 or 10:45 till 12:30. Students may start any Monday in June or July. Evening classes also available.

Typing ability leads to staff positions on school publications, better grades in high school and college, and a better chance for getting started in office work.

Boys and girls will thrill to find how quickly they can learn to type. Parents like to keep children busy in summer with this worthwhile activity.

Enrollment is limited

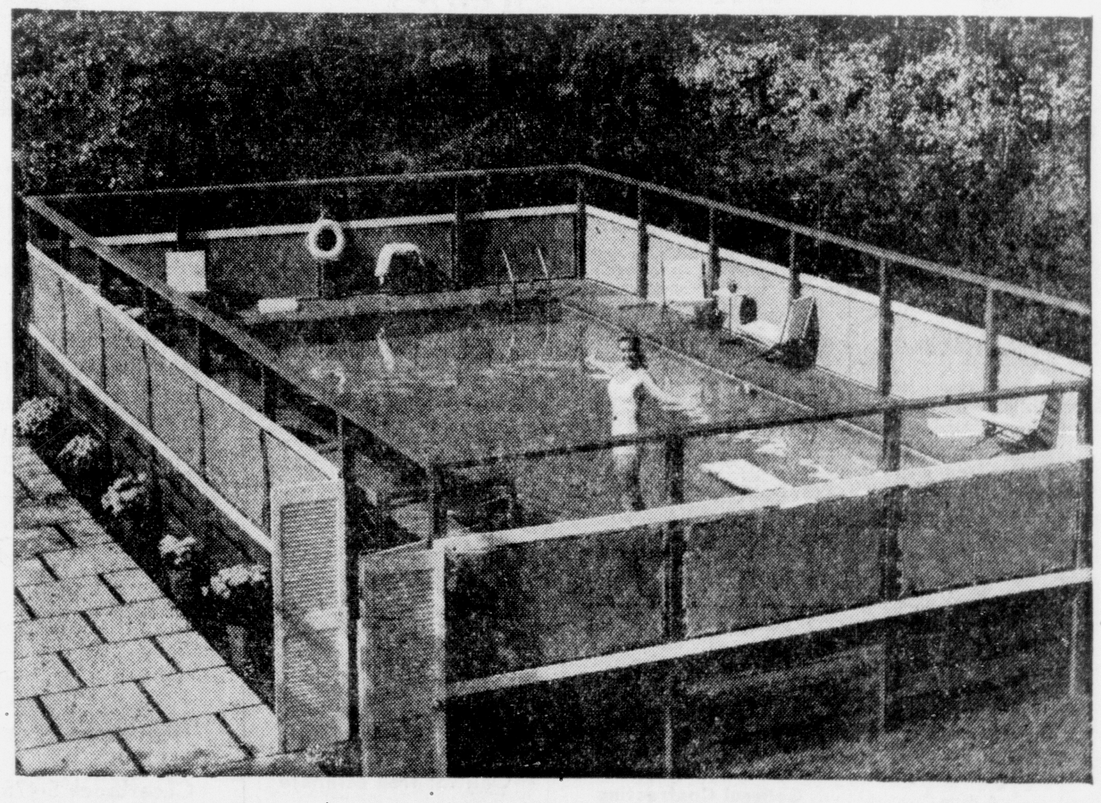
— The Famous Esther Williams Living Pool —
400 E. NORTHWEST HY. (SCHOOL ST.)
MT. PROSPECT, ILL.



Only 10% down and 5 years to pay puts this fabulous Esther Williams Living Pool right in your backyard!

Until now, you couldn't have dreamed of owning a pool like this. Because until now this pool didn't exist. Now this totally new concept in home pool design not only puts a pool in your backyard, but surrounds it with a handsome private sundeck for sunning and entertaining. It's big: swimming area 16′ x 32′, outside dimensions of spacious sundeck 25′ x 41′. It's beautiful California redwood, supported by steel for strength and durability—and practically maintenance-free. Special features: self-locking safety doors keep out unsupervised children and stray pets, storage space under deck, built-in filtration system and underwater lighting. Cost includes complete installation, many extras. Can even be installed on formerly "impossible" sloping or rocky ground. Best of all, no payment for 60 days after you buy the pool!

JOBS WITH A FUTURE FOR YOUNG MEN

Mechanically inclined high school graduates under 21 years old. (Under 26, if a vet), will be trained to be instrument makers. These openings are also available to qualified June '59 graduates. This work involves the making of precision electronic, electro-mechanical and electro-optical instruments. The young men selected will be trained to read complicated blueprints, and therefore a high school mechanical drawing background is essential.

OTHER OPENINGS (All day shift unless otherwise stated)	REQUIREMENTS
Electronics Technicians	Five years industrial electronics experience.
Tool Crib Custodian	Man under 50, familiar with machine shop tools.
Lathe Hand	Ten years close tolerance experience on all types of lathes.
Drill Press	Three years setup experience. For day and night shift.
Plant Guards	Men under 55. Experience preferred, but not necessary.
Precision Assemblers	Must be able to read mechanical blueprints.
Deburrer	Man under 55 with some machine shop background. Night shift.
Electrical Production Setup	Knowledge of setting up wiring and soldering lines for production.
Machine Repair	Experience repairing standard machine shop equipment.
Apprentice Technical Illustrator	Man under 25, with at least one year commercial art training in school.
Draftsmen	Five years mechanical drafting experience.
Topographic Draftsman	One year topographic drafting experience.
Production Control Dispatcher	Two years production control expediting, or related experience.
Stock Boy	High school grad under 21 years old.

These are all permanent positions, created due to company expansion. Company planning to move to new larger facilities in Barrington in 1960.

Thirty-six year old firm presently employing over 700 people. We experienced no layoffs due to lack of work during the recession of late 1957 and early 1958.

FRINGE BENEFITS INCLUDE

In Appreciation

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Alfred Landmeier, our beloved husband, father and grandfather, who left us three years ago, June 2.

You are not forgotten loved one
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

Loving wife, children and grandchildren. (*

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deep appreciation and gratitude to our many friends and neighbors who untiringly lent so many helping hands and have done so many favors the past months. Also special thanks to Rev. H. Olson of the Palatine Methodist church for the use of the church parlors. Also to the Cancer Society, the Nurses club of Palatine, Doctor Bellini, Mrs. Sylvia Vincent, the nurse, Walter Oehler and his men for their services rendered, Rev. Ben Hollister, and Helen Gappa, soloist.

Stroke Rehabilitation Is Hospital Research Project

(This is the last article in a three part series having to do with the Geriatrics Research Program at the Highland Park Hospital. It is the first formally organized research program to be started at the Hospital. The first article dealt with the Organization and Purpose; the second with, "What Is a Stroke: Early Diagnosis and Prevention." This last article deals with, "After The Stroke: Rehabilitation.")

The nation has followed the tragic-triumphant story of Roy Campanella, outstanding baseball player of the Brooklyn Dodgers. An athlete at the height of his career, who, nearly fatally injured in an automobile accident, was left almost completely paralyzed, and is now looking forward to leading a productive life. Dr. Howard Rusk of the New York University Rehabilitation Center of Bellevue Hospital, N.Y., in charge of Campanella's treatment, has done a great deal to widen the horizon of rehabilitation.

Almost nothing to date has been done in the area of stroke rehabilitation. Given the Campanella story, we know that a great deal can be done. It is the hope of Dr. Jules H. Last, Director of the Geriatrics Research Project, the first formally organized research program at the Highland Park Hospital, and his associates, that a great deal will be done through this project.

IN A CONJOINT effort with the Highland Park Hospital Foundation, the Villa St. Cyril Home for the Aged, Highland Park, and the Department of Medicine, Northwestern University Medicine School, this project has a three front objective: early diagnosis, stroke prevention and rehabilitation. Since the stroke is currently the third leading cause of death among the elderly in the United States, and because of the growing population in the over 60 category, it has become imperative to speed up research in all three areas.

Highland Park hospital will very likely be a major influence in this rehabilitation area for the stroke patient since a Physiatrist, Dr. Clara Fleischer, has been added to the project staff. A physiatrist is a medical doctor who specializes in physical medicine and rehabilitation.

Some stroke sufferers are only slightly affected; others recover quickly from what may seem like a severe stroke; still others may suffer such serious damage that it will take a long time to regain even partial use of their limbs, or speech, or whatever faculty has been affected.

RE-EDUCATION of weakened or paralyzed limbs should begin as soon after the stroke as possible and requires cooperation of doctor, patient and family. Under the direction of the attending doctor and a physiatrist, occupational therapy, physical therapy, etc. can help the patient to increased productivity.

As has happened so often in the past and now, the stroke patient goes home to vegetate, depressively resigned to his incapacitation. He may become irritable and demanding; his family becomes antagonistic and life for everyone in the household becomes a burden.

It is true that what a person is like before he has a stroke will determine to some degree how he will react—whether he (as things are now—by himself) will struggle to overcome this handicap as best he can or whether he will give himself up to helplessness. To date this could very well be the situation in this area, because there has been no rehabilitation program for stroke patients.

BUT PEOPLE'S motivations can be changed with the help of trained personnel, who at the time is helping the patient, is also helping the family to understand and to cope with the patient's problems. With this area of help included in the Geriatrics Research Project, the stroke patient will be given a new dimension in life.

The Geriatrics Research Project will be from four to five years on duration in order to obtain correct, statistical, significant data on early diagnosis of strokes, the effectiveness of anti-coagulants in prevention of strokes and rehabilitation.

INITIAL FUNDS to begin this research have come from the Northbrook United Fund and the Deerfield Community Chest.

In this research project, benefits to the community will almost be immediately forthcoming in an increased service to those stricken, in increased knowledge toward forseeing the impending stroke and toward preventing further strokes.

In reality, every community needs this service: Highland Park now has it.

What's Ahead For Young Marrieds? • "I'll Never Commute Again!"

LETTERS

Deduction for Commuting?

Readers report, pro and con.

We would like to thank the many readers who wrote to give us their opinion of Congresswoman Florence P. Dwyer's tax proposals ("Commuters Deserve A Tax Break"—April issue). Here are excerpts from the six letters we feel are most representative of the views submitted.

How refreshing to discover that we are not just a column of digits representing so many electoral votes, but real people with tangible problems—such as taxes.

People these days who do not have to commute are in the minority, and the problem is indeed a "sore spot" with most of us. I am of the sincere opinion that Congresswoman Dwyer has a complete and thorough understanding of the situation. I can only add—more power to her, and at least one commuter's vote of confidence and gratitude.

Alta Mae Dicks
Tulsa, Oklahoma

It is apparent that Congresswoman Dwyer has not fully analyzed the situation. Everyone "commutes" to his job. Allowing everyone in the present working force of 63,000,000 an average deduction of $150.00 would leave Uncle Sam short 9,500,000,000 taxable dollars. This is a lot of money. It must be made up for in other taxes. The inevitable result: increased Federal spending (through the expensive process of collecting additional taxes), decreasing value of the purchasing dollar, and inflation. Every taxpayer should speak out, as Congresswoman Dwyer suggests, but they should speak out against the passage of such an inflationary measure as the one she has proposed.

Ted L. Merhoff
Louisville, Kentucky

I have often felt the way Congresswoman Dwyer does. However, let's not be stampeded into thinking we're getting something for nothing. Who is a commuter? Is it just the person who travels from suburbia to the big city? Or is it anyone who must travel to work? I feel the chap who goes across Big Town is as much entitled to relief as the suburban "commuter."

The commuter has made his choice. I see no reason why the Joe who lives in a hot apartment on a busy street should pay extra to defray the commuting cost of his luckier compatriot. The proposal of the lady Congresswoman is a snare and a delusion. Let's not complicate the tax form any further.

C. Ray Ballard
Huntington Woods, Michigan

Congresswoman Florence Dwyer has a noble idea, but it does not go far enough. Not only should the individual be allowed a deduction for transportation costs to the office or plant, he also should be permitted other deductions customarily allowed by companies to employees on business trips, such as lunch, parking fees, gratuities, and the like. Also, anyone who takes work home should be allowed to deduct for the use of his den or library, electricity and heat, and other expenses for providing an area for this business homework. Present laws are decidedly against the individual.

More power to Congresswoman Dwyer's campaign!

G. Harris Danzberger
Hingham, Massachusetts

As a daily commuter I find the views of the New Jersey Congresswoman delightful, but unrealistic and ill-advised. If commuting costs, as she contends, are "money you spend to hold your job," why does she stop there?

Just as necessary for the holding of my job are my clothes, food, shelter, entertainment, and — my eyeglasses. Also how long would any man hold his job without razor and shaving cream?

We commuters have chosen our way of life, reaping the benefits, and knowing the costs. The preservation of freedom is a costly thing. Let's stop thinking we can have our cake and eat it too and a piece left over for tomorrow. Our taxes are our safeguards for tomorrow's continuity. They are our privilege and our responsibility—even if we commute.

Aileen S. Miles
Middleburg, Virginia

My solution to the dilemma is as follows: I do not believe that deductions from the income tax for pressure groups, favored groups, or any other minority groups are the answer. I feel that a reduction in the cost of government should be made, thus leading to the possibility of a reduction in income taxes for all. The income tax in itself is unfair, is stifling to initiative, and is not in the best interests of a democratic form of government. By substantially lowering the total amount of income tax that individuals are required to pay, the commuting expenses of everyone would be much easier to meet.

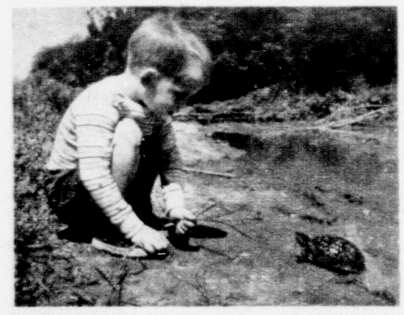
Marriage In The Suburbs

It's about Lois and Don, who will soon be married. By converting sociologists' statistics and university studies into prophecy we'd like to take you through the next thirty years or so and picture what lies ahead for them and thousands of other young Americans like them who are about to be "just married,"—the homes they'll live in, the children they'll have, and what they have to look forward to after their silver anniversary.

A Summer To Grow On

In seventy-three years of active living, bachelor Longstreth has picked up a lot of pertinent data on the spiritual needs of growing children. A teacher for many years, he has closely observed generations of them growing up around him in the suburbs of Philadelphia. This month he makes a heartfelt plea for a free-ranging, open childhood, "the best of education."

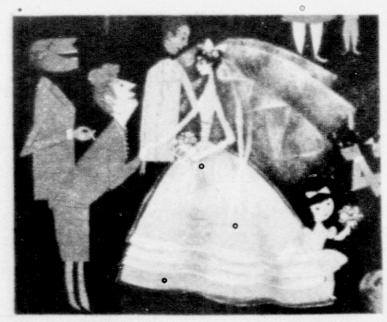


Are You Burglar Bait?

Harold B. Jacobson, a resident of suburban New Rochelle, readily admits that he was—until he wrote this month's article on the tricks and techniques of burglars. This summer he and his family are driving to California, and he vows that his house will be 100% burglar-proof before they turn out of their driveway.

"I'll Never Commute Again!"

Is there a man from Madison Avenue to Market Street who has never wanted to give up the commuter's time-consuming hustle and bustle and to exchange the free-way for some free time with his family? We doubt it. But—how many of us ever do anything about it? Mr. Carr did, and this month describes his experience—its rewards and drawbacks, and tells why he'll never commute again.



Laura Jean Allen

Here are thirty-five guests and members of the wedding, handsomely and sharply portrayed by our witty, talented, and most welcome cover artist. The father of the bride sends regrets, however. He retired from the scene a moment or so ago—he just had to loosen his collar, put his feet up, light that cigar, and privately review the events of this day . . . and those wonderful years that came before it.

has plenty of problems. Yet the work seems more rewarding, and I've become more productive.

I find that business lines of self-interest are as tightly drawn as they were in the city. The political organizations, service clubs, and veterans groups push in many directions, and have all sorts of "connections." In fact, the inter-connections in this town, if drawn on a chart, would look like a Paul Klee painting.

The local businessmen strive hard to bring industry in, and the residential people strive equally hard to keep it out. The line-up on any issue—zoning, development, public works, school construction, or plain politics—is never the same, and it is in this series of skirmishes, maneuvers, and battles that I am called on to function.

Trend away from city

There is a local restaurant equal to Manhattan's better ones, and you never have to wait in line. There's a lovely panoramic view from the restaurant terrace, not a blurred image of rushing taxis. Sometimes my office associates and I bring our lunches and eat them outdoors. Five minutes in the car will put us in a dozen picnic spots. Occasionally, I take my wife to lunch—it's just a few minutes' drive to fetch her.

A recent magazine article presented the many satisfactions of being part of a large corporation, and I quite agree that they exist. But the author said that the only alternatives to the daily grind were: lying futilely on the beach at Capri, opening a little camera shop in Florida, joining the U.S. Foreign Service, or running for Congress.

This is silly and untrue. There are increasing opportunities to enjoy yourself and your job. I am neither lucky to have found a job in the country, nor a person of unusual talent. People in other lines can make the switch even more easily. Standard job hunting procedures apply. Hang on to your present position; make inquiries judiciously; cover all possible users of your abilities; and when you have a firm offer, jump.

In recent years such firms as International Business Machines, General Foods, General Motors, the Lederle Division of American Cyanamid, Socony-Mobil, several aviation companies, and many others have moved headquarters, regional offices, laboratories, and other important facilities outside urban areas. It's a trend.

Less money, more fun

The pressures of commuting, traffic, and work are not peculiar to New York City alone.

In Detroit it took me an hour to drive downtown. A friend in Philadelphia spends an hour by bus and streetcar getting to his plant. Another friend of mine figures on an hour from his home in suburban Flossmoor to Chicago's Loop. My cousin counts on one hour and ten

"I'll Never Commute Again!"

Leisurely mornings . . . open road ahead . . . and three hours to the good every day, with a job near home

IT wasn't any one thing that made me leave the city.

I was no Madison Avenue "hidden persuader" or "engineer of consent" who'd suddenly got religion and wanted out. I had had my share of searing experiences in business, but these occur everywhere. My health was excellent, my drinking moderate, and I had never had a nervous breakdown.

Yet the daily struggle was knocking too much out of me, physically and mentally. I never reached home before 7 p.m. and sometimes it was 9 p.m. By the time my wife and I had had a drink together, washed the day's frustrations out of our hair, and eaten dinner, I was ready for bed.

The next morning, it took me an hour and a half to reach my office, first by car and then by subway.

The dog-eat-dog frame of mind which that morning rush put me into was heightened at the office. When you are twenty-five, you are buoyed up by youthful drive and ambition, but along in your thirties you start adding up the costs. The corporate goals I sought were plainly going to cost more than I was willing to pay.

Job-hunting outside the city

Finding a job outside the city, however, was an exhausting process. I wrote letters, drove long distances, answered promising advertisements. I looked into several be-in-business-for-yourself projects, and I learned anew that they take capital and specific experience to be successful.

For example, a friend of mine tried in vain to buy a small town newspaper. The papers available were over-priced. A couple I knew opened an attractive restaurant in New Jersey. They almost "had it made" at the end of a year, but ran out of capital, and closed. Another couple considered buying a gift shop in a bustling suburb, but cooled off when they learned that the hard-working proprietor cleared only $4,500 a year, worked long hours and most weekends, and had a $50,000 investment.

And so I'm not in business for myself.

I now work for a corporation about one hour's ride from New York, having convinced the organization that they should use my promotional, marketing, and public relations skills on a full-time basis. It had used such experience to a degree before. It seems best to me for a man to stick to the work he knows, but adapt it if necessary to new surroundings and new kinds of clients.

On my present job I earn three-fourths of what I earned in the city, but that income is increased by spare-time work. Yes, I occasionally work weekends, but I decide when. Our family hasn't given up a thing of value that I see, and we've gained a great deal. Time is what we have now, time and energy saved from not living under pressure.

Work more rewarding

In New York, I used to feel "in the middle" much of the time, caught in a clash between a client and my company, with some other people "getting into the act" from research, marketing, and manufacturing. I still feel "in the middle" at times in my present job. Our organization

For Young Marrieds In Suburbia?

Newlyweds will move four times, statistics show... they will have 3.4 children ...and the "silver anniversary move" may be back to the city...

They Will Have 3.4 Children

Lois would like to have four children. The average figure, according to a sampling made by Alvin Scaff, in the American Sociological Review, is 3.4. The last child will probably be born while she is still under thirty. The next decade will be a strenuous one, but Lois and Don will be young while their children are growing up and in the "prime of life" when they begin a new and wonderful relation with the grown people the children in their turn have become.

"The year we moved into our new house I had three of them all in diapers at once," said a woman in Winnetka, translating the sociologists' figures into practical fact. "Bill helped me all he could, of course—poor soul, he finally took the third six a.m. feeding. But we're beginning to catch our breath now and we know this is going to be a wonderful place to raise our family."

Science reporter Earl Ubell agrees. Summing up the sociologists' findings in a recent series called "Marriage in the Suburbs" he says:

"Children in the suburbs are more likely to be doing constructive and outdoorsy kinds of things than are children in the city. Taking it all together, it seems that the suburban boy (and his sister, too) spend their time in activities that reflect home life, community life and small group life. He mirrors his parents' concern for what he is and does."

Their Marriage Should Prosper

"Marriage," as John Marquand said, "is a damnably serious business, particularly around Boston."

Those who have been married longest would be the first to agree. In addition to the usual hazards, around Boston or anywhere else, suburban marriages have the dulling routine of commuting to contend with, and the endless chores of owning and managing property on a comfortable but inelastic budget. Another special hazard may be the side of suburbia so familiar in recent novels—some very entertaining novels, it must be admitted—where life over the week-ends seems to turn into one huge, adulterous cocktail party. But when the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research made a comparison of marriages in city and suburbs they found out that the destructive effects of suburban living had been greatly overrated. The rate of divorce is lower, the tables show, among people who are better educated, make more money, have more children and own their own homes and, as you might expect from this, the rate of divorce is lower in the suburbs. The way of life in suburbia, according to the latest statistics, tends to make marriages more secure. In the years ahead, Lois and Don and the other millions of young suburban families will have a slight edge over city people in their chances for marital happiness.

They Will Simplify Their Lives

From the beginning, Lois and Don are going to have less leisure time than their young married friends in the city, and much of the free time they have will be spent in action—gardening, cooking, golfing, reading. If they had chosen to live in the city they would have been more likely to use the time for activities classified as sedentary and passive—going to movies and plays and concerts, entertaining and being entertained.

Lois and Don—the biggest move will come this summer.

As time goes on, over the week-ends and evenings, Lois and Don will cut down their social activities to make time for things that bring them personal satisfaction. Among married people who have made the "third move", in suburban Winnetka, the favorite pastimes are reported to be oil painting, swimming, golfing, ski-ing, and playing the piano and guitar, and singing. Such active and uncomplicated uses of leisure, sociologists believe, make for cheerful and rewarding family life. As sociologist Robert Hess puts it, "Families must do what is comfortable for them."

Both Will Share in Making Decisions

In spite of glib talk about "dormitory suburbs" where the wife operates as head of the house, the studies made by the University of Michigan show that the suburban husband is more than holding his own. He is usually the one who decides what car to buy, how much insurance to get, and—once the children are grown—whether his wife will go back to work. It has been demonstrated that a dominating husband, if he is not too dominating, produces a happier family than the one in which the wife is boss. However, the over-all tendency in this country today is toward marriages in which both husband and wife share in making the decisions, and the suburbs are no exception.

They Will Not Save Much Cash

Half the families in suburbia today have less than $1,000 in cash savings, according to the University of Michigan survey, although there have been large increases in income in recent years. Another survey, made for the Federal Reserve Board, showed that, as homeowners, they spend 5% more of their income on cars, household equipment and repairs than they would if they were renting apartments. When Don is thirty-five or forty his outlay on these durable goods may be one and a half times as much as it would be if he were renting. But the goods are durable in the literal sense. His equity is in his house and land. And the fact is that the savings situation among homeowners in the city is just as bad. The Survey Research Center reports:

"It doesn't make any difference whether the house is in city or suburb. People who live in houses spend about the same wherever they are. It still costs more than renting. But in the suburbs the homeowner gets more living space, and he seems to want it."

So it is homeowning that accounts for the increased expenditure rather than where the home is. And since Dr. Harvey J. Locke of the University of California has found that homeowners have fewer divorces than Tomorrow's families will be young together—the last of the 3.4 children will probably be born while his mother is still under thirty.

What's Ahead

BY LILLIAN POMPIAN

On a balmy evening last summer, a tall, dark and handsome young man, Don Schack, a junior at Roosevelt University in Chicago, spied a fraternity brother talking to an extraordinarily pretty girl. Don stopped, was introduced and stared, dazzled. That night he went home and told his parents, "I've met the girl I'm going to marry."

His mother smiled indulgently.

"What's her name?" she asked.

"I don't know," Don confessed. He simply hadn't heard it.

Her name, as it turned out, is Lois, and she says, "I felt the same as Don. We hit it off right from the start. He got my number from his fraternity brother and called me the next day. Two days later he gave me his fraternity pin. When you're 'pinned', it means you're engaged to be engaged."

Soon after, Don bought the ring and this August 22nd, one year from the day of their meeting, they will have an evening wedding at Chicago's Blackstone Hotel. After a two-week honeymoon in Nassau they will settle in Evanston, a suburb of Chicago.

What's ahead for Lois and Don and their thousands of counterparts across the country? It is now possible to give some fair answers to this very important question, thanks to studies of young families in the suburbs, made by the University of Michigan, the University of Chicago, and many independent sociologists.

To begin at the beginning, Don graduates this month from Roosevelt, having majored in accounting and business administration, and has several job prospects already. Lois is now working at the First National Bank in Evanston and will continue to do so. For a few years they will live in a small apartment they have found in Evanston and Don expects to commute to Chicago to work.

In 4-5 Years They Will Build

Their Evanston apartment is one of the new, well-laid-out ones, with two pleasant rooms and a real kitchen and comfortable closets. Like most brides today, Lois already has a practical first-hand knowledge of housekeeping and one wedding present she has asked for especially is a vacuum cleaner with all the latest attachments for grooming the apartment and their new possessions. They will spend the most carefree years of their married life here, years when they will have uncrowded hours and week-ends free for the things they both love to do—bowling and picnics and square dancing, and above all, dashing to rallies in their pride and joy, Don's new Triumph sports car.

The next move will be to a house, their first one. They expect to build in four or five years and it will be a major undertaking. They plan to start saving at once for the down payment in 1964, and they will finance the balance and pay it off gradually out of earnings, in the same way that they paid the rent on the apartment. "Expansion of the family," as you might expect, is the chief reason given by sociologists for the second move made by young people.

Are You Burglar Bait?

Summertime is harvest time for a burglar—so look at it his way before you go on vacation.

good chance that some of the locks on your house can be opened without them. The average house has eight locks, but too often only the front door lock is any good. And the front door is the last place where a burglar wants to be seen breaking into a house.

Tricks of the trade

There are two kinds of locks—spring and deadlocks. The spring lock snaps closed automatically when you shut the door. It is especially popular with apartment dwellers—and "celluloid men." Celluloid men are burglars who specialize in forcing back spring locks with strips of celluloid or other stiff material.

Although not strictly a celluloid man, Charles Smith, aged 28, used the same idea to haul in over half a million dollars in two years. His specialty was apartment houses. Dressed as a delivery boy, he would ring doorbells, and if someone answered, he would excuse himself by saying it was a mistake, and go on to the next apartment. He repeated this until he found one where nobody answered the door.

He then took out his equipment—a screwdriver and a jimmy. If there wasn't enough room for him to spring the lock with his screwdriver, he jimmied the door away from the frame and forced the bolt back. When he was caught in 1955, he admitted to over 800 burglaries.

For best protection, get a deadlock which must be turned with a key to throw the bolt. Make sure it has a metal shield, so burglars can't saw through the bolt.

Housebreakers have a way with windows, too. They break through them quickly and quietly by covering the glass with adhesive or scotch tape before smashing it. You can buy special burglarproof window locks at your hardware store.

And you can't depend on Rover to keep the wolves from your door. Standard equipment for many burglars is a patty of raw hamburger to distract your dog while they ransack your house. Dogs sleep more soundly on a full stomach, so try to feed yours not later than five in the afternoon. This way, he'll be more alert at night.

What you feed your dog is also important. Paul S. Murphy of Saugus, Massachusetts, gave his dog a steak to eat while he took his family on a Sunday drive last January. When he returned several hours later, he found his house ransacked, $1,000 in cash stolen, and his wife's furs and jewelry gone. On the front lawn his dog was contentedly working on the steak which was still frozen.

Many people who do nothing to prevent burglaries say, "Let the insurance company worry about it." But insurance will not pay you for the time you spend reporting to the police; or meeting with insurance adjusters; or identifying your loss; or appearing in court for days in case the criminal goes to trial. Neither will insurance cover you for loss of personal papers, leases, checks, or items of sentimental value.

You have probably also heard people say, "If a burglar wants to get in, there's nothing you can do to stop him." This used to be true when burglary was an art practiced by skilled professionals. Not so today. Amateurs have invaded the field, and 54% of all burglars arrested in this country are under 18 years of age; one out of every four is under 15. These amateurs shy away from the house that's hard to crack. Forewarned is forearmed.

How WEEDONE helps you have a better lawn

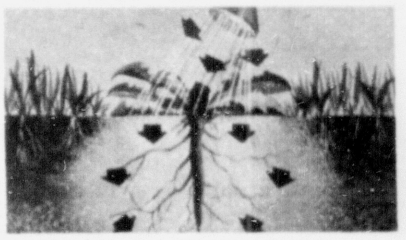
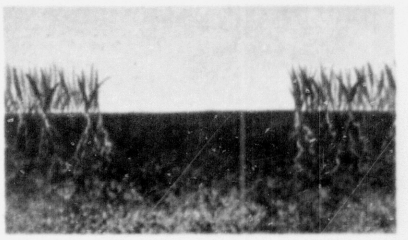
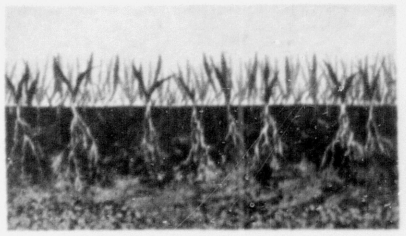
Broad-leaved and other lawn weeds mar the appearance of your lawn, crowd out desirable lawn grasses, rob good grass plants of needed nutrients.



WEEDONE penetrates the weed, kills it roots and all. Dandelion and other lawn weeds die from leaf top to root tip, yet WEEDONE will not injure fine lawn grass.



By killing unsightly weeds, roots and all, you give desirable lawn grasses room to grow, preserve valuable plant nutrients which weeds rob from the soil.



You'll have a healthier, more beautiful lawn if you control lawn weeds the WEEDONE way. It's the original 2,4-D weed killer, now with 2,4,5-T added.

WEEDONE is easy and economical to use—liquid for sprayer, dry for spreader application. Harmless to children and pets. Sold wherever fine garden products are available . . . still at the same low price: 8-oz. can $1.00, 5-lb. bag $2.25. Larger sizes available. (Dry form slightly higher west of the Rockies.)

BY HAROLD B. JACOBSON

Burglars read the social news with care.

THIS year will go down in history as the Year of the Open House—for burglars. Once every minute, a burglary is committed somewhere in the United States.

"The chance that your house will not be burglarized is steadily decreasing," says FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. "And too many people extend unwitting hospitality to the burglar."

How about you? Are you burglar bait?

One sure way to attract burglars when you go on vacation is to advertise in the newspapers. The society page is full of news about who is going where and when, a dead giveaway that the coast is clear. Other time-tested tip-offs are: a stuffed mailbox; milk on your back porch turning sour; newspapers piling up on your doorstep; lawn sprouting whiskers.

As burglars see you

Try looking at your house through a burglar's eyes. Has it a lived-in look? Or are the shades pulled down and the curtains drawn? And what, as a thoughtful prowler, would you make of that? A dark house is burglar bait too, and leaving one light on at the front door will not help much. Keep a light on in the living room as well, and a light in the bathroom is even better.

If you're going on a long trip and don't want to use up electricity, invest in a radio-clock with an appliance plug-in. It will put your lights on for the hours when they are most effective, and the sound of your radio will lead the burglar to believe that somebody is home.

Some of us not only give burglars the green light—we also hand them the keys. Over 100 million Americans carry an average of four keys each, and about 40 million keys are lost every year. Never put your name and address on your key or key ring. You can get a duplicate for a few cents, which is a lot better than having it fall into the wrong hands.

Have you ever considered how many people have keys to your house outside your immediate family? Of course, there are your maids, cooks, housekeepers, both past and present. And what about previous owners—and their maids, cooks, etc.? Despite this, we never bother to change the locks on a house when we move in.

One ingenious thief, Rex Milton, made a fortune out of this simple observation. Milton worked his dodge in the Midwest some years ago. He would rent a house from the owners who welcomed this additional income while they were on vacation. He was a model tenant and paid his rent regularly.

About a year after he moved out, Milton would return when nobody was home, let himself in with a duplicate key, and take out everything that was not nailed down. When he was finally caught, he was earning $20,000 a year; owned his own $25,000 home; traveled in a custom-built car; and had a storehouse of hot goods he had not yet sold.

Even if you're careful with your keys, there's a

A SUMMER TO GROW ON

The bondage to incessant sound is an unrealized wounding of the spirit. Even the individual silence of a single tree in the dooryard changes a childhood. Let there be thunder and the sounds of the grandeur of surf, let the woods roar, and the military band start the blood to rioting, let the crows caw, let other children shriek for joy of contention. These sounds are tonic for a time. But silence invites peace of mind, peace of spirit, invites sanity to return and brood. The army of silence that is a woodland is a bodyguard of sanity.

PLAY is life, it is imagination in action. It is the child, not mother, who knows best and goes to it—wood tag, cops and robbers, hide-and-seek, even in the city. In the Utopia I am reviving nothing honks except the wild geese overhead; there are trees to hide behind, bushes to make lairs under, and other children versed in childhood's immemorial competitions. Too, my Utopia differs from the rest in being available. It is situated in ten thousand places, at the suburbs' frontier, with the real country a frog-leap beyond.

Nature offers beginnings. A child let alone watches. A dandelion is studied, perhaps for the last time in one's life. An anthill is wonderful. A bee is a good instructor. A tree to climb, a brook to wade in, ber-

A child let alone watches.

The beginning of the practice of love is often four-footed.

Silence invites peace of mind.

BY T. MORRIS LONGSTRETH

ASTRONOMERS have discovered a strange thing: the universe harbors an obscure desire to return to its origins. So do we. The city-dweller dreams of a place in the country. Then, when he gets it, he hikes off to the wilds for vacation. And once there, let it rain, let it buzz, let him burn his fingers, he keeps saying, "This is the life!"

And so it is, the immemorial life of breathing pure air, drinking pure water, soaking in the sunshine on all sides, and using every muscle in his body. Everything he does is play. For a few heavenly weeks he is once more a child, the boy he had forgotten.

But what if he had never had a chance to be that boy? What if his childhood had been spent in apartments and on pavements? Suppose he had never kindled a fire, slept amid the mysteries of a woods, or even snitched apples from a friendly orchard?

It is hard to believe that a free-ranging childhood is unnecessary now. Perhaps if the first ten years are spent among mazes of people, in perpetual noise, with city talk forever in his ears instead of country talk, the youngster will be conditioned for headlines and commercials and the rest of our over-populated life.

Yet it still may pay to give a thought to the kid's true happiness and the insistent longing to return to first principles: to the old simplicities, morning freshness, and times of sound joys. It is instinctive for every young father and mother to desire no less than the essentials of an ideal home life for their children.

THE first essential is space—I don't mean that vacancy above, even though that is what we seem to be coming to. I mean that room to run in, to get breathless in, without having to dodge roadway missiles. Preferably there's a field, an orchard, at least a garden handy. Best of all a woods, where birds or redskins or just silence are available for the youngster's moods. Even if nature in the large is over the hill, at least have some nature nearby, bushes, a terrain for hide-and-seek, and something like a pond.

Accompanying space, let there be air—the genuine, ungrimed, ungassed, weather-bearing air. This ancient right is being stolen from under our noses, in the name of safety, a curious paradox. It is impossible to find in our fume-ridden, motor-choked cities. Yet a child forbidden clean air is already handicapped. The human race only got this far because it could breathe deep of the real thing. For those first ten years it is more necessary than to breathe money or other conveniences. Let him have air, first aid to a child's existence.

With the air, let there be occasional stillness. Something valuable in us wilts in perpetual noise.

Imperial Punch

A punch worthy of royalty.

To Prepare: 15 MIN.

1½ cups orange juice
¾ cup unsweetened pineapple juice
¾ cup lemon juice
¼ cup lime juice
¾ cup grenadine sirup
½ cup sugar
3 cups chilled ginger ale
1 cup chilled sparkling water

1. Blend together the fruit juices, grenadine, and sugar; stir until sugar is completely dissolved. Chill thoroughly.

2. When ready to serve, pour fruit-juice mixture into a punch bowl. Add the ginger ale and sparkling water; stir gently to blend. About 2 qts. punch

Punch à la Champagne

The flavor of this exquisite punch rivals that of champagne.

To Prepare: 10 MIN.

1 cup orange juice
¾ cup lime juice
½ cup sugar
3 cups chilled sparkling white grape juice

1. Blend together the fruit juices and sugar; stir until sugar is completely dissolved. Chill thoroughly.

2. When ready to serve, pour orange-juice mixture into a punch bowl. Add the sparkling white grape juice; stir gently to blend. About 5 cups punch

Molded Lobster Elegance

This versatile salad is equally delicious made with lobster or turkey. Satisfy the individual tastes of your guests by preparing and serving twin molds.

To Prepare: 45 MIN. To Chill: 4-5 HRS.

1 cup cold water
2 tablespoons (2 env.) unflavored gelatin
1 cup quick chicken broth, double-strength (dissolve 2 chicken bouillon cubes in 1 cup hot water)
3 egg yolks
1¼ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
2 teaspoons grated onion
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1 teaspoon prepared horse-radish
3 cups cooked lobster meat
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1½ cups chilled whipping cream (beat only one-half at a time)
¼ cup (about 1 oz.) finely chopped toasted almonds
¼ cup finely chopped celery
¼ cup finely-chopped pimiento-stuffed olives

1. Chill a bowl and rotary beater.

2. Pour the cold water into a small bowl. Sprinkle the gelatin evenly over the water. Let stand about 5 min. to soften.

3. Beat the egg yolks in the top of a double boiler. Add the broth gradually, stirring constantly. Mix in the salt and pepper. Stirring constantly, cook over simmering water until mixture is smooth and slightly thickened, 5 to 8 min.

4. Remove from simmering water, immediately add the softened gelatin and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in the grated onion, mustard, and horse-radish. Cool; chill until mixture begins to gel (becomes slightly thicker).

5. Lightly oil a 1½-qt. mold with salad or cooking oil (not olive oil). Set aside to drain.

6. Cut the lobster meat into small pieces and put into a large bowl. Drizzle lemon juice evenly over lobster and set aside.

7. When gelatin mixture is of desired consistency, using the chilled bowl and beater, beat the whipping cream until cream is of medium consistency (piles softly). Fold whipped cream into slightly thickened gelatin mixture.

8. Mix almonds, celery, and olives with the lobster. Pour the whipped-cream mixture over lobster and fold together. Turn mixture into mold. Chill until firm, 4 to 5 hrs. or overnight.

9. To unmold, run tip of knife carefully around edge of mold. Invert onto a chilled serving plate and remove mold. (If necessary, wet a clean towel in hot water and wring it almost dry; wrap hot towel around mold for a few seconds. If mold does not loosen, repeat.) Garnish with water cress or clusters of frosted grapes placed on galax leaves.

This spread is mostly margarine—but it has been flavored with the high-priced spread. It brings the rich taste of luxury to your table!

KRAFT Urges you to try all three!

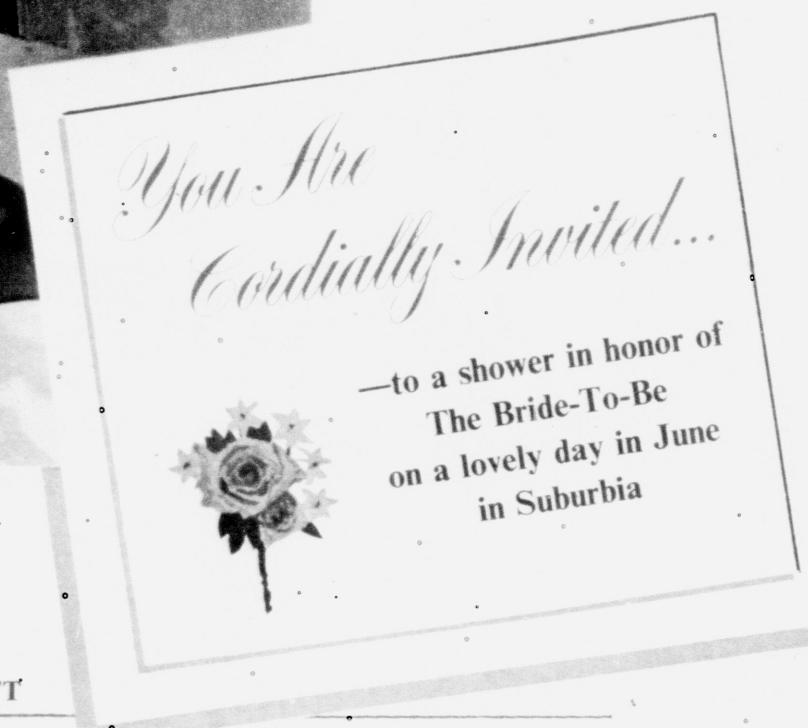
We're sure you'll agree each one is perfectly delicious. Only you can decide which you prefer. Chances are, you'll like all three so well you'll switch back and forth among them!

A decorative ice block may be floated in the punch bowl and clusters of grapes or individual flowers may be used to decorate the rim of the bowl.



Frozen Lemon Pie*

To Prepare: 45 MIN. To Freeze: 2-3 HRS.

Pastry for 1-crust 9-in. pie (your favorite recipe or a prepared mix)
1½ cups sugar
7 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ cups hot water
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
½ cup lemon juice
3 egg whites
¼ cup sugar

1. Prepare, bake, and cool pastry shell.

2. Mix together in a double-boiler top the first three dry ingredients. Add water gradually, blending well.

3. Stirring constantly, bring cornstarch mixture rapidly to boiling over direct heat and cook about 3 min. Place over simmering water. Cover and cook about 12 min., stirring three or four times.

4. Remove from simmering water. Vigorously stir about 3 tablespoons of hot mixture into the egg yolks; immediately blend into mixture in double boiler. Cook over simmering water 5 min.; stir slowly to cook evenly.

5. Remove from simmering water. Blend in the butter, lemon peel, and lemon juice. Cover and cool slightly, stirring occasionally. Reserve ½ cup filling for the decorative topping.

6. Beat egg whites until frothy. Add ¼ cup sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Beat until rounded peaks are formed. Gently fold this meringue into the lemon mixture and turn filling into pastry shell.

7. With a spoon, stir the reserved ½ cup filling and spread in a decorative pattern over top of pie (see photo). Freeze until firm, 2 to 3 hrs. Before serving, allow pie to stand at room temperature for a few minutes to soften very slightly. One 9-in. pie

Cheese Finger Rolls

These miniature rolls are at their best when partially split and lightly spread with water-cress butter.

To Prepare: 35 MIN. To Bake: 20 MIN.

1 14½-oz. pkg. hot roll mix
1 cup (about 4 oz.) grated sharp Cheddar cheese
1 egg
1 tablespoon water

1. Follow package directions for Richer Dough. Add cheese with the dry mix.

2. Knead dough and let rise according to directions on package.

3. When dough has doubled, punch down and turn onto a lightly floured surface. Divide dough into quarters.

4. Cut each quarter into nine equal portions and shape into oblongs 2½ x 1 in. and about ½ in. thick. Pinch both ends to points, making each roll 3 in. long. Place about 1 in. apart onto lightly greased baking sheets. Brush tops with a mixture of the egg and water.

5. Cover with waxed paper and towel and let rise in a warm place until doubled.

6. Bake at 375°F about 20 min., or until golden brown. About 3 doz. rolls

Note: If desired, sprinkle sesame seeds on baking sheets and place rolls on the seeds before baking.

Party Parmesan Spirals

The flavor of these delicate cheese sticks is especially delightful with either the lobster or turkey mold.

To Prepare: 15 MIN. To Bake: 8 MIN.

1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup shredded Parmesan cheese
⅓ cup hydrogenated vegetable shortening, all-purpose shortening, or lard
3 to 3½ tablespoons cold water

1. Sift the flour and salt together. Mix in the shredded cheese. Cut in the shortening with a pastry blender or two knives until pieces are the size of small peas. Sprinkle the water gradually over mixture, a teaspoon at a time. Mix lightly with a fork after each addition. Add only enough water to hold pastry together. Work quickly and do not overhandle. Shape pastry into a ball and chill about 30 min.

2. Flatten pastry ball on a lightly floured surface and roll it into a 10 x 8-in. rectangle. Using a pastry wheel, cut pastry in half lengthwise. Cutting crosswise, cut ten 1-in. strips from each half. Twist each strip several times, place on ungreased baking sheet, and seal ends.

3. Bake at 450°F about 8 min., or until delicately browned. Remove spirals to cooling rack and immediately sprinkle with paprika. Serve warm.

"I'll Never Commute Again!"

minutes from his home in Hillsborough to his office in San Francisco. Most large cities have become sprawling complexes, tough to get in or out of. Free-ways, thru-ways, parkways help, but don't solve the problem.

It takes me just twenty minutes by car from my home to my office. There's no heavy traffic, and the rolling hills I drive through seldom look the same. I find them beautiful. But the scenery is not the pay-off. I now have three hours a day that I used to spend commuting, or one full day a week that I did not have before.

It has made an enormous difference to my family and me.

My wife loves the new regime. She finds shopping and most family chores easier. She says that although we have less money to spend, and transportation in the country is always a big expense, our family life is no longer geared to father's working schedule. We have more time for outings, visits here and there, and occasional trips. We seem to touch more people. Our girls say they have more fun.

I notice that people like us seem to take their vacations increasingly at other seasons than summer.

Our clothes are less expensive—I often wear a sports jacket and slacks on the job. (I have no rival in the next office that I have to keep up with.)

There is more of a personal element in our shopping and purchasing. I recently bought bicycles for our two older girls from a local merchant. His prices compared favorably with elsewhere, and if the bikes don't turn out right, he'll make good without red tape or an argument.

You might say that I am a medium-sized frog in a medium-sized puddle, and my family and I like it. There is as much pleasure for me in attending our weekly service club luncheon as there is for a city friend of mine who lunches at a prestige club. He earns twice as much money as I do, but I have twice as much leisure with my family as he does. And we're both satisfied.

Extra time an asset

My wife, the three girls, and I have not experienced, as the result of our new regime, a tremendous spiritual and cultural "awakening," upsurge, or rebirth. We've made some good use of our extra time, and we've squandered much of it together enjoyably, as a family. My wife and I have done some reading that we've put off for years, and the books don't have to have a smash or a shocker on every page to keep us awake. We go to the theatre and to musical events in the city more often than when we lived there. You might say that we have more everyday living pleasures and satisfactions. My wife likes to garden. I don't, so I build dry rock walls, cut brush, and trim trees.

Each morning when I drop the kids off at school at 8:45, a lively scene presents itself. The other scholars are there, faces clean, dresses starched, and pants pressed for those few magic minutes that they look this way. There are red plaid mufflers in winter, yellow slickers on rainy days, merry faces, and laughter. The scene invariably pleases me, as it would anyone. Then I drive on to the office. Nobody cares whether I arrive at 9 o'clock sharp, or at 9:15, and no client will have called up with A Big Problem.

How much is this worth?

I think it's worth several times the share of income that I pay for it—the difference in salary between working in the city and out of it. I wish I'd made the change earlier, and I'm never going back. My family wouldn't let me.

"It must be yours, Fred. Mine is ham and swiss on whole wheat."

It's not too late to plant

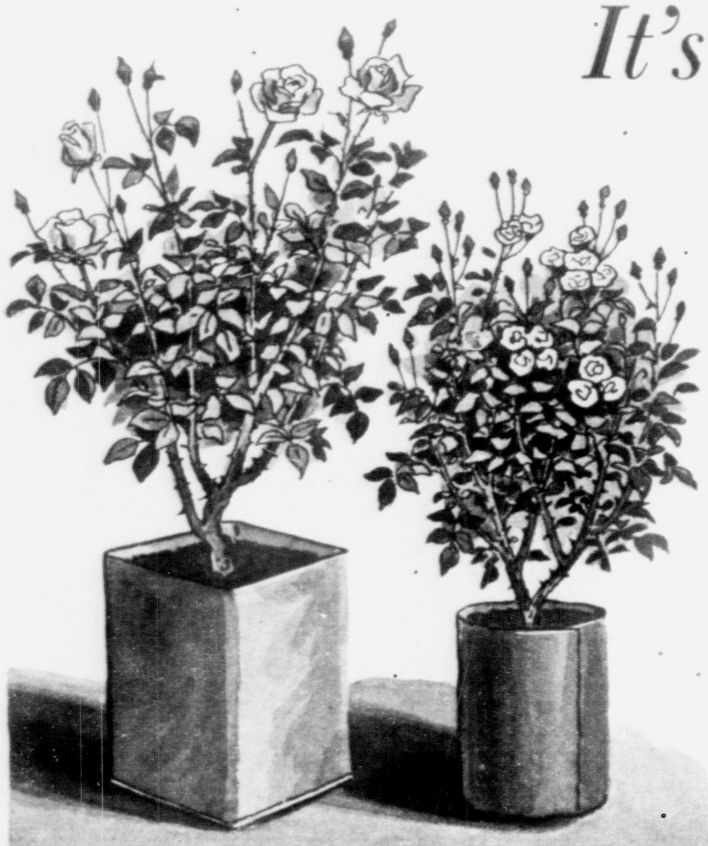
YOUR ROSE GARDEN

By JOHN BRIMER

Time was, not too long ago, when roses had to be planted in spring or; in a few favored spots, in autumn. Now they can be planted in summer, even when in full flower, thanks to a new trick.

Roses in containers, found at plant dealers and nurseries in most parts of the country, enable you to place them exactly where the colors will look best in your garden, too. The soil ball, holding the roots, also helps to insure success, provided plants are carefully set, have good drainage, plenty of moisture and rich soil for roots to expand into.

After planting, shade plants for a week or so with a newspaper cone, water daily. In mid-July, work in a handful of rose-formula plant food and water it in. Winter cover may be needed. Consult your rose dealer.



HOW TO CHOOSE YOUR ROSES

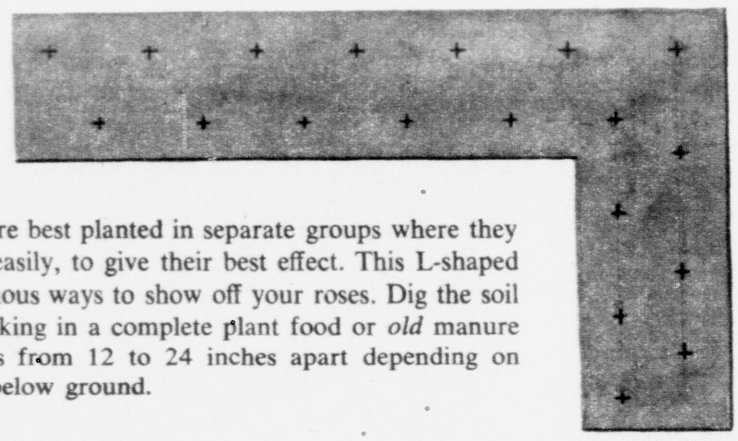
HYBRID TEAS are large "florist-type" roses, come in a fine range of colors. Most new ones bloom intermittently after first burst of bloom in June.

FLORIBUNDAS are cluster-flowered, have single, double or semi-double smaller blooms. Quite hardy, vigorous bloomers, they flower continuously.

GRANDIFLORAS, newest rose class, are a cross of hybrid tea and floribunda, may resemble both with flower clusters and individual roses on long stems.

HOW TO PLANT: Water container the day before planting to hold rootball intact. Dig holes 15 inches deep and 15 wide. Fill the bottom with 3 inches of rich soil—6 cupfuls dehydrated manure to a pailful of half topsoil—half peatmoss. Slit tarpaper, plastic containers to the base with a knife (tinshears for tin ones), fold sides down. Extract rootball, set in hole, fill with soil, water.

THE VERSATILE L-SHAPED ROSE BED



PREPARING BEDS: Roses are best planted in separate groups where they can be fed and maintained easily, to give their best effect. This L-shaped bed can be combined in various ways to show off your roses. Dig the soil at least 15 inches deep, working in a complete plant food or old manure (never fresh). Set the roses from 12 to 24 inches apart depending on size, graft knob 1-2 inches below ground.

L-SHAPED BEDS may be lengthened or shortened to fit your space. Plant tall hybrid teas, grandifloras at rear of bed, low-growing floribundas at front; or fill beds with one kind, one color of rose for a mass effect.

MOVIES

SAY ONE FOR ME—A delightful comedy, this—with Bing Crosby playing Father Conroy, a priest with a voice and an interest in show people, and Debbie Reynolds as Holly LaMaise, a girl who wants to get into show business to pay for her father's urgently needed operation. Robert Wagner as Tony Vincent supplies the love interest.

THE YOUNG PHILADELPHIANS—Based on Richard Powell's bestselling novel about passions, greed and intrigue, set in Philadelphia's Main Line. Paul Newman shows his talents as the ambitious young corporation lawyer, Tommy Lawrence.

THE RABBIT TRAP—Once again Ernest Borgnine is cast as the kind of average guy he portrayed so successfully in "Marty". He is a happily married draftsman, torn between giving up his first vacation in years or missing a sudden call back to work with a chance of promotion.

THE DEVIL'S DISCIPLE—George Bernard Shaw's comedy set against the American Revolution, with Sir Laurence Olivier as the sardonic Burgoyne of the redcoats. Also in the cast are Burt Lancaster as Pastor Anderson, and Kirk Douglas as the devil's disciple, Dick Dudgeon, who flirts with the pastor's lovely wife played by Janette Scott.

ASK ANY GIRL—Ask any girl what she wants out of life and the answer, according to Meg Wheeler, is—a man. That's why she moves to New York where the chances are best, and gets involved with a wealthy man-about-town (Rod Taylor), a sweater manufacturer (Jim Backus), a playboy (Gig Young) and an advertising executive (David Niven). Shirley MacLaine plays Meg.

THE WORLD, THE FLESH AND THE DEVIL—Harry Belafonte, Mel Ferrer and Inger Stevens are three people left in New York City after a Sodium Isotope gas attack. Even in their desperate circumstances conflicts arise between them till they realize that salvation lies in making common cause.

Ernest Borgnine, Kevin Corcoran and Bethel Leslie are the leading characters in THE RABBIT TRAP, a story of a man who must choose between a vacation with his family or miss a chance for promotion.

What's New In Books, Movies

Vance Packard in his latest book, THE STATUS SEEKERS, exposes the importance of status symbols that determine our "class" in society.

BOOKS

JUNE is busting out all over with books on adventure, travel, romance, biography, and current events.

A GOOD TIME TO BE ALIVE is a series of interesting essays by Edgar A. Mowrer. He ranges over our American heritage, our need for an awakened public spirit, the decisive role of the still undecided third of mankind, and the appeal of the open universe. (Duell, Sloan & Pearce, $3.50)

Vance Packard, author of THE HIDDEN PERSUADERS, has written another provocative book, THE STATUS SEEKERS. Here he exposes the presence of class lines in a country dedicated to equality. Your political party, the type of car you drive, your address, the churches, schools and friends you choose, are all, according to Mr. Packard, indications of your "class" in society. (David McKay, $4.50)

Jules Feiffer does it again! PASSIONELLA AND OTHER STORIES is as deliciously diabolical as his SICK, SICK, SICK. A serious humorist, Feiffer makes the reader think as well as laugh. Watch for your reaction on the last page. (McGraw-Hill, $1.75)

THE BRIDES' SCHOOL is a complete book of engagement and wedding etiquette by Barbara Wilson. A handy treatise written in question-and-answer form, it covers the field from engagement to honeymoon. (Hawthorn, $5.95)

Another valuable and timely book, FIELDING'S TRAVEL GUIDE TO EUROPE, revised by Temple Fielding, provides the latest information on where to go, how to go, what to take, where to stay, where to eat and what to buy. He also has sound suggestions on what to avoid, and how to stay within your budget. (Wm. Sloane, $4.95)

With this useful manual, HOW TO TEACH YOURSELF AND YOUR FAMILY TO SWIM WELL, Charles Sava and Charles Champlin give basic instruction in swimming, emphasizing breathing, floating, strokes and dives. Clearly and simply presented. (Simon & Schuster, $3.95)

Elizabeth Janeway's latest novel THE THIRD CHOICE involves two women, each seeking desperately for a solution to her life. One is an elderly woman suddenly turned invalid, the other is frustrated by a domineering, critical husband. It is a penetrating study of personalities, as they change from rebellion to acceptance and maturity. (Doubleday, $3.95)

EARLY HAVOC is a colorful memoir of June Havoc's rough and racy childhood . . . a movie debut at three, a vaudeville entertainer at five, and at fourteen a marathon dancer. The book deals mostly with the last episode—that fantastic dance contest she won in the 30's. (Simon & Schuster, $3.95)

THE DEVIL AT FOUR O'CLOCK by Max Catto is a stirring account of a Catholic priest who stays on an island during the eruption of a volcano in order to rescue a colony of abandoned leprous children. Helping him are three notorious prisoners, who, in the final hour of struggle, experience the wonder that life had withheld from them. (Morrow, $3.50)

STRANGERS WHEN WE MEET by Evan Hunter exposes the disturbing undercurrents in outwardly happy and successful marriages in a quiet suburban community. (Pocket Books, 50¢)

THE FIRST CHRISTIAN by A. Powell Davies is a penetrating study of the Apostle Paul who carried the gospel to the Mediterranean world. Emphasizing brotherly love, he preached to Jews, Gentiles and pagans alike. (Mentor, 50¢)

Two old favorites: Lloyd C. Douglas's WHITE BANNER makes its comeback (Cardinal, 35¢). A heart-warming story of a woman who comes to live with the Ward family, and how her wisdom and devotion change their lives. THE MOON AND SIXPENCE by W. Somerset Maugham. A London businessman goes off to Tahiti and becomes a painter, forsaking his friends and family. (Bantam, 35¢)

HANDBOOK OF JAZZ by Barry Ulanov gives a capsule history. It also has chapters on jazz schools, professional jargon and a list of jazz names from the time of Ma Rainey to the present. (Compass, 50¢)

BUFFALO BILL AND THE WILD WEST describes the lively career of William F. Cody, a frontier scout and hunter, who produced the traveling Wild West Show, bringing the romance of the American frontier to the eastern United States and Europe. By Henry Blackman Sell and Victor Weybright. (Signet, 50¢)

RECORDS

AT EIGHTY-ONE, white-haired, guitar-plunking Carl Sandburg has brought out a new collection of the American folk songs he loves. FLAT ROCK BALLADS come knocking at your hi-fi door with "Wanderin'", "Down In The Valley", "Red River Valley", "Turkey In The Straw" and other old friends.

Some previously unissued NEW BLUE HORNS featuring the talents of Chet Baker, Clark Terry, Kenny Dorham, Thelonious Monk and ten other top music makers are grouped on a new Riverside disc. For jazz listeners this is a good record, for jazz enthusiasts it's great!

LOVE IS A GENTLE THING (RCA) gives Harry Belafonte a chance to show what he can do with items like "Green Grow The Lilacs", "Bella Rosa", "Go 'Way From My Window" and the like.

Dakota Staton has a voice that is truly versatile. CRAZY HE CALLS ME is her new album, but it's not really crazy, it's cool. She can whisper herself into your heart in one song, and blast your ears off with the next. (Capitol)

THE KEYS AND I, featuring Eddie Heywood on the eighty-eights, is a recap of some of his finer work over the years. Heywood still has the old touch, especially in numbers like "St. Louis Blues", "The Piccolino", and "Land of Dreams". (RCA)

ELLINGTON SUITE—THE CHICO HAMILTON QUINTET have done beautiful things with some of the Duke's top tunes. Paul Horn's flute makes even the highest of the high-brows stop and listen. (World Pacific)

CLASSICS

In the latest classic releases there has been heavy stress on Beethoven resulting in several magnificent albums. The SIXTH SYMPHONY (PASTORAL) has been recorded by Otto Klemperer with the same inspired approach that distinguished his famous rendering of the NINTH. (Angel) . . . If you are collecting the Angel series of Gieseking playing the BEETHOVEN SONATAS, you can now get Nos. 7 and 11 on one disc, and 9, 10, 13 and 14 on another. . . . Another fine Beethoven addition is the London stereo recording of THE EMPEROR CONCERTO NO. 5. Clifford Curzon at the keyboard is supported by the Vienna Philharmonic in producing a work of great splendor and heroic proportion.

Two new Brahms' releases: Yehudi Menuhin and Louis Kentner have recorded all of the BRAHMS SONATAS FOR VIOLIN AND PIANO. This widely acclaimed concert duo have made a beautiful album, and Capitol's technicians deserve a prize for the flawless recording. . . . Another Brahms release of importance is his SYMPHONY NO. 1 by the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra. Conductor Rafael Kubelik has added a bit of flair to the tragic music, transforming some of the pathos into poetry, with no loss to the seriousness of the work. (London, stereo)

SHOSTAKOVICH'S SYMPHONY No. 5 is undoubtedly his most popular, fascinating in its inventive handling of a large orchestral group. Aside from its ridiculous political subtitle, "A Soviet Artist's Reply to Just Criticism," which it no doubt will outlive, it is a great symphony. Howard Mitchell conducts the National Symphony Orchestra. (RCA)

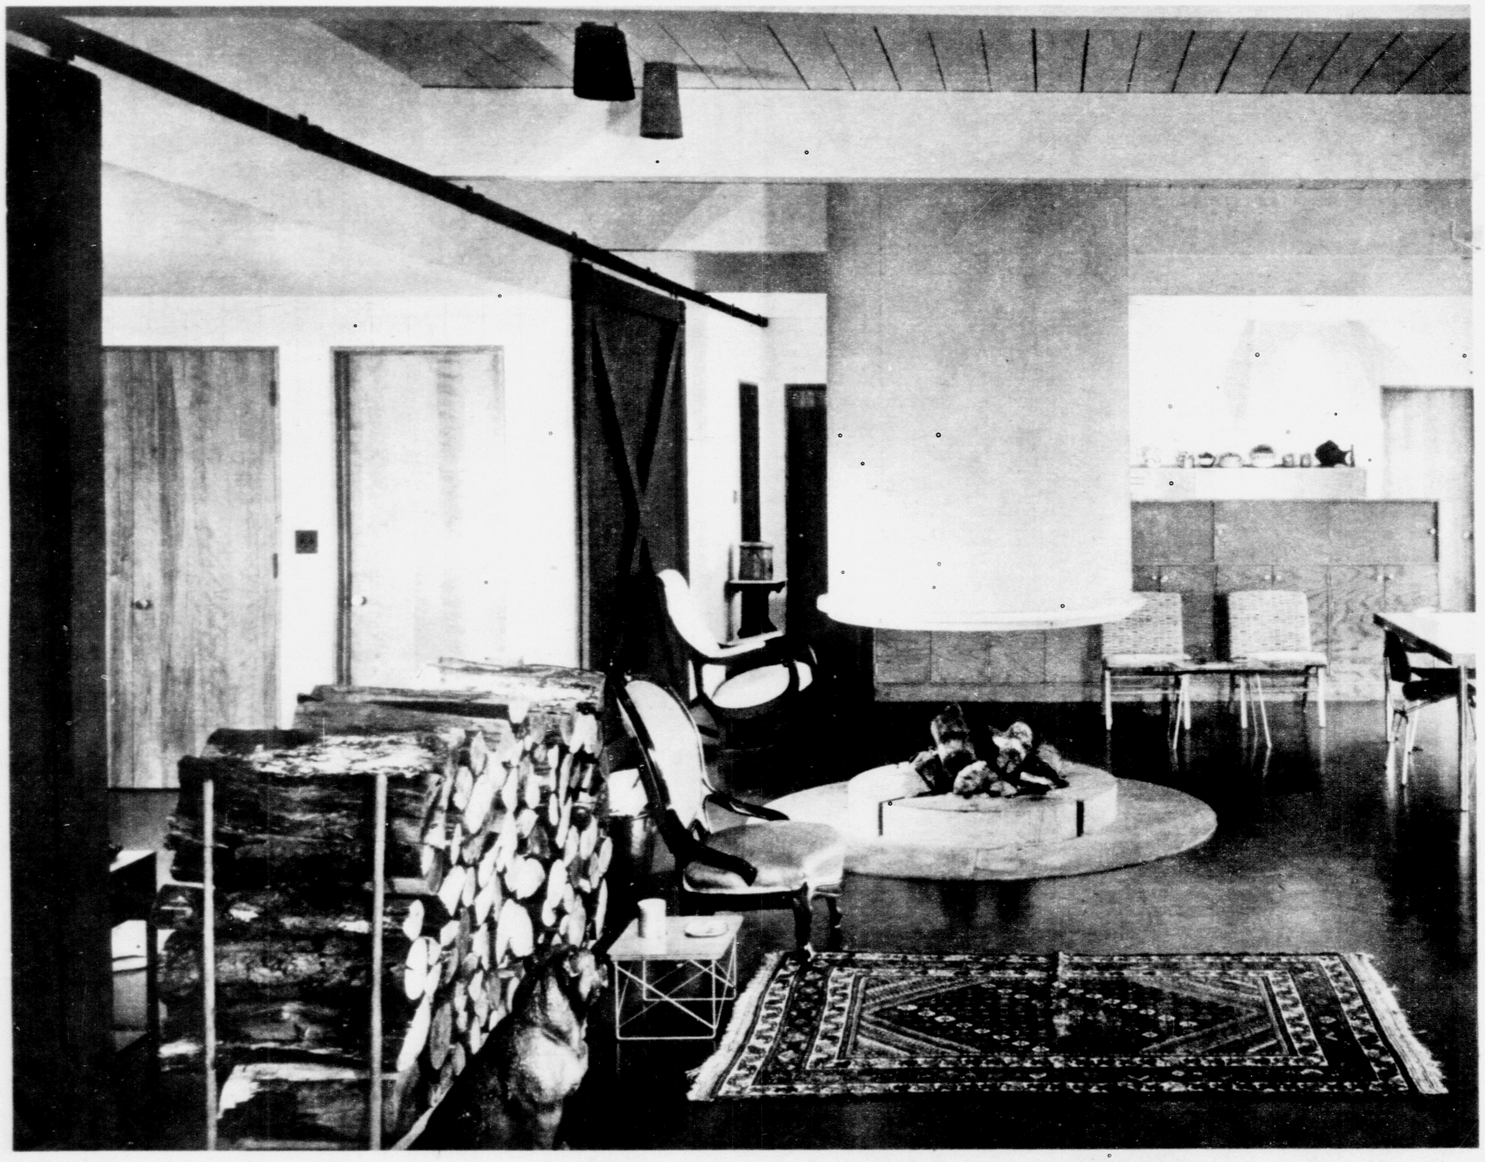
To impress your friends with your new stereo set, try the Roger Wagner Chorale singing ECHOES FROM A 16TH CENTURY CATHEDRAL. (Capitol) Not only is the sound outstanding, but the choice includes some of the best liturgical music ever written.

In honor of the 200th anniversary of Handel, Sir Thomas Beecham conducts SOLOMON, one of his greatest oratorios. The music maintains a religious character, although there are important secular parts, and it lends itself magnificently to stereo. (Angel)

VERDI'S LA FORZA DEL DESTINO is gathering interest among American operagoers. London makes this recording with a fine cast including Mario Del Monaco, Renata Tebaldi, Cesare Siepi and others of that rank. Really good sound-stereo.

Carl Orff is considered by many to be the most exciting composer alive and it will gladden the hearts of his devotees to find that CARMINA BURANA has been waxed by Stokowski and the Houston Orchestra. (Capitol)

SENSE AND SENSIBILITY



MOLITOR

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH BARBER COMBINE OLD AND NEW IN THEIR VERY MODERN HOUSE

In "Blueberry Ledge," their house outside Portland, Maine, the owners did just as they pleased and it pleases them very much. You see the heart of the house above—a living area 50′ x 22′, continuous with dining area and compact kitchen, and continuous through ten-foot window-walls with the fields, the woods, and the sea beyond. No decorator chose the colors in the Barbers' house—gray and off-white for the upholstery, clear lemon yellow for the kitchen wall, turquoise for the chimney over the soapstone hearth, and eggplant for the sliding panels—they are really barn doors—which you see to the left, flanking the wood-pile. (When the Barbers have guests these doors come together closing off a guest area behind them.) At night the Richard Kelly spot lights pick out the dramatic masses of color, filling the carefully planned living space with brightness and warmth. They build their fire on the hearth in the middle of the floor. No, it does not smoke. Beside this unconventional hearth the Barbers draw up their conventional Victorian chairs upholstered in coarse Belgian linens. Traditional Oriental rugs cover the gray linoleum floor and at the right, under a Kelly spot, you see a figurehead from a Thames barge of the XVIIth Century. It is a mix-up by intention, the effect is free and lively, and the house, they say, all but runs itself. William F. Pedersen is the architect.

What's Ahead For Young Marrieds In Suburbia?

renters, it would appear that homeowning, though expensive, is good for producing stable marriages.

"The Silver Anniversary" Move

"The fourth move is the silver anniversary move," said Dr. Peter Rossi; lecturing at the University of Chicago's forum on "Family Life in Suburbia." "Usually, this time, it is back to a smaller place after the children have left home. After all the active years in suburbia, it may be back to the city. Against the great and growing wave of migration outward, there is already a steady set in the opposite direction. People, as they get older, often find themselves drawn toward city services and toward 'passive' entertainments."

A matron of Skokie, Illinois, already on the eve of her silver anniversary move, takes exception to the findings of the experts.

"I can't imagine moving back to town," she says. "When the children are gone, I might take a smaller house in Evanston, a little closer to Chicago, but certainly not in it."

But by the time Don and Lois and the other young marrieds of today come to their silver anniversary they will be living in a community considerably different from the one in which they are starting out. In the next twenty-five years there will be vast population increases. The suburbs of today will have absorbed another sixty million, while in the city, twenty-five years from now, many congested downtown areas will have given way to planned open space, the flood of traffic will have been brought under control, there will be quarters for pleasant, reasonable living, as there are in European cities, as well as centers of business and culture. It is to this new city where some of the country has been transplanted, that Don and Lois may be moving finally, as the next generation takes their place in the more active life of the outlying suburbs.

"The Best Is Yet to Be"

Two generations ago the woman whose last child had just left home was already liable to be a widow. Life expectancy for her husband was 46 years, for her just a few years more. Today, life expectancy for men has increased to the age of 68, for women to 74 years. After the silver anniversary move, with their children grown and making their own way in the world, Lois and Don, wherever they are, can look forward to another fifteen or twenty years together.

Now! Easier, surer protection for your most intimate marriage problems

Tested by doctors . . . trusted by women

1. Germicidal protection!
Norforms are safer and surer than ever! A highly perfected new formula releases antiseptic and germicidal ingredients right in the vaginal tract. The exclusive new base melts at body temperature, forming a powerful protective film that permits long-lasting action. Will not harm delicate tissues.

2. Deodorant protection!
Norforms were tested in a hospital clinic and found to be more effective than anything it had ever used. Norforms are deodorant—they eliminate (rather than cover up) embarrassing odors, yet have no "medicine" or "disinfectant" odor themselves.

3. Convenience!
These small vaginal suppositories are so easy and convenient. Just insert—no apparatus, mixing or measuring. Greaseless and keep in any climate. Your druggist has them in boxes of 12 and 24. Also available in Canada.

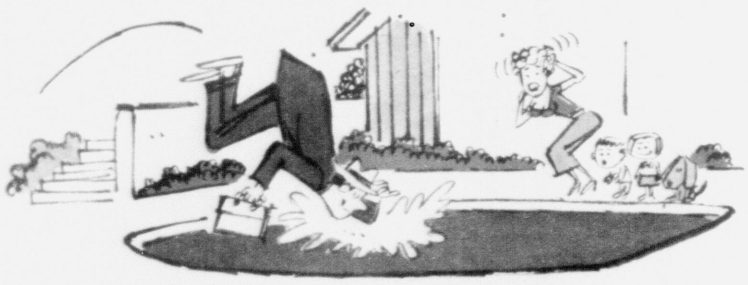
DISTURBIA

BY LEW SAYRE SCHWARTZ

"ALL AT SEA"

Never mind those barnacled bills . . . what is summer without a boat or pool? And summer it is, spouting from Redwood City, tacking off Grosse Point, floating on the Main Line—all over the U. S., it's the wettest summer ever.

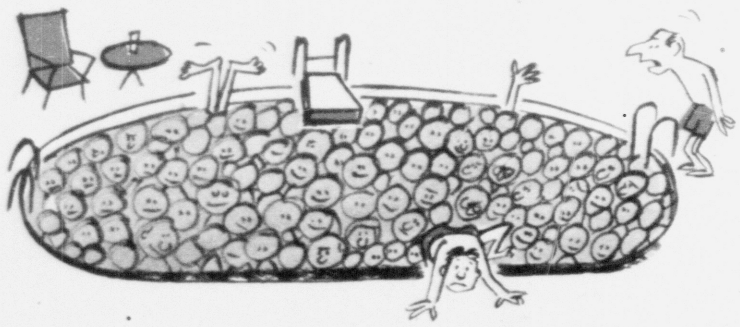


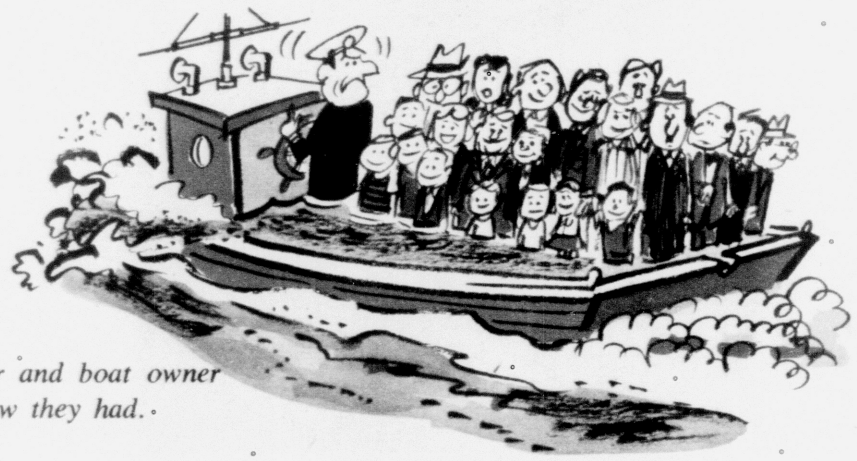
From the carpool to the cool pool . . . only a few steps and the commuter's dream comes true.

Or, if you own a boat, wipe away the cares of the day with a carefree sail into the serene twilight.

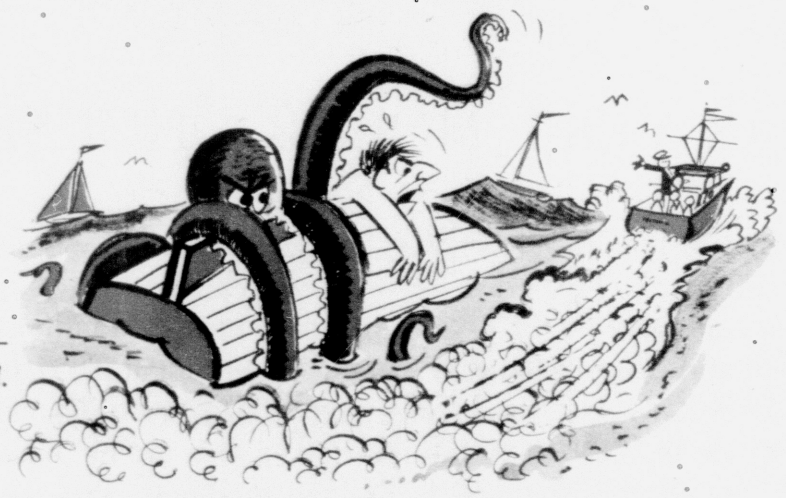
At pool-side, dress is optional, scenery stimulating.

Aboard ship, tradition must be observed.





Over the weekend, pool owner and boat owner discover friends they never knew they had.



Things happen suddenly on the water. Have fun—but always be on the lookout for the unexpected.

ries to pick—there's your original kindergarten. The child learns to look, to see, to gauge, to scan the sky, to adjust, to use a little judgment, to begin forming a sense of values. Compared with these natural riches a Park Avenue apartment is a slum.

This is the best of education, this suburban kindergarten, for the student likes natural things and so armors himself against the lures of fake enjoyments. He becomes an individual, and his stream of consciousness is as beautiful as a woodland brook can make it. The self-effort for an education is the education, whether it be learning to dress oneself or a course at Harvard. And this is the education that children love, crave, and can't be kept back from if they see it leading somewhere, to caring for puppies, to riding a bike, to cooking hamburgers without incinerating them. A child, not yet smothered by our conventional existence, goes straight to life, if he is let have the interests that are born with him and the environment in which they flourish.

LOVE is already his ruling passion, love for his stomach, love for his way, and pretty soon love for his fellow animals. Any animal is his interest, but the dog soon noses the rest of them out. The dog was man's first clean-up squad and is still the boy's best companion. A dog works for love, and gets it. He is a victim in the city, a partner in the suburbs, and an ethical example in the play day of his friend. A dog lures an individual out of his I-bound encirclement which so readily becomes society's ill. Everything has a beginning, and the beginning of the practice of love is often four-footed. If a boy thinks of his dog, he may come to think of his parents, and so on until his careful imagination may encompass the races.

I have saved the best reason for giving your child a true chidlhood until last. The pragmatic may not agree, and the prosaic certainly won't. Yet fact and our fiction both are emphatic on this point—that we don't love our neighbor as ourself, and I think the reason is because we lack imagination to see our neighbor clearly. The child reared at the frontier of suburb-country is acquainted with solitude at times. He wanders off by himself and finds himself alone yet is not lonely. His imagination accompanies him and peoples the solitude for him. True, it may make every bush a bear, and toughen him to risk. But also it encourages that inner conversation which is vital to a live existence.

I think that the place of the imagination in operating the Golden Rule has never been sufficiently stressed. To imagine oneself on the rack which we subject another to is the first step in abolishing the rack. The Golden Rule is the equilibrium of love. Now a boy sailing his boat, a girl hunting mushrooms, boys camping, girls lying awake at night talking to their best friends are all dreaming and living the dream. They are building up a sense of equilibrium between the great patience of being alone and the over-doing of current society. They are already forming a healthy imagination, the great tool of the spirit. Abel perished because Cain had no imagination, no give-and-take of the heart. This generation of their descendants has hardened its heart so thoroughly that we can read of our fellow earth-souls being slaughtered without feeling it. Such a catastrophe must be spared the child. Let him begin anew in circumstances of innocence.

- SAVES YOU WORK OF DIGGING WORMS, CATCHING MINNOWS, ETC.
- CATCHES THE FISH THAT WON'T BITE ON WORMS, BUGS, PLUGS, SPOONS, CANNED BAIT, FLIES, CUT BAIT OR SPINNERS!

FROM PARIS, FRANCE, COMES NEWS OF AN AMAZING fish-catching lure. The world's first truly 'live action' lure that's guaranteed to catch more fish . . . catch bigger fish . . . and catch fish when everything else fails . . . or its costs you nothing.

PHOTO PROOF!
Fish just can't resist the amazing VIVIF with its patented "Live Action" tail! VIVIF caught this 40 lb. salmon for Mr. G. F. Coleman and 1st prize in a fishing contest.

A Beautifully made lure that saves you hours of work digging worms, catching minnows or other live bait! . . . saves you the endless expense of continually buying expensive plugs, spinners, flies and other fancy equipment designed to catch YOU instead of fish . . . lets you make your fishing trips more fun, more exciting and lets you enjoy every minute you're fishing from dawn till dusk . . . with more and bigger catches.

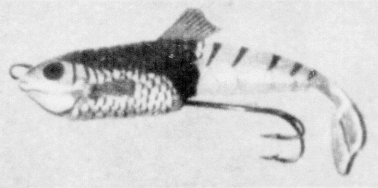
A French Invention

The secret is a scientific 'live-action' tail that had never been patented before. Developed by a French sportsman who named it VIVIF, this wonder-working 'live-action' lure is the result of years of testing all kinds of lures on all kinds of fish . . . and watching the fish react to each lure under water. From these studies came VIVIF, the lure that works when everything else fails. VIVIF is now being used by over 350,000 fishermen in 25 countries who rave over VIVIF.

From all over come reports of record making catches . . . of fish biting where all other lures failed . . . of the sureness, the simplicity . . . the effectiveness of this miracle lure. Think what this means to you. Now at last you can catch every kind of fresh water game fish as well as salt water fish . . . and never spend a penny for fancy plugs, spinners or flies again. You can do away with digging for worms, catching bugs, frogs or minnows. You can cast, troll, shore fish . . . all with equal success. You can go out after . . . and come back with . . . bass, pike, pickerel, perch, bream, trout, walleyes, salmon, red tuna, striped bass, bluefish, weakfish, and do it time after time without any previous experience.

Get More Fun Out of Fishing

Here is a photo of a Frenchman who used VIVIF. The pike is 18½ pounds. In England VIVIF holds a world's record. In 25 foreign lands VIVIF is catching fish for delighted fishermen. Already reports from fishermen in this country are coming in . . . reports saying VIVIF is the greatest lure they ever used. 350,000 fishermen can't be wrong. Test the magic powers of VIVIF yourself without risking a penny. VIVIF takes the luck out of fishing, lets you have more fun out of fishing . . . because you catch more fish.



AMAZING VIVIF

Is Flexible, Soft and Super-Realistic

VIVIF is soft to the touch like a live minnow . . . wiggles like a live minnow . . . swims realistically in the water. VIVIF CONTINUES TO ACT LIKE A LIVE MINNOW EVEN ON A SLACKENED LINE. Perfectly balanced, VIVIF casts beautifully with either bait casting or spinning equipment. Doesn't spin . . . can't twist your line. VIVIF WAS DESIGNED TO CATCH FISH . . . NOT FISHERMEN!

Marvel of Design

Not just another stiff plastic or wood lure that 'looks good' but doesn't work. VIVIF is made of life-like latex and is the world's most life-like lure in the water . . . works better than live bait! Color combinations have been scientifically selected by fish in actual tests. Acts and wiggles like a live minnow.

Each VIVIF is sent to you in a FREE clear-plastic container with Full Money Back Guarantee.

GADGET

Household safety device: a new electrical plug lock will keep any size plug secure in the wall outlet, and can be installed in 60 seconds. It is completely safe and fully guaranteed, and excellent where there are young children who are all too likely to play with and disconnect the plugs of refrigerator, air conditioner or freezer. 3 for $1.25; 6 for $2.00, all postpaid. Miller's, 60 W. 33rd St., New York 1, N. Y.

GALA BARBECUE CANDLE

"Barbecue Time" is the friendly greeting on this giant decorative candle to light outdoors this summer at your barbecues. The light is 9½" tall and will burn for about 160 hours. The base comes in your choice of copper finish or black anodize. $3.95 postpaid, or two for $7.50. Gala-Glo Lytes; Box 2217, Van Nuys, Calif.

ICE BASKET

Here is surely the handsomest "cube keeper" for summer that ever graced a living room or terrace. It is basket-woven of deep tone rattan with a crisp white polystyrene liner that gives unbeatable performance—holds four quarts of ice cubes all day! 10" by 8", it is lightweight; washable, and unbreakable. $6.95 postpaid. Add 50¢ west of Miss. Hathore House, 542 Third Ave., New York 16, N. Y.

LAPKINS

You have a place mat, a napkin, and a pocket for silver combined, in these hand-woven lapkins made in a mountain province of the Philippine Islands. Rolled up and prettily tied, they will add the unusual touch to your buffet table or summer picnics; on your lap they open to a generous 14" by 18" of heavy color-fast cotton. Striped in yellow, emerald green, red and brown. $1.00 each, postpaid. Orient Traders, 153 E. 54th St., New York 22, N. Y.

L-O-N-G SLEEVE SHIRTS

Big and tall men will welcome the news that they can get sport and dress shirts, in a wide range of styles, fabrics and colors, in their exact sleeve-length (all the way to 38) and with bodies cut 4" longer. They're featured—at sensible prices—in a new catalogue of shoes, shirts, jackets and other apparel accessories specially sized for big men only. Shoes of every type are available in sizes 10AAA to 16EEE. Catalogue on request. King-Size, Inc., Dept. 471, Brockton, Mass.

PATIO SUN SHADE

For a cool, glareless, more livable patio or porch this summer, here is a roofing material made of aluminum foil and fiberglass called Foil Glass. The inner layer of perforated, embossed foil screens out more than 80% of the sun's heat, while at the same time the material permits light to pass through in soft diffused form, keeping the patio area light and shadowless. Can be applied with hand tools. 90¢ per square foot. Resolite Corp., Zelienople, Pa.

PERFUMES FROM THE SOUTH

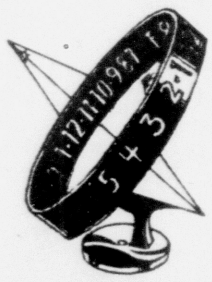
These perfumes are made entirely by hand in a fine old house in the French Quarter of New Orleans. The dining room is now the laboratory where the perfumes are blended, and the scents that result are enchanting. Among them are: "Spanish Moss," "Honeysuckle," "Tea Olive," "Carnaval," "Jasmin" and "Magnolia." One-ounce bottle, $3.25; two-ounce, $5.25, postpaid. Write for folder with complete list. Hove Parfumer, 723 Toulouse St., New Orleans 16, La.

PET SHAMPOO

Dry clean your dogs and cats this summer with this easy and quick one-puff squeeze bottle of powder. No dousing, no rinsing, no soap or water—just puff it on and comb out and you will have a clean fresh Fido. $1.29 for a 6-oz. size, postpaid. Sudbury Laboratory, Sudbury, Mass.

ROAD FLARES

Here is the right thing for every road emergency and many Road Patrols are urging people to use them. These flares give warning to oncoming cars when you are stalled, changing tires or making repairs. A package of two re-usable flares that burn for an hour each, and a flare snuffer, will fit into your glove compartment. Windproof as well as fogproof and rainproof. $1.50 a kit, postpaid. Viceroys, 256 Woodcliff Rd., Newton Highlands, Mass.

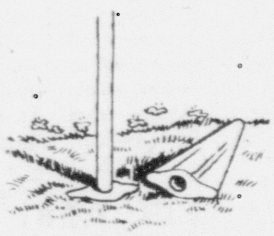


SUN CLOCK

For your garden this summer, here is a new sun clock which will keep perfect sun time forever. It is a fascinating sundial made of strong cast aluminum, easy to mount on a 4" by 4" post. Adjustable for latitude and daylight saving time. $16.00 postpaid. Bevelled redwood post, $4.50 postpaid. Garret Thew Studios, 45 Roseville Rd., Westport 5, Connecticut.

UNIQUE GROUND SOCKET

To give solid, permanent foundation for a pipe or pole to support your clothesline, mailbox, yard light or flower trellis, there is a new "Pole Hole" ground socket eliminating the need for a posthole digger, cement or auger. It is made of heavy rust-resistant steel, 16" deep and 1⅝" across for 1¼" pipe. $6.95 postpaid. The Morrison Co., 125 W. Melvina St., Milwaukee 12, Wis.



PLANNING BOOK

Planning a new house? Before you build send for this plan book, "Homes Of Distinction," which contains plans for one to four-bedroom houses for every income level and illustrates hundreds of completely new building ideas. $1.00. Nationwide Plan Book Co., P.O. Box 404, Northridge 83, Calif.
